HUMANE EDUCATION

It is rarely now that one will find a man abusing his best friend, the horse. Humane education has of late years been doing a great work in the amelioration of the condition of domestic animals. Since the organization of the humane campaign by Henry Bergh the movement has grown amazingly throughout the world, but more especially in the cities of the United States. In Boston and New York animal dispensaries and hospitals have been erected and endowed by benevolent men, where domestic animals can be treated for their ailments. The Angell hospital in Boston is a magnificent structure, and cost an immense sum of money. The American Humane Society places its literature in every civilized quarter of the globe, and its influence for good is felt throughout the world. Its publication, "Our Dumb Animals," is placed on the exchange table of every publisher in America.

An incident relating the best that is in man comes all the way from Skagway, Alaska, and contrasts strongly with the actions of some mercenary and heartless people, who, when the old horse has reached the limit of his usefulness, administers a bullet and places him under the sod without a thought for the value received by his labors throughout a long and useful life.

The men referred to in the item below only did their duty, but their names should be remembered and their kindly action followed by all who profit from the uncomplaining life labors of their equine friend.

"Of the 37 passengers out on the Princess May on a recent trip, two of them were very interesting persons," says the Skagway Alaskan. "They were Joe Ham and Dave Cunningham, of Dawson. These gentlemen brought their horse with them, and will take the animal outside to some warm place where the green grass grows all the year round, and there place him in charge of some one who is kind and therefore godlike, to be taken care of the rest of his days. The old horse has helped them during many years of travel in the Klondike and has never complained or shown a yellow streak. He is getting old now, and these big-hearted men of the North, who have never deserted anyone yet, are not going to commence dirty tactics on a faithful horse ; so they put him on a car and then transferred him to a boat, and are taking him to a good horse country, where he can dream in the sunshine and switch flies."

NOTES

The Toronto exhibition is a millionaire.

Thaw says he would like to live in Canada always. What better proof could we have of the man's sanity? But just wait until the Matteawan authorities get him back in confinement. Even the paid physicians who swore he was sane will go back on him now.

Down in Kentucky they are starting "moonlight schools." These are not of the garden gate variety such as we are acquainted with here.

NOT SATISFACTORY

If we accept the experience of the United States as a proof of the value of Mr. Rowell's abolish the bar policy it cannot arouse any great enthusiasm. Last year there were 21,554 fewer saloons in the States than the year before, and the number of wholesale liquor dealers decreased by six hundred, while the consumption of spirituous liquors increased. What we want in Canada is a plan whereby the consumption of liquor will be curtailed, and not merely switched into other channels.

AN EXPLANATION WANTED

Will somebody explain to us just what the policy of the Education department is? This year the grants to rural schools have been materially cut down and the public has to make it up. There is a shortage in the funds available it appears. A short time ago the minimum salary regulation was passed, which made it compulsory for many poor sections to raise the salaries of their teachers, and Dr. Pyne is authority for the statement that salaries all round have increased. The schools this year have to bear the burden of a decreased grant and increased salary bill. Now, if the department forces up salaries, would it not be only fair that they pay the regulation grant without deduction and without complaining? We trow yes. The money should be forthcoming from some source.

On Tuesday evening last, Chief Clarke overheard a conversation regarding fire arms, which led him to believe three youths—new arrivals to town—were carrying concealed weapons. On investigation he learned that three boys, on bicycles, had just arrived in town, from Owen Sound, and that they had boasted of having a revolver each. After considerable manoeuvering and questioning of various parties, the whereabouts of the bad men was learned and the last seen of our Chief he was going a 2.40 clip in the direction pointed out to him as the probable location of the lads. Sure enough, the three boys with their bicycles were there. They were nabbed, wheels and all, and taken to the Police Station and locked up Wednesday morning. Their names were ascertained, their place of residence being given as Owen Sound. Chief McAuley was communicated with by phone and Chief Clarke was asked to hold the lads until a constable was sent for them, as they were just the lads that were wanted for various little thefts that were daily being committed in our sister city. Wednesday afternoon brought down two constables, Thompson and Carson, who took the lads back to Owen Sound.

