CANADIAN EGGS BEST

The per capita consumption of eggs in Canada is aproximately 366.18 a year, according to J. A. Carroll, secretary of the Ontario Marketing Board, a record unequalled by any other country, because of the fact that Canada produces the best eggs. Mr. Carroll gives us the underlying reason the fact that Canadian eggs are government graded, and declares: "Guesswork is eliminated. The annoyance and disappointment of paying for a high quality product and receiving an inferior one, is a thing of the past in Canada, so far as the egg business is concerned. The old expression, 'let the buyer beware,' is obsolete in this country when eggs are being purchased. The Canadian consumer decides the quality of eggs he or she purchases, not the dealer, providing the eggs are bought by grade. As for the effect of this huge consumption on general prosperity, consider an average price of 23 cents a dozen for his eggs(or a total revenue of $69,040,000. The consumer paid an average price of 38.5 cents a dozen or a total of $117,176,000. The difference of $47,234,000 is the sum contributed to 'business' in the way of transportation, storage, merchandizing and incidental costs."

A Hamilton man was awarded $2,500 against a surgeon in his city by a high court judge for leaving a piece of gauze and rubber tubing in his wife after an operation.

VICTORIA CORNERS

To-day Monday is almost like winter weather, something we have had llttle of this year. Last Thursday was a pet. Mrs. Will Acheson when walking on the road observed a catapillar crawling along. The pupils of S. S. N. 4 took their art lesson out of doors quite comfortably without hats or extra wraps. The flies also made a mistake thinking it was spring. The thunderstorm on Friday morning portrays more open weather. The roads were being gravelled on Friday and Saturday. Funny in January for Grey.

WEEKLY CROP REPORT

Live stock generally is reported to be in fairly good condition and most farmers are depending on using home grown products for feed this year. With plenty of roots to add succlence to the rations, and a good quality of roughage available, live stock should fare well. A report from Grey County indicates that the cold storage plant at Thornbury has been the means of greatly increasing the returns from apples. The dairy cattle market is reported active from several areas, with sales to New York State, Quebec and other parts of Canada. There is a good deal of water in most parts of the province and there is not likely to be any shortage for some time at least.

Mary's Lamb Was Not Like This!

The difference in the return to the producer compared to the cost to the consumer of the same commodity illustrates vividly one phase of "the high cost of living." For example, a Colorado farmer sold seven lambs at Denver to the representative of a nationally known packing company for $3.30. From this sum was deducted $2.25 for insurance, inspection and commission, the seller's net return being represented by a check calling for 75 cents. A gentleman who paid 85 cents for two lamb chops on a dining car, knowing of the Colorado transaction, through the United States Department of Agriculture, had the trail of the seven lambs traced through the devious processes of merchandising until they were disposed of in the market. The department reports these seven lambs which brought a farmer 75 cents net were sold to consumers for $83.70. Everybody seems to have made a good profit in the transaction with the possible exception of the farmer who raised the lambs.

Of course women are more efficient. Whoever heard tell of a man who could wash his face with mud.

Credit System Abused

The credit system is getting some severe jolts in these days of depression and business men who have been in the habit of extending credit have suffered many losses. When these losses become a burden the inevitable result will be collapse of business. The question has been asked should credit be refused? This question involves others, but the answer under present conditions would seem to be yes. If credit were accepted, honorably by a person who has purchased necessities within his means are not indulging in luxuries beyond his means then it would be alright, but the unfortunate part is that many continue to get the luxuries anyway and the result is a crash. Here is a practise we understand to be quite common. Mr. Blank arrives in town Saturday night with a can of cream which is sold. The first purchase is a tank of gasoline for the car, then without enough cash left to buy groceries and other necesities, credit is asked for from the grocer. This is given and with continued hard times the grocer must have cash and he demands payment. The one obliged cannot pay and with his credit exhausted changes stores or maybe goes to another town.

Result, eventually he is seriously involved and what was to blame but the credit system. Yes, credit is a good thing sometimes, but to many people it is nothing but a curse.

A farmer who is quite prosperous told us recently that he never made a purchase on credit, although he had no start in life. What he couldn't pay for, he simply did without.—Creemore Star.

PUTTING IT OVER THE RAILWAY

C.P.R. baggage checks now bear the number of the passenger's ticket. This was made necessary by people going to a depot with baggage and under one pretext or another inducing the baggageman to check their belongings to their destination, usually stating the prospective passenger was a stranger returning to some other part. The baggage would be forwarded but the passenger would make the trip in an automobile.

ALFALFA FOR POULTRY

Alfalfa in the green state has long been recognized as an ideal poultry feed when used in conjunction with the usual grains and mashes. It is used extensively as range or as cut green feeeds for birds in confinement during the spring, summer and fall months in most alfalfa-growing areas, but the value of the hay as a winter feed is not so generally known. So much of the year's success depends on the number and quality of chicks hatched each spring, that it is important to do all possible to increase the fertility and hatchability of the eggs and the livability of the chicks. Experiments have shown that 20 per cent. better fertility and 6.4 per cent. better hatchability of fertile eggs can be obtained from birds where alfalfa hay, instead of straw, is used as litter in the breeding pens. The alfalfa should be used as litter during the winter months preceding the breeding season and the same treatment given to males and females.

Japan has been taking liberties with a couple of Uncle Sam's citizens. Uncle Sam is patient about such things. It took him three golden years to get real sore at Germany, but he did in the end.
