FROM our Eugenia correspondent we learn of the death of Mr. John Benson, mail carrier, an old and esteemed resident of that place. His funeral was largely attended. The balance of our correspondents letter will have to remain over to next week for want of space.

M. PARKINSON, Flesherton, has laid in his winter stock, of staple, and fancy Dry Goods, Clothing, Millinery nd Boots and Shoes. In the Grocery ne he is prepared to furnish his stomers with everything necessary r the holiday festives. Don't forget o drop into his store.

WE are so crowded for space this week that we are obliged to leave out the general market report, but will give here the top prices paid to-day for the principal produce in Markdale, Fall wheat 106 per bush.; spring 117; barley 101; oats 29; peas 63; dressed hogs 560. Flesherton about the same.

SOME of our subscribers at Pomona are complaining that they do not get the paper until the week after it is published. It is mailed here early on Friday morning and should be received the same day. If any wish to continue the paper they will please send in their names next week. By subscribing now you get the balance of this year free. To clubs of five and over we will give the paper for $1 each, cash in advance.

WE were visited with a severe wind and snow storm on Saturday afternoon which continued through Sunday and Monday. Sunday was particularly boisterous, and few ventured out unless compelled through necessity to do so. Tuesday the weather moderated somewhat, and the farmers, taking advantage of the good sleighing, are rushing in their grain and other products, consequently our streets present a lively appearance.

WE have made arrangements with the following papers to furnish them to parties who wish to take them in connection with the STANDARD, at greatly reduced rates. The American Agriculturist $1.00; Canadian Farmer 75c.; Scientific American $2.60; Toronto Weekly Globe $1.25. We hope to be able to give the price of Mail and several others next week. The above prices are only adhered to when the papers are taken in connection with the STANDARD.

TIME, it is said, proves everything, and among other things it has proved the value of Dr. J. C. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral as a standard remedy for diseases of the throat and lungs. This is a household medicine with thousands of people, and deservedly so, for it has been in use more than forty years, and all who use it know that it accomplishes even more than is claimed for it. Nearly every community possesses evidences of its great curative power, in persons who have been cured by it of various throat and lung complaints, and when [illegible] their recovery from the [illegible] consumption. In [illegible] croup and sudden [illegible] Pectoral is the remedy [illegible] family should have at hand [illegible] treatment of these cases as they [illegible]. —Richmond, Va., Standard.

FAREWELL SERMON.—The many friends of C. W. & A. Speers, hearing that they were about departing from our midst, tendered them a complimentary supper on Wednesday evening at the Revere House, where a goodly number sat down to a sumptuously spread table, in which mine host Sproule did himself no discredit. We have no time this week to say further than that a very pleasant evening was passed; we will give a full report next week.

OF INTEREST TO FARMERS.—A case of special interest at the Division Court, Beaverton was one known as "the wild oats case." A farmer named Gaughn, from Mara, purchased seed barley from a neighbor named Courtney, who represented his barley clean and free from foul seed, and in every respect suitable for seed. However when the barley was cut it turned out, as was proven in Court, that the barley contained a quantity of what is known as wild oats and that Courtney, the defendant in the case, was aware of the fact previous to his disposing of it to Gaughn. His Honor gave full damages, $60 the amount claimed by Gaughn, and costs, and warned farmers that if they sold a certain kind of grain and afterwards it turned out to be some otherkind or not what was represented, they were liable for damages. There is talk of some more "wild oats" cases for next court.

BETTER TIMES.—The period of depression, if not over, is fast passing away, and signs of awakening prosperity are on every hand. The great increase in the revenue, for the last three months, is the best proof of revival of commerce, the increase in bank circulation and discounts, during the last month, is not less striking. The railways are doing a greatly increased business, and the revenue of some of them, notably the Grand Trunk, shows a very large augmentation. Sharing in the prosperity of the railways, the express companies are busier than at any previous time. The lumber trade is active and healthy, and probably more lumber will be got out this winter than ever before. Domestic manufactures are thriving, and as a consequence new ventures are being every day engaged in. There is one deplorable exception to this renewed activity. Our shipbuilding interest continues depressed; and for it there is, in any case, only a moderate revival possible. Bankruptcies have fallen to one-thid what they were a year ago, and suits for the recovery of debts are less frequent. —Monetary Times.

PRICEVILLE.

From a Correspondent.

SUDDEN DEATH.—Mr. Charles Hales who lived about five miles from here, on the Old Durham Road, went out on Sunday morning last to attend to his cattle, almost immediately after his leaving the house, some members of the family were alarmed by his shouting. They hastened to him, and found him helpless on the ground. He was at once carried into the house and a messenger dispatched for medical aid, but it was of no avail, as death put an end to his existence about fifteen minutes after he was taken ill.—It was the opinion of Dr. Bennett, who arrived some time after death, that Mr. Hales died from appoplexy. He was over 60 years of age, but strong and hearty—thirty years being spent in the neighborhood. He was very highly respected by all who had the pleasure of his acquaintance. He leaves a large and intelligent family to bitterly mourn his sudden demise.

Mr. Tuck, late of the Farmers' Inn, has removed into the new brick hotel erected by Alexander Brown, Esq. The premises are commodious and conveniently arranged. We predict for the genial host a successful business career.

We feel grateful that we have not the grounds for complaint that some of your correspondents have. Our sidewalks and crossings are so complete, that the innocent mud and ordinary pedestrian know little of each other.

DIED.

In Markdale, on the 18th inst., Archibald, son of George Noble aged 1 year, 11 months.