Previous to locking the boys up, Chief Clarke took from them three loaded revolvers, about fourteen packages of tobacco, a little jewelry, etc. The bicycles were stolen ones, it is supposed. They acknowledged breaking into different places of business in the Sound and from all appearances had Chief Clarke not arrested them a large number of our business men would have had complaints to hand into the constable of burglary. This is another time that the Chief was not found napping.—Meaford Express.

Mrs. Wallace, who was reported in these columns last week as having sustained serious injuries in a runaway accident on Saturday, Aug. 23rd, says the Shelburne Free Press, died at her home, lot 20, con. 4, Amaranth, on Thursday, Aug. 28th. Owing to her advanced age her constitution was unable to stand the shock, together with the injuries she received. Deceased was 76 years of age.

Walkerton

Herbert Smith, a local autoist, was fined $5.00 and costs, or a total levy of $10.35, by Magistrate Tolton here last Thursday on a charge laid by his wife of driving an auto while under the influence of liquor. Becoming angered, it is alleged, at his wife, Smith was arrested by Chief Ferguson on Saturday night on a charge of threatening to kill her. He was remanded to jail until Tuesday afternoon, when he was brought before Magistrate Tolton and released on $100 bail, the prisoner to appear for trial an Friday afternoon next.

George Damm, a Walkerton boy, who is assisting his father at nights in the moving picture show at Durham, had his right arm badly torn on Wednesday of last week. At the time of the mishap, Damm was rolling up his sleeve preparatory to running a spindle carver in the Durham furniture factory, when his arm got caught in a belt and was drawn into a rapidly revolving wheel or pulley, with the result that the machine was instantly stopped by the mishap and a wound inflicted on his arm that required 26 stitches to close. The unfortunate lad will be laid off duty for many weeks as a result of the accident.—Herald and Times.

Durham

For fighting on the streets of Durham on Saturday evening, Michael McMillen and Angus Morrison of Glenelg Centre, were fined $3 and costs each by Magistrate Telford. Both fines amounted to $7.50 each.

The death occurred in Durham on Saturday evening of Mrs. Margaret Anderson, who passed away after a long illness at the home of her daughter, Mrs. E. Hildebrandt, here. Mrs. Anderson was 83 years of age, and for the past two or three years had been confined to her bed practically all the time.

The furniture company is installing a 75 horsepower dynamo in their plant here, to furnish additional power, of which they are in need at present. The dynamo will be run by the steam engine used for furnishing power before the electric plant was put in at the Rocky.

On Thursday evening last, a cow belonging to Mr. John McAulliffe, upper town, was struck by W. Cox's auto, and had its leg broken and afterwards had to be killed. From what we learn, the animal crossed the road immediately in front of the auto, and was struck before the machine could be stopped.—Chronicle.

Dundalk

Mr. James Henry has received the appointment of Overseer of the stock department of the Muncey Institute, west of St Thomas.

A very serious accident was narrowly averted Saturday evening as the 5 o'clock train was coming into the station. Mrs. Thomas Aitchison of the suburbs was at the depot waiting to take the train to visit friends at Fergus, and, standing too close to the track, was struck by the cylinder of the engine and thrown to one side. Luckily no bones were broken, but Mrs. Aitchison got a severe shaking up. The train being held for ten or fifteen minutes, she was able to proceed to her destination. A basket of eggs came to grief on the platform.

The sad news reached Dundalk on Tuesday of the death of Robert H. Stephenson (Bert), who, while working on the construction gang of the Hydro-Electric at Streetsvill, came into contact with a live wire, killing him instantly. The home of the deceased is in Melancthon. He is a brother of James Stephenson of this place. The young man who is about twenty years of age started to work with the Bell Telephone Co. on construction work about two or three years ago. He later changed to the Hydro-Electric. The last time he was home he intimated his intention of quitting the job on account of the danger.

Dundalk will have a big re-union of the "old boys" and girls at the fair on Oct. 9th and 10th if present indications count for anything. A public meeting was held in the town hall Tuesday night and various plans of entertainment were proposed. An "Old Boys' Association and a committee was appointed to confer with the Board of directors of the fair. Another public meeting will be held in the town hall next Monday night at 7.30 when reports will be submitted and further plans proposed. One of the features of the "re-union" which it is hoped to carry out is an "old boys" band for the fair under the leadership of our own Joe Park, who is now residing at Boissevain, Man., and who has expressed a desire to come if at all possible for him.—Herald.
