ADVERTISE!

WE ADVERTISE BECAUSE WE CAN reach you through this medium better than any other. We pay hard cash for advertisements, and ask you as a favor to read them—not to note how badly or how well they may be worded; not to see if there are any funny points to make you smile, but to see if what we are offering will not benefit you when you next come to Flesherton. Keep the store on the hill in your mind when you come, and if there isn't any word in the advertisement for you a call will convince you that we study the interests of our customers much more than the lining of our own pockets. Don't let any smooth-tongued shoddy pedlar, tea agent or Jew talk you into something you don't want, but trade with the men who are always with you, if the tea don't come up to what it is represented, or goods to wear to your entire satisfaction, you can get it by cussing them to their face instead of behind the back. No satisfaction in that.

We keep full lines in the following

From our own Correspondent.
Miss Maggie Hurd, of Detroit, spent a few days with her parents, and visiting friends.

Death has again entered our valley and taken away the wife of James Walker. About seven months ago she was united in marriage to her now sorrowing husband. Mr. Walker has the heartfelt sympathy of many friends.

Mr. James Magee, sr., also passed away after an illness of about a week. Mr. Magee was a member of the Orange order. That society conducted his remains to their last resting place at Salem.

Last Thursday the village people were startled by the rattling of a bell through the street. There was a rush to the doors and windows. When they looked out it was not John Gilpin they saw, or an organ grinder, neither was it a scissors grinder. It was only The Advance advertisement on a bicycle.

Several in town are ill with German measles. If we are to be afflicted with the measles belonging to every country, we will soon be a measly nation.

Mr. R. McLean Purdy was taken very sick at Eugenia. It was thought best to remove him to Kimberley to be cared for. We are pleased to learn he is recovering as well as can be expected.

Mr. H. M. Bowerman and Mr. J. R. Hogg were guests of J. M. Thurston Saturday and Sunday.

We can't understand how Epping correspondent could drift anywhere near spring poetry last week, as we seem to have a plenty of north pole yet.

Inspector Grier visited our school last week. He says there must be a larger school house built and two teachers employed, as it is injurious to the scholars to have it in the condition it is at present.

We are pleased to learn of the recovery of Mr. Wallace, Mr. Graham and Garnie Proctor, after their late illness.

McIntyre.

From our own Correspondent.
Sorry our last budget arrived too late for insertion in the week it was intended for. We cannot understand how it should be late, as it is always posted so as to leave on Tuesday morning, and should arrive in Flesherton on the noon train the same day. If this occurs again we will have to look after it.

Mr. Vandusen, of Flesherton, gave a number of people here a call last Monday. We think Van's phisog is not always hailed with delight in these parts.

Our post office is having a change of postmaster just now, and also a new post office. We understand the change is to take place on the 1st of May.

Mr. Archy McIntyre has been postmaster here for many years, and George Gray has been deputy, and has kept the office since last fall. Much dissatisfaction is expressed at the dismissal of the

Our Priceville Budget.

From our own Correspondent.
Soon the stores, shoemaker's and blacksmith's shops and other popular rendezvous will be crowded with benedicts who are escaping from the tumult occasioned by that semi-annual renovating period, rejoicing under the paradoxical appellation of "house-cleaning."

It is a deplorable fact that a number of children of school age in this village are growing up without the merest shadow of an education. Such a state of affairs should be investigated. The school law requires a child between 7 and 13 years (inclusive) to attend school at least 100 days during the year. An eminent authority on the education of children says that "a child is better unborn than untaught."

An itinerant Highland piper dressed in "kilts and claymore" struck our burg last week, and entertained the villagers with a few stirring melodies.

Kinross street has been almost completely metamorphosed this spring. However, there are a few "eyesores" left, which, if removed, would make the job complete. Come H. W. and W. B. "go thou and do likewise."

Miss Minnie Brander returned to the city last Monday to resume her studies in the Medical College, which holds a summer session this year.

Miss Martha Brander has gone to reside with friends in Prince Albert for a time.

Mr. Neil McKinnon is making further improvements on his store, which is indicative of a successful business.

Miss Minnie Simpson of Toronto is visiting with her parents at present.

For past year I have been troubled to a very great extent with Dandruff, also a dullness of color in my hair, and through the advice of a friend (who spoke from experience) I tried your Anti-Dandruff, which, upon application of less than a bottle of your liquid I find my head not thoroughly cleansed but a vast improvement in the color and growth.

I have and do recommend it as highly beneficial to the profession and public generally as an agreeable and welcome innovation in the remedies put forth for public favor.

Epping News.

From our own Correspondent.
The farmers around here are busily engaged with their seeding now. Thursday's rain was very welcome, but we could have done with a little more of it.

Mr. Chatham, of Holland, a book agent, did the neighborhood last week. Mrs. Thornton and daughter, of Meaford, formerly of this place, spent Wednesday of last week visiting old friends and recalling old memories.

Some members of Mr. Geo. Pentland's family are afflicted with what is known as German measles. We hope to hear of their recovery soon, and that the disease will not spread.

There was no service in the Methodist church on Sunday last; quarterly meeting being held on the other end of the circuit.

Mr. W. J. Black received a telegram on Wednesday last, announcing the death in Toronto of her brother, Mr. Robt. McAslan. The body was brought home to Thornbury for burial. The funeral took place on Friday. The funeral was preached on Sunday evening at the Union church, by the Rev. J. M. Theobald. Deceased leaves a wife and small children.
