FALL GOODS

Are arriving almost every day. We do not need to tell you that the qualities are good and prices right. Every one who has visited the store on the hill knows that we cannot be undersold. We do not deny the fact that any quantity of cheap trash is offered at lower figures than we can offer pure goods, but we hold that for quality offered, no man can sell you cheaper than we do. All we ask is a call, and we are certain to convince you

◆ Dress Goods Department ◆

We have a good assortment in all leading lines, from the roc. goods to the best all wool Henriettas—linings, buttons and trimmings to match.

You can get anything you ask for in these lines. In Flannels we defy competition—all-wool greys, striped fancy shirting Flannels, and sheeting. Also full lines of Flannel-ets, Shakers, Cantons and Unions; Cottonades, Cottons, Shirtings, Linens, Towels, 1 owellings, Etc.

◆ Tweed and Worsted Department ◆

We can't tell you much about these, but an inspection will convince that the patterns are the latest, and qualities and prices right, also full lines of Gents' fine furnishings.

◆ HABERDASHERY DEPARTMENT ◆

Gloves, Hosiery, Rushings, Handkerchiefs, Corsets, Ribbons, Collarettes, Bibs, and ninety-nine other things.

Space will not allow us to mention the other departments, but if these few will remind you of something you are needing we have done well; if they will convince you to try the Store on the Hill, we have done better; and if they will strike you favorably after inspection so you buy, we have done best. All are welcome whether to purchase or simply to have a chat about the weather.

Remember the Store on the Hill.

October.

Written for The Advance.

MOODY October creeps from out the north, in chill and cheer; Wind waves are whistling as they sally forth, And sleep is near.

The orange suns, the misty, mirky days, The moaning rain,

The biting frost—this lesson each displays, That life must wane.

Yet glory rests upon the finished toil As comes the night, And radiance of perfection crowns the soil In colors bright.

Earth elods grow cold, and dank the fetal bed Where life began; Rest is at hand, and shadows dark are led Where sunbeams ran.

Down in the copse the song birds sing no more Their morning call; Only the dying leaves on rustling floor, And that is all.

Only the dead leaves floating through the air Where swallows flew; Only the browning hillsides, sad and bare, Where flowers grew.

These speak of fall, twilight of aged year, Rest after strife, Spring time will come again, flowers reappear, Life after life. —W. H. THURSTON.

"Saturday Night's" Christmas for 1892.

The cover, which contains a picture in photolithograph in seven colors and as many half tones, is "Ye Gentlemen and Dames of Olden Times." The pictorial supplement, which is larger than that of last year, is a reproduction of a picture owned by the proprietors of Saturday Night, entitled "Her Bright Smile Haunts Me Still." It is exceedingly lovely and no one can pass it without turning to look again at the beautiful face and the look of farewell. The stories this year are as follows:

"Tom's Little Sister," by John Habberton, author of Helen's Babies.

"The Nephew of His Uncle," by Octave Thanet, author of Expiration. (The most popular magazine writer in America).

"The Rich Relation," by George Parsons Lathrop. (There is no more attractive name in American magazines).

"Kate Gordon's Christmas Miracle," by Julian Hawthorn.

"Little Lady," by Ida Burwash, probably the prettiest story in the book.

"Senior the Engineer," by Edmund E. Sheppard.

All these stories are magnificently and copiously illustrated by the best artists in New York and London. Mr. Sheppard's story is being specially illustrated by Mr. F. A. Feraud of New York, from photographs and studies made by the author while in Mexico, and, artistically at least, this will be one of the most prettily illustrated tales that has ever appeared in America. It can be well understood that the well known names in the above list cost a great deal of money to procure for a Christmas magazine, but Christmas is the one time when Toronto Saturday Night advertises itself and in its Christmas Number it does it well. The Newsdealer, Publisher and Stationer's Bulletin, the Canadian correspondent of which has seen advance copies of all that is promised by Saturday Night this year, says that "It will doubtless be the most beautiful publication ever attempted in America and compares more than favorably with Figaro and the most expensive Old Country Christmas numbers." It is something for Canadians to boast of, for while much of the work required the greatest possible artistic skill has to be done abroad, the enterprise is purely Canadian and will redound to the credit of Canada.

To Preserve

The richness, color, and beauty of the hair, the greatest care is necessary, much harm being done by the use of worthless dressings. To be sure of having a first-class article, ask your druggist or perfumer for Ayer's Hair Vigor. It is absolutely superior to any other preparation of the kind. It restores the original color and fullness to hair which has become thin, faded, or gray. It keeps the scalp cool, moist, and free from dandruff. It heals itching humors, prevents baldness, and imparts to a silken texture and lasting fragrance. No toilet can be considered complete without this most popular and elegant of all hair-dressings.

"My hair began turning gray and falling out when I was about 25 years of age. I have lately been using Ayer's Hair Vigor, and it is causing a new growth of hair of the natural color."—R. J. Lowry, Jones Prairie, Texas.

"Over a year ago I had a severe fever, and when I recovered, my hair began to fall out, and what little remained turned gray. I tried various remedies, but without success, till at last I began to Ayer's Hair Vigor, and now my hair is growing rapidly and is restored to its original color."—Mrs. Annie Collins, Dighton, Mass.

"I have used Ayer's Hair Vigor for nearly five years, and my hair is moist, glossy, and in an excellent state of preservation. I am forty years old, and have ridden the plains for twenty-five years."—Wm. Henry Ott, alias "Mustang Bill," Newcastle, Wyo.

BRUNTON'S CURATIVE FLUID

Indigestion, Dyspepsia and Sour Stomach are caused by the food fermenting. The result of fermentation on all organic matter must be acid. This decomposes the food (which should be digested) and from that decomposition evolves gases that produce pressure on the nerves, disorganizing the system, and producing various symptoms of disease. The "Curative Fluid" purifies the stomach, promotes digestion and assimilation of food, therefore creating a healthy current of blood. For sale by all Druggists, 50c. & $1.00.
