Don't Growl—Kick

(Kincardine News)

It may sound queer to advise one to kick in this day and age when there seems to be so much kicking, but what one calls kicking has in most cases been little more than a growl. Did you ever go into a store and get something that proved unsatisfactory? What do you do? In most cases you go to your neighbour and growl, when you should have gone to your merchant. A kick doesn't mean that the merchant will be displeased but it may have the direct result of improving his business. It has been shown many times during the past few years and especially during the depression that kicks against service or kicks about the quality of merchandise have resulted in a change made and an improvement as a result.

Taxes By Instalments

(Creemore Star)

Councillor H. M. Corbett introduced the matter of paying taxes in installments at the inaugural meeting of Creemore Council on Monday. Heretofore this village has adhered to the old system of paying the rates in one payment payable on December 14th. In a great many cases this incurs a hardship. The ratepayers in ordinary or poor circumstances could pay his taxes in installments much easier than in one big payment. The month of December has plenty of calls on the family purse without the burden of a heavy tax payment. Accordingly we heartily concur with the plan that Mr. Corbett hopes to make effective. There are several different systems of collecting on the installment plan. The Council will collect all possible information on the subject and finally discuss the pros and cons at a special meeting. The idea is by no means a new one as some such system is now in effect in many of our neighboring towns and villages.

No Right To Withdraw

(Alliston Herald)

We had an argument last week with a well known municipal authority in town concerning the right of a candidate for municipal election to withdraw after he has qualified for election at the polls. We contended that such a one cannot withdraw his name or make any change once he has signed the qualification paper after it has been properly completed. We felt we were right but our friend was confident he was right and the matter was dropped. But at the end of the week it turned out that we were right as the case of F. J. McArthur of Cobourg, got into the daily press. Mr. McArthur qualified for the Mayoralty not knowing that John Delanty had qualified. He was only consenting to do so because the town had to have a mayor and he was being urged by his friends to accept the position. As soon as Mr. McArthur learned Mr. Delanty had qualified he sought to withdaw his nomination and the municipal clerk refused to allow it. Local legal authority was consulted and the clerk was upheld. Off to Toronto went Mr. McArthur and consulted eminent legal authority. He learned that once he qualified he could not withdraw his name from candidature and it appeared on the ballot in Cobourg Monday last. We fancy numerous elections in the province could be upset on this very point; certainly the one in Alliston could as at least one name was withdrawn after the candidate had qualified.—

The Hay Market

In the eastern Ontario the market for hay was slow during December. Dealers seemed to be well stocked as they had bought earlier in the season in anticipation of a shortage which did not materialize Supplementary feed, good pasturage late in the season and a mild December materially changed the hay situation in this part of the province. There is still a fair supply of timothy and timothy-clover mixed in the Ottawa Valley and the St. Lawrence Counties. Current prices being paid to growers range from $12 per ton.

Prices in Northern Ontario range from $11 to $14 per ton. In Southwestern Ontario, owing to the long open fall and a good supply of supplementary feed, the demand for hay was comparatively small during December hay seems to be in largest Alfalfa hay seems to be in largest supply in this part of the province, but there is also a fair supply of timothy-alfalfa mixtures and timothy grass mixtures. The shortage of hay in Lambton and other corn counties is being ofset largely by the good corn crop. Good alfalfa hay is in fair demand for the manufacture of alfalfa seed, particularly in Grey County.

The movement of hay may not reach its peak in south-western Ontario until February or the beginning of March, at which time supplies of roughage and supplements may be depleted in those counties where shortages exist. Prices being paid growers are as follows: less freight charges to the market: Timothy No. 1, $16 to $18.50 per ton; No. 2, $14 to $16; No. 3, $12 to $14; wheat straw, $7 to $8; oat straw, $5.50 to $7.50.

Dew does not fall. Dew is formed on the ground. The warmer air comes in contact with the cooler vegetation on the ground, which causes the moisture in the air to condense on the cooler surface.

HEALTH by Dr. Frederick Tennant

EARLY SYMPTOMS

There are those who criticize the education of the public with regard to the symptoms of disease. They base their objections on the claim that the only thing such education does is to arouse unwarranted fears. We are of the opinion that there is a great deal of difference between the fear of ignorance and an intelligent understanding of danger. Experience has shown that the latter is attained in the vast majority of cases by the health education of the public.

This explanation is made to our readers so that they may understand the purpose we have in mind when we continue to refer to the early symptoms of disease. We have no idea that our readers will learn how to diagnose disease. Our hope is that they will gain an anpreciation of the significance of certain symptoms or signs which may indicate the onset of disease. This is important for it is the only practical way whereby disease may be brought under treatment early at a time when we may hope to accomplish most by adequate medical care.

The cure of cancer is possible if the disease is recognized and treated at its beginning while it is still a local condition. How can we hope to have the public come for treatment with early cancers unless they have learned to recognize in themselves the symptoms which should arouse suspicion of the presence of cancer.

There is no one symptom which means cancer. Any symptom may arise from any one of several causes. There are symptoms or signs which should always be investigated because they may be due to cancer. Delay is always dangerous because delay usually means that a local and curable disease has been allowed to spread through the body.

Cancer never begins in a healthy spot. Sores which do not heal and stay healed should be regarded with suspicion. Moles or other growths on the skin which change in size or appearance should not be neglected.

The recognition of internal cancer is more difficult. Indigestion after forty should not be allowed to go on without an investigation into the cause. Blood in the stools or urine is a definite warning. An unusual discharge from any body opening should never be considered as unimportant.

An investigation of symptoms such as these will reveal, in many cases nothing serious, but in others it brings the patients under treatment for a condition—cancer—which can be cured if treated early.

Do not delay, and remember that pain is seldom an early symtom of cancer.

Any lump or change in the feel of the breast is abnormal and demands attention.

J. C. Mercer Warden of Grey

Reeve J. C. Mercer of Markdale was elected Warden of the County of Grey by acclamation on Tuesday evening. Others proposed included W. H. Hunter of Egremont, Louis Himmler of Neustadt, John Davis of Artemesia John Hutchinson of Thornbury and John Dolphin of Derby township. All withdrew from the field, but indicated that they would be in the field for the office of Warden next year. At the close of the Council meeting the members paraded from the Court House to the Queen's hotel, headed by the boys' band of Owen Sound. Reeve Mercer is a young man, prominent in Markdale where he has resided most of his life, and is probably one of the youngest Wardens ever to grace the chair in the county of Grey. Congratulations are extended to Warden Mercer.
