A Common Affliction

Permanently Cured by Taking

AYER'S Sarsaparilla

A CAB-DRIVER'S STORY.

"I was afflicted for eight years with Salt Rheum. During that time, I tried a great many medicines which were highly recommended, but none gave me relief. I was at last advised to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla, by a friend who told me that I must purchase six bottles, and use them according to directions. I yielded to his persuasion, bought the six bottles, and took the contents of three of these bottles without noticing any direct benefit. Before I had finished the fourth bottle, my hands were as as ever they were. My business, which is that of a cab-driver, requires me to be out in cold and wet weather, often without gloves, and the trouble has never returned."—THOMAS A. JOHNS, Stratford, Ont.

Automatic Road Carriages.

Electricity has relieved the horse on the city car, and exerts steam in suburban travel, while the steam road holds the supremacy on long routes. For twenty or thirty miles electricity is in the lead, but for one hundred or one thousand miles we fall back on the resources of steam. What may be we dare not prophesy; we can only report existing facts. The attempt now is to replace the horse on the public highway by an automatic vehicle, propelled by steam, electricity or petroleum. At present the latter has the precedence, as shown by various experiments. In these experiments France takes the lead. Our consul at Havre has sent a report to the State Department at Washington of a prize trial between Paris and Bourdeaux, a distance of 358 miles. No vehicle was to have place which could not make the distance out and back in one hundred hours. The main prize ($7,726) was won by a four seated carriage, while the second was won by a two seated vehicle, making the round trip in twenty-four hours and fifty-three minutes. The winning carriages were propelled by gasoline, and the rate of speed attained was about fifteen miles an hour. On the level parts of the route the speed was much greater, but the average was reduced by the delay occasioned in ascending heavy hills. For the electric carriages these hills proved insuperable. They all abandoned the contest and allowed gasoline to take the prize. The electric carriages had another disadvantage in being obliged to stop occasionally to renew their dynamic charges, while the petroleum machines made the run without a single stop. In comparing the merits of the differing propelling agents used in these experiments, the palm must be awarded to petroleum, which is at once clean and easily carried and used. The ordinary feeder, containing less than four quarts of oil, generates power for twenty miles. For long distances a receiver is provided capable of meeting all demands for twenty-four or more hours. Among the vehicles in the Bourdeaux race were many cycles, one of which, at least, held its own among the larger machines. The power, of course, which would propel the road carriage could be applied to the cycles with one or four wheels. In view of such facts as these, the hour seems really to have come for the displacement of the horse, in travel along the highway, by the automatic machine, causing another immense drop in the price of horse-flesh.—Boston Paper.

Owen Sound Fair.

In addition to the attractions previously announced, the large bills show that there will be a genuine Indian War Dance, including the serpent dance, etc. Music will be furnished by the Cape Cor Indian band, Citizens Owen band and the Dundalk Silver band. The Owen Sound papers state that the demand for space room in the pavilion and the number of entries already received is something altogether beyond the expectation of the directorate. Certainly the programme which appears in our advertising columns is such as to justify the enthusiastic and energetic directors in expecting a large attendance. We have no doubt that a large number from our town and vicinity will avail themselves of the cheap rates to attend what promises to be one of the best fairs in northern Ontario.

County and District.

Chesley, Ont. Aug. 30—Yesterday afternoon a young man named John Taylor, of a town'ship of Bentinck, near Mooresburg, accidentally shot himself from the effects of which he died this morning. He and some friends were out shooting and while in the act of lighting his pipe his gun slipped out of his hand and went off, the charge entered his chest.

Some gent who apparently was acquainted, stepped into the Enterprise office while the editor and proprietor were out on Wednesday evening and investigated the contents of the safe. Mr. man came across twenty-two dollars which he pocketed, no doubt thinking it would be useful at the circus. Up to the time of going to press no arrests had been made.—Collingwood Bulletin.

Lauchlin McCorkindale, a young man who lived with his parents near Grimston, on the 12th con. of Sullivan, committed suicide last Saturday morning by hanging himself in the barn. He has been acting a little queer for some time but nothing of a serious character was expected to befall him and no watch was kept upon him. The young man was of a quiet turn and highly respected and his tragic death is a heavy blow to his parents and friends, who have the sympathy of the community in their severe trial.—Chatsworth News.

Wm Ivey, a Grand Trunk engineer, who was supposed to have been drowned in Collingwood harbor last week, has turned up. The affair of his disappearance is attended with mystery. He appears to have been left at his boarding house door by some parties in a demented condition, and he remembers nothing of his experiences during the four days he was absent. It is thought that while sitting on the dock he was mistaken for a fishery overseer and sandbagged, but after the mistake was discovered he was assisted to his boarding house in the condition mentioned, minus hat, coat and boots.

A meeting was held in this ward in Sullivan last Saturday to receive applications from those seeking aid on account of the shortage in crops. Councillor Joseph Dobie presided and took down the applications, which numbered five. Of the five applicants one is a mechanic who has two acres of land and depends upon his trade for his livelihood and is in good circumstances; another is a mechanic who works at his trade when he can get work, farms when he is at home and spends his time at drinking when he is not engaged in either of his other avocations; a third is said to have money out at interest and the other two thought they could pull through the winter if they have to, but if there is any assistance going they would like to get a share. All the applicants were willing to take loans at a very low rate of interest, and all will be better off at the end of two years if they did not get loans. So much for ward No. 1, Sullivan.—Chatsworth News.

We have in mind, says the Beatrice, Neb., Express, speaking of the value of advertising, a man who some years ago started in business in Kansas. He hadn't much money; he laid in a stock with part of the sum he had, and the rest he spent in advertising. There was but one newspaper in the town, and he used a page of that every week. To day that man has three large stores in Kansas, two in Nebraska, and one in Missouri. He advertises tremendously and all the year round; he owns every building he occupies, and recently paid down $30,000 in cash for a stock of goods he wanted. Advertising made that man. People who fancy this a fairy tale will be cheerfully give the name who has done so much with printer's ink.

The Mother Heart Touched

"I Believe SOUTH AMERICAN NERVINE
Saved the Lives of Two of My Children."
Puny Children Grow Fat and Strong—
Tired and Ailing Women Take on the BLOOM of EARLIER YEARS.

What will touch the mother heart more deeply than the illness of her little ones? She may suffer much herself, and women are sorely afflicted with many ills, but she will endure all this, however often, without a murmur; but there can be no disguising her anxiety when the little ones of the home are stricken down with sickness. And how many puny children there are! We talk of the bloom of youth, but thousands of children know not of it. Others may romp, but they are weaklings.

Science has made perfectly clear that the troubles that affect the individual organs of the body, have their seat in these nerve centres, so, without any wasteful experimenting, South American Nervine reaches out to the seat of the difficulty, and straightening out what is wrong there heals the whole body. Listen to what Mrs. H. Russell, Wingate, writes on this point: "I have used several bottles of South American Nervine Tonic, and will say, I consider it the best medicine in the world. I believe it saved the lives of two of my children. They were down, and nothing appeared to do them any good until I procured this remedy. It was very surprising how rapidly both improved on its use. I don't allow myself to be without some of it in my house. I recommend the medicine to all my neighbors." It will certainly grant new life to all who are delicate, whether young, middle-aged, or old. Do not worry along with ill health, but dispel it, and brighten your lives by the immediate use of South American Nervine.
