Eugenia

Winter appears to be putting in an appearance pretty early this year. Anything would be better than the sea of mud one had to plough through if he ventured on the road.

The Perfection hoop and veneer company is pushing on the work now as rapidly as possible. Mr. Larson returned from Toronto last week and is fitting up the machinery. Mr. Bennett and Mr. Morrison are expected this week. The mill is to be ready for work in three weeks.

Mr. D. Wright has been re-engaged as teacher in our school for the coming year at an advanced salary. I think the trustees may congratulate themselves on securing such an efficient tutor for their children.

Mr. Wesley Pedlar has returned home from Pickering, where he was spending the summer with friends. His many friends here were pleased to welcome him home again.

Mr. John Sheardown, of the township of King, is visiting at Mr. Joseph Fenwick's.

Miss Dale, of Pickering, is visiting at her uncle's, Mr. Samuel Pedlar, of Summer Hill.

Our popular young blacksmith, J. Williams, Esq., is doing a good business, and you can hear the anvil ringing both early and late.

Mr. Richard Parks is very happy over a recent arrival at his house. It is a girl.

Mr. and Mrs. Hogg spent the past week in the city. They went to attend the wedding of Mr. Hogg's brother.

Mrs. Williams, who has been visiting her daughter, Mrs. Adam Smith, left for her home on Friday last.

Miss Maud Carr returned home from the city some time ago.

Mr. Richard Parks lost a valuable young horse the past week.

Miss Bella Meldrum, of Meaford, is visiting her parents here.

Mr. James Woodburn is improving slowly after his long illness.

Mr. Robert Williams has purchased Dr. Christie's farm on the Fourteenth and thinks of retiring as a bachelor. Don't try it, Bob; it is not good for man to be alone.

Mr. John Walker, of Creemore, is now erecting a very nice residence at Eugenia for his daughter, Mrs. J. C. Sloan.

There is good prospect of a building boom in Eugenia next spring, as houses are in great demand.

The Patrons of Industry are making strenuous efforts to have a store in this place.

Miss Aggie Hislop and her sister, Mrs. Richard Gen a, were visiting friends at Stratford for a couple of weeks.

Maxwell.

From our own Correspondent.

The concerts held here the week before last were fairly well attended. Owing to illness, M. Richardson, of Flesherton, could not be present; but the Rev. Duff gave a very interesting lecture which filled up the vacancy.

We are pleased to know that the Rev. Hudson is going to be with us.

The Presbyterians had a very neat fence put around their cemetery here. The work reflects much credit on the contractor, Mr. Perrigo, of Feversham.

Mr. Samuel Linley returned home a short time ago.

Sad news reached here last week with respect to a young man who left but a few months ago in apparent health and strength. This message said that David Clark had died of typhoid fever while away; and was, we believe, at this time buried. The friends have the heartfelt sympathy of the whole community in this their hour of bereavement.

Mr. Alex. Clark spent a few days at home lately. He has been working at his trade in Singhampton.

Dr. Scott and wife spent a few days in Owen Sound the week before last.

Mr. Woodger, Sr., returned to his home a short time ago, and Mrs. Rev. Woodger accompanied him.

Mrs. Trunk, of Markdale, visited her mother, Mrs. Clark, here last week.

We are expecting to have some more side-walk in town soon.

The Presbyterians hold their tea-meeting on this (Tuesday) evening, and at time of writing the Induction of the Rev. Hudson is being carried on.

Mount Zion.

From our own Correspondent.

Mrs. Colquet has removed from here to Feversham to reside.

Threshing is now the order of the day and machines are on all sides of us. The farmers here have purchased a New Hamburg machine and are now busy running her.

Miss Lizzie Hale, from near Feversham, has been engaged as teacher for Thompson's school for the coming year.

Mr. Walter Taylor has arrived from the old settlement.

Mrs. Bolton, from Bolton, is visiting with her daughter, Mrs. Sheardown, of this place.

Old Mr. Handy has removed from James Little's house, to the house lately vacated by Mrs. Colquet.

We noticed some time ago in the minutes of Council a motion by Kells and McMillan "that said Council had paid Thomas Taylor all they had a just right to pay in the matter of work done on bridge last spring." But it seems when they found it going to court they settled it.

Miss Egler, from Shelburne, has been visiting with her uncle, Thomas Taylor, Sr.

Joe and Tom have arrived from the old settlements.

A Chicken Thief Shot.

A terrible shooting affair occurred at the village of Pickering on Wednesday of last week, the following particulars of which are given by the Pickering News: For some time past Mr. Baker has been bothered with thieves taking away his geese at nights. So confidentially did he expect these visitors that when the geese made rather more noise than usual on Wednesday morning, about 2:30 a. m., he arose, dressed himself and went out, taking with him a single barrelled shot gun. Keeping along the fence, he went in the direction of the barn. When opposite the hen house door he noticed a dim light shining through the window as though produced by a match. Suddenly the light vanished and the door opened, and as the night was exceedingly dark, Mr. Baker shot the gun in the direction of the door. Mr. Baker says: "The man was no sooner shot at than he ran in my direction, exclaiming, 'I'll have you now.' Not knowing what arms the intruder possessed, I shifted my position somewhat along the fence, and he passed out of the gate and up the lane towards the road. I had no idea whether the shot had struck the man or not, as he made no complaint." After leaving Baker, and while passing the little side gate, Harry Lingford, Baker's hired man, challenged the fleeing figure. Getting no answer he fired his revolver, which discharged a shot cartridge, and getting no answer he repeated the shot. By this time both men were on the road. Lingford states that "after I had fired the second shot cartridge the man turned and made for me with his hand extended, as though taking aim at me and he remarked, 'I have you now.' Thinking it simply a matter of speed, I fired again, this time with a bullet cartridge. The man exclaimed, 'you've done me' and fell to the ground." Baker and Lingford cautiously went near and discovered that the man was dead. County Constable Decker and Coroner Bateman were called, when it was found that the body was that of William Palmer, whose greatest fault was his appetite for liquor.

The Coroner issued a warrant for an inquest, and Baker and Lingford were placed under arrest.

Much sympathy is felt in the tragic affair. The Palmer family are among the most respectable in the township, while the prisoners are both men of integrity, and of high moral character. The jury has not arrived at a verdict up to the time of going to press.
