A RETROSPECT.

With the year just closing, it is well to look back over the past twelve months and note the important events that have transpired and the progress which the world, as well as ourselves individually, has made. The past year has witnessed the passing away of many illustrious personages, the first on the calendar being the Prince of Wales' eldest son, and heir presumptive to the British crown, the Duke of Clarence and Avondale, which event occurred on the 14th of January. On the same day occurred the death of that illustrious prelate of the Roman Catholic church, Cardinal Manning. Other renowned personages who left us during the year were Sir Morrell Mackenzie, Rev. C. H. Spurgeon, Walt Whitman, Hon. Alexander Mackenzie, Sir Alexander Campbell, Lieut.-governor of Ontario; Hon. John Robson, premier of British Columbia; Sir Daniel Wilson, president of Toronto University; John Greenleaf Whittier and Geo. W. Curtis, two of America's most renowned authors. Truly the grim reaper has garnered a harvest of the world's bravest and best. In this respect the world has been a sad loser. But on the other hand she has gained a great deal. Man's inventive brain has not been idle and the progress along that line has fully maintained the remarkable record of the last twenty-five years. This age is a blossoming age and the roses continue to open. They come with their thorns, however, as may be expected. Some of these thorns may be noted, as the great unrest in labor on the United States side, with deplorable strikes and labor riots both there and in Europe; the terrible cholera scourge which devastated some of Europe's grandest cities; the fire which laid in ruins Newfoundland's capital, and others which we will not occupy space to note. Looking over the world's record, we believe that Canada has received her full, and even a bountiful, supply of prosperity, without the corresponding difficulties which other countries have encountered, and we, as a people, should feel duly grateful therefor.

Coming down to personal questions, The Advance is glad to announce that it has had a most prosperous year, and its subscription list has been enlarged to the extent of a fraction over seven per cent. during the past twelve months. This is a showing, we believe, which not many country papers can show, and was brought about without any special canvassing. It proves that the paper retains the confidence of its readers, and we thank them one and all most heartily therefor. During the coming year our efforts will not be relaxed in the least and an endeavor will be made to make an even more creditable showing. It is our wish that every reader of this paper may enjoy a happy and prosperous New year.

The Nominations.

The Town Hall was packed to its doors on Monday, when the electors met to nominate candidates for the reeveship and council board for 1893. The following gentlemen were nominated:

FOR REEVE.

M. Richardson, by Wm. Parks and Geo. Parks.
W. S. Christoe, by S. Kingston and J. Bellamy.
John Roland, by Geo. Warling and Walter Williams.

FOR COUNCILLORS.

Ward 1—Donald McMillan, by John Hazard and Robert Oliver.
Ward 2—W. J. McCormick, by John Teeter and J. Holly. Thos. Kells, by K. Watson and D. Foster.
Ward 3—S. Damude, by John Whitten and E. Vanzant. Jas. Best, by J. E. Warner and Joel Wurts.

Ward 4—Henry Cairns, by J. R. Hogg and W. Williams. S. Pedlar, by A. S. Madil and R. Genoe.

For police trustees of the village of Flesherton the following nominations were made. Peter Holman, R. J. Sproule, W. W. Trimble, Wm. Clayton, A. S. Vandusen, C. J. Leitch, F. G. Cole, D. McTavish. Messrs. Sproule and Vandusen have since retired.

By the above it will be seen that Mr. McMillan "is the only one that's left of all the family" without an opponent, and is safe in his seat once more. We tender him our congratulations. Mr. McMillan is known as a man who does not talk a great deal, but does a lot of thinking, and what he does say is the extract of these thoughts, put into the most concise form. He is a man of strict common sense.

The speeches in the afternoon were of more than ordinary interest and waxed warm at many points. Mr. Boland was the man that lit the fire, he appearing to be in a particularly belligerent mood on this occasion.

The speaking was opened by Dr. Christoe, followed by Mr. M. Richardson, who delivered a very calm and interesting address, going over the work of the past year in County Council matters. His speech was most favorably received and did himself much credit.

Mr. Boland was the next speaker. He delivered a double dose of concentrated war paint and slashed around with his little hatchet in terrible style. The Advance was the very first to receive his attention. It had expressed the opinion that Mr. Boland was not a suitable man to fill the reeve's chair! The Advance man was only a new comer to this township, and the would-be-reeve thought that therefore he had no right to an opinion of his own. As the Advance man was born and brought up within six or seven miles of Mr. Boland's place of nativity, he claims to have as much interest in this township, and as much right to an opinion as Mr. B. himself. "And" said Mr. Boland, "if the Advance man thinks he is a suitable man to contest the reeveship, his appearance does not signify it." The point of this little piece of spartan wit was lost. When good looks become a criterion in a contest for the reeveship the Advance man will think about it, but at present it is ability Mr. Boland's gigantic overplus of that commodity makes our candidature an impossibility and no, to be thought of. We are not ambitious however, to shine like Mr. Boland as a good looker. Mr. Boland is a successful farmer and a gentleman whom we highly respect, but he don't want to begin talking about our retrouse nose or class cast of features. If he does he must take the consequences. To attempt to follow the various speakers is out of the question. Those present enjoyed the entertainment provided. Our own experience is that not many votes are decided on nomination day. Of course it is the proper thing to trot out the candidates and let them show their mettle, and give an account of their stewardship. The majority of electors decide, however, as soon as the candidates are announced what men they will support. Next Monday will be the important day. It will decide the vital question of who shall conduct the affairs of this township for the next year.

The speeches made by the retiring councilmen were short but to the point. Mr. Damude's was sensible, Mr. Kells felicitous and Mr. Pedlar's explanatory. The latter gentleman explained the road-letting contract which has very much bothered some of his constituents, and in a manner which should have been highly satisfactory, inasmuch as he paid out of his own pocket the money which he considered Mr. Taylor was not justly entitled to.
