ADVERTISE!

WE ADVERTISE BECAUSE WE CAN reach you through this medium better than any other. We pay hard cash for advertisements, and ask you as a favor to read them—not to note how badly or how well they may be worded; not to see if there are any funny points to make you smile, but to see if what we are offering will not benefit you when you next come to Flesherton. Keep the store on the hill in your mind when you come, and if there isn't any word in the advertisement for you a call will convince you that we study the interests of our customers much more than the lining of our own pockets. Don't let any smooth-tongued shoddy pedlar, tea agent or Jew talk you into something you don't want, but trade with the men who are always with you, then if the tea don't come up to what it is represented, or the goods to wear to your entire satisfaction, you can get even by cussing them to their face instead of behind the pedlar's back. No satisfaction in that.

We keep full lines in the following departments:

DRY GOODS Consisting of Dress Goods, Gents' Furnishings, Tweeds and Worsted, Cottonades and Shirtings, Prints and Gingham, Gloves and Hosiery, and all novelties in small wares.

BOOTS & SHOES Men's, Women's, Misses' and Children's in large varieties.

GROCERIES Fresh, full and complete. Bring along your Eggs and Butter.

Beautiful.

To the Editor of The Advance.

The following verses appeared in a Glasgow paper which came to this country over thirty years ago. I had them copied off and have had them ever since. I send you a copy, hoping you will give them a place in your valuable paper. They portray the triumph of the Christian in the hour and article of death.

Wm. HENDERSON.

THE DYING CHRISTIAN.

My day is dippin' i' the west, 'tis gloomin' wi' me noo;
I hear the sough o' Jordan's wave that I maun travel thro'.
Yet 'tis na' Jordan's wave I fear, nor tremble at the strife,
But oh, th' sunderin' o' hearts—this lea'n o' wean and wife.

What tho' we ken o' better days, a fairer warl abun,
Where lost frien' are awaiting us, an' a' maun follow sun,
This reudin' o' the siller strings that tether heart to heart,
Oh it tries puir human nature sair, an' makes us laith to part.

Gae rax me by the Bible wife while yet I'm fit to see,
Ere death creep o'er my cauld rife bouk an' flap my faillin' ee.
An' let us sing a parting sang before we sundered be,
For ye cannae hae me lang noo, I ha' nae lang ta dree.

There, put the pillow to my back an' ease me up a wee,
An' bring them a' to my bedside to see their father dee;
Noo raise the Bible up a thocht, its ower laigh on my knee,
An' shift the light's kennon back, its ower strong for my ee.

He wa'd, he sang the parting sang, his voice was firm and clear,
And read the fourteenth o' St. John, nor did he shed a tear.
Sae it is wi' the man o' God when life's day's dang is done;
Nae future fears disturb his mind, nae ruefu' looks behin'.

Oh but it gae me great relief, the singin' o' that sang,
My clay is crumblin' fast awa', my spirit noo grows strang;
My wife, my weans, we a' maun part, sae dinnae sab sae sair,
But dight the tears frae aff your face and let us join in prayer.

An' let us join in prayer to Him that's wantin' me awa',
That he may be a faithfu' frien' and father to ye a'.
He turned his glasing ee to heaven and raised his withered hand,
Noo safely thro' Jordan's wave he's reached the better land.

Our Priceville Budget.

From our own Correspondent.

The gardens in this vicinity are beginning to assume a more pleasing and symmetrical appearance.

The notes on "Poultry Raising" will no doubt be very acceptable to the readers of The Advance. If the first article is any criterion we can safely predict a thorough exposition of the subject under consideration.

Mr. William Conkey left Priceville last Thursday for Chicago, where he has secured a good opening for the prosecution of his trade. Mr. Conkey has been a resident of this village for a number of years, and by his removal we lose one of our most respected townsmen. We extend to Mr. C. our hearty wishes for success.

Miss Mary McCrae was summoned to Orangeville last week to attend her sister, who is ill with the typhoid fever.

