The Rymal Case.

BRANTFORD, March 27th.—Archie Rymal who was discharged from the hospital here some time ago, as incurable, suffering from a complication of diseases, resulting from diseased kidneys, has been cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills. His case is the current talk of the town. So far was he run down that he lost the power of his arms and legs, also the muscles of his neck, and was as helpless as a child. He is now a strong healthy man again, and never tires talking of that wonderful remedy which saved his life.

Bow Low to the Old Man.

SPEAK KINDLY TO THE AGED WOMAN.
 The young may to great age attain,
 The growing crops need sun, and rain;
 Thus to the old, give smile, or tear,
 They, you may old, may calm their fear.
 Bow low unto the aged man,
 Be kind to "Grandma" while you can;
 Believe that in old age, even you
 Become thus cheered, by kind friends, true.
 The following admonition now copied from the "Summerville Journal" should be carefully read, remembered, and obeyed by every young person, (yes, and older also) both male, or female. "Bow low the head, do reverence to the old man—once like you. The vicissitudes of life has silvered his hair, and changed the merry round face into the man, worn visage before you. Once the heart bent with aspirations crushed now as yours, perhaps, is destined to be.
 'Once that manly form walked stately through the scenes of pleasure, or battled bravely for a competency. Now the hand of time that withers the flowers of yesterday, has bent the body, and marred that noble bearing. Once at your age he possessed the thousand thoughts that pass through your brain, now wishing to accomplish deeds of merit, a nook in fame, anon imagining life a dream the sooner he awakes from the better. But he has lived the dream very near through, the time to awaken is very near at hand, his eyes never kindle at old deeds of daring, and the hand takes a firmer hold of the staff. Bow low the head, boy, as you would in your old age be revered."
 Wm. Purdy.

Mrs. Mackenzie, wife of the late Hon. Alexander Mackenzie, died in Toronto on Friday night.
 The Quebec Legislature has passed an act declaring that lager beer is not intoxicating and it can be sold without a license. It should now pass an act declaring that it, the Legislature, is not intoxicated. The public is in doubt on the two points.—Mt. Forest Confederate.
