Several days of cool weather culminated in quite a severe frost on Sunday night. Vegetables were blackened in many places, and corn and potatoes badly injured. An occasional field of wheat was also more or less damaged.

A meeting of the villagers interested in band matters was held in the town hall on Wednesday of last week. There was a large attendance and much interest was manifested. A citizen's committee was appointed and it was decided to invite subscriptions towards placing the band on a solid foundation. Every citizen who enjoys band music should add his mite.

The following unsolicited note from F. T. Hill & Co., Markdale, carries with it its own moral, which every business man should try to discover: "We find results from our 'ad.' in your paper, as usual, satisfactory. Business has shown a marked increase when compared month and month with other years, and your locality has helped."

No. 6 Co. shot off the annual battalion rifle match at the ranges here on Wednesday of last week. We understand that some pretty good shooting was done, but have been unable to get the score, which will be published in conjunction with the other scores when the series is complete. In the extra series Bugler Field won the Colonel's prize of $2 by 17 points, while Private Hutchinson took the second of $1 by the same number of points. The other scores were: Sergt. W. Clark 16; Pte. W. Smith 16, Capt. Shroule 16, Lt. Richardson 15, 2nd Lieut. McFarland 15, Pte. Littlejohn 14, Sergt. W. Weber 13, Sergt. J. Weber 13, Col. Sgt. J. H. Field 13, Pte McDonald 10.

July 12 at Eugenia

The "Twelfth of Ould Ireland" was once more right loyally celebrated by the Orangemen of this district, this time at Eugenia, and a more popular spot could not have been selected. There were eight lodges present, viz., Maxwell, Feversham, Orange Valley, Markdale, Vandeleur, Flesherton Station, Fourth Line and Eugenia. The village was nicely decorated and possesses one of the handsomest groves for such a gathering that can be found anywhere. Bro. Allison, County Master, presided over the gathering. Vandeleur string band discoursed sweet music between speeches. The speakers of the day were: Dr. Christoe, Revs. Plunkett, Defoe and Thom, and Dr. Scott of Maxwell. The day was all that could be desired and everyone present seemed to thoroughly enjoy themselves. The ladies of both churches supplied dinners for hungry crowds, each adding thereby to their church funds about $50, this exclusive of suppers.

Ordaining a Minister

The ordination of Rev. A. J. Darroch took place in the Baptist Chapel, Flesherton, as announced, on Wednesday of last week, when the following ministers from a distance were present: Rev. C. H. Philmore, Chesley; Rev. W. McGregor, Durham; Rev. G. I. Burns and Elder Burns, Glenelg; Rev. J. McKinnon, Keady; Rev. W. E. Norton, Owen Sound; Rev. G. F. Hurlburt, Blue Mountain; Rev. W. H. Stevens, Paisley; Rev. J. M. McQuarrie, South Sydenham; Rev. Mr. Dession, Daywood; and Rev. J. G. Brown of Orangeville. Added to these a large number of lay delegates was present. The afternoon service was an examination of the candidate as to his conversion, call to the ministry and views of doctrine. These were found to be satisfactory. At 8 p. m. the ordination service was opened by Rev. J. G. Brown of Orangeville, who is a returned missionary from India. Mr. Brown preached a vigorous and interesting ordination sermon. This was followed by the impressive ceremony of laying on of hands by the clergymen present. Elder Burns then delivered the address to the candidate, and Rev. W. E. Norton of Owen Sound addressed the church, after which the Rev. Mr. Philmore of Chesley offered the right hand of fellowship to the ministry. After singing, this interesting ceremony was brought to a close by the newly ordained pastor pronouncing the benediction. Rev. Mr. Darroch's charge includes Flesherton, the 4th line and Priceville.

Wedded at Maxwell

On Wednesday, July 6, at 11.30 o'clock, at St. Mary's Church, Maxwell, by the Rev. E. A. Hall of Bervie, the marriage was celebrated of Rev. James Carlton Ferrier, Rector of St. Jude's church, Fenton, Mich., and Miss Irene Strachan, third daughter of Mr. James Strachan of Maxwell. The church, of which the Rev. J. C. Ferrier was for sometime rector, was prettily decorated with hydrangeas and geraniums and large bouquets of cut flowers and was filled with an interested gathering of friends. While the wedding march was being played the bridal party entered amid loud murmurs of admiration, a pretty and attractive group, while the sun never shone on a sweeter-looking bride or happier bride groom. The wedding dress was very beautiful in its simplicity and most becoming to the sweet-faced, graceful bride. It was a travelling dress of pearl ripple cloth, decorated with designs in green and gold cord, and the bride carried a bouquet of white roses. The bridesmaid,

Miss Mabel Strachan, sister of the bride, was dressed in organdie muslin, and carried a bouquet of pink roses. Mr. James Strachan escorted his daughter. Mr. James A. Miller of Trinity College, Toronto, was best man, and the ushers were Mr. Jack Strachan of Alliston, Mr. Harry White, London, Mr. Archie Campbell, Detroit. The wedding party consisted of the immediate relatives of the bride and groom and the bride received many well chosen and valuable presents. After the ceremony the party partook of a delicate but substantial wedding breakfast, to which all did ample justice. After breakfast Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Ferrier, smiling and happy, drove away amidst a shower of flowers and followed by many wishes for future happiness, not only from the wedding guests, but from a host of friends at home and abroad with whom they are most popular.