The widow Kennedy is in a very wretched and pitiable state at present. The residents of this village and others petitioned the council at their last meeting to have her removed to the hospital, which was granted.

The meeting of the quarterly board of the Methodist church last Saturday was fairly attended. Quarterly service for the circuit was held at one of the Egremont appointments.

Bones are a scarce article of commerce around the village at present, as every ossified remnant of all kinds of quadrupeds was carefully gathered up last Saturday by three keen-eyed bone collectors.

Mrs. Ross paid a visit to friends in Brampton last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Brander spent a few days of last week in the Queen city.

Miss Maggie Morehead is home from Toronto, where she has been residing for some time.

The first appearance of Mr. Geo. McFarlane's handsome covered stage caused quite a ripple of excitement in the village. Travellers will not be slow in appreciating Mr. McFarlane's efforts to provide for their comfort in furnishing such a smart, tidy and well equipped.

What we would like to know: If there will be any "fish stories" for next week? If the streets are public dumping places for all kinds of rubbish? If there is any possibility of the projected railway striking this burg?

Epping News.

From our own Correspondent.

Seeding is almost completed. Mr. Robert Whitten, of Flesherton, visited this neighborhood on Sunday. We were pleased to see Miss Maud Dally out after her recent severe illness.

Miss P. McKnight has returned after a somewhat lengthy visit to friends in Brampton and Orangeville. Mr. Robert Gilray visited the Queen city last week.

Sabbath school was re-opened on Sunday last, with a good attendance, under last year's staff of officers.

Have you planted your onions yet? If not, it is time you did. Housecleaning is pretty well through with, and now people will plant a lot of garden they will never need.

The first of May was nice. We did not see anything of the witches which are said to be flying around on that day.

The Ps. of I are going to have a taffy party next week. Wonder if we will get any of the taffy.

Maxwell.

From our own Correspondent.

Spring has arrived with all its pleasures, and we are not sorry. Dave gave us a call a short time ago.

Messrs. Madill & Shea went to Thornbury a short time ago and brought home some fine fish.

Miss Blakely returned to her home in Flesherton.

The Rev. Hall and wife left for their home near Kincardine last week.

The cleared land on the farm of Mr. Wm. Stokes was nearly all plowed by an extensive turn out of the farmers of this locality the week before last.

A number of our boys, amongst them being Chas. Scheniman and Wm. Kerton, left for Farry Sound last week.

The Potts Bros, from Collingwood, gave us a call on Sunday, the 24th.

The late Mrs. Milligan, a daughter of Mr. Hickling, was buried here on the 24th.

Mrs. Coutts, who has been suffering for some time with inflammation, is recovering.

We can boast of having as fine a piece of road for a few miles each side of Maxwell as is in the county.

Mr. Joe Phillips, of Toronto, spent a few days with friends and relatives here.

Rev. Thompson, of Eugenia, is going to preach here on Sunday morning, as the Rev. Brown takes his work at Eugenia.

Fish are being carried away in large numbers from here lately.

Meaford Road.

PRESENTATION AND ADDRESS—After the usual prayer meeting in Wesley church on Wednesday evening last, Miss Kells who was about to leave for a lengthy visit to Ireland, was presented by Miss Smith with an album, jewel case and purse, and the following address was read by Miss Sinclair.

MISS KELLS.—Having learned that you are about to take your departure from our midst for a length of time, and feeling our obligations to you for the faithful way in which you have served us for so many years as organist of our church and Sabbath school, we take this opportunity of presenting you with this album, jewel case and purse, as small tokens of our respect for you and our high appreciation of your services. We conclude by wishing you a safe journey and pleasant visit, and express a wish for your return in the not far distant future. Signed on behalf of the church and Sabbath school. EMMA SMITH, SARAH SINCLAIR.

James Lowell, the Reform candidate, was elected in Welland on Friday last. He received 297. In Toronto, he was elected for the first time by over 800 of a

A lake trout weighing 28½ lbs. was caught near Meaford last week and sold for two dollars.
