

THE STANDARD.

Friday, April 1st, 1881.

The English Elector resulted in the return of Mr. Myres for Reeve by a majority of 166 over Mr. Kerr. Below is the return:

JOHNSON	KIRK	MYRES
No. 1	2	3
No. 2	1	2
No. 3	1	2
No. 4	0	1
No. 5	1	0
No. 6	4	6
Total	9	67
		238

No. 1 is Kimberley, 2 Heathcote, 3 Rocklyn, 4 Eshkin, 5 Scrubbers, 6 Curry & Monitor.

FLESHERTON.

From a Correspondent.—Now that the snow is gone about, it is not about time that the street cleaning had commenced. Some of the Blacksmiths should take the hint before there is any more said.

Some people will tell us that this is sugar weather, but the weather bulletin says that there is more snow coming.

The adjourned trial of Watt vs. $300. We hope this will be a warning to people who are inclined to trade horses to be cautious.—VILLAGER.

DUNDALK.

From our Correspondent.—The Skating Rink is sinking in the centre, owing to width of span and kind of timber. Very few risk their lives in it now.

The hay press has been removed from here to Blyth, as the roads are unfit for drawing hay.

Mr. Peter McGregor, is going to add a planer to his mill.

Mr. Phillips Druggist, has left here and has been succeeded by Mr. Parsons, of Cookstown.

Mr. W. J. Hicks, has a quantity of timber on the ground for the erection of a new granary, to be completed in time for next winter.

WILLIAMSFORD.

From our Correspondent.—Dear Sir.—The several services which continued for nearly eight weeks in the Methodist church here, we believe, resulted in good being done. A large attendance, good attention, first class order, and an increase in the membership of about 60, are one of the chief features of the services. The Minister in charge said that in none of his past experience has had such universal good order. So much for the village that has by some been badly reported of.

We are informed that the Temperance Society here is in a very prosperous state at present.

Mr. Joseph Archer, while at his father's, fell from the loft in the barn, and received very serious and almost fatal injuries. Dr. McGregor promises recovery, complete, in a short time.

On Friday last, wondering eyes gazed at several couples of youthful men and maidens, as they drove up to the Vogan House, where one of the happy pair was joined in matrimony by Rev. Mr. Cameron of Chatsworth.—H.

Williamsford, March 29th, 1881.

Correspondence.

Notice.—We wish it distinctly understood, that we do not hold ourselves responsible for the opinions expressed by our correspondents.

To the Editor of the STANDARD.—Sir.—I was agreeably surprised to see the quality of Fall & Spring Wheat, Oats and Peas, now in store at Markdale Station. They are the best samples I have seen in any part of this western Peninsula. My first impression of the land in Bentinck, Glenely and Artemesia, was that it was almost worthless, at least only fit for sheep pasture. Its rugged, stony surface, dotted with intervening gravelly knolls and ridges, on which by the way, when not cleared ground, the finest of Maple, Elm, Holly oak, Numerous ravines or valleys watered by the purest and most abundant springs, which unite in little rivulets that meander along the base of the hills. The little streams are shaded with Evergreens, such as cedar, tamarack and balsam, all indicative, to my mind, of land unsuitable for grain raising; but the fact of 180,000 bushels of grain, such as referred to, being shipped from Markdale Station in one year, is the logic that dispels my former theory. I would advise those requiring good seed such as wheat, oats and peas, to procure it from this section of country. It is strange that land so productive of staple cereals is held by the present occupants at such low figures—say from $20, $25 and $30 per acre. The bad state of cultivation in which the land is in at present, throughout its entire value. There is a rich field for improvement, and large profits would be the result to those who may purchase at present prices. The production of grain is not the only pleasure peculiar to this section of country. Its valleys and streams are visited by the lovers of piscatorial sport from New York, Boston, Toronto, Hamilton and London, during the holidays. Angling for the sportive speckled trout is an amusing pastime. The abundance of fish in these limped streams may be imagined from the fact that one hundred weight of trout has been taken by one angler in 6 hours. I have been told. It is said that two rods are necessary for successful fishing, viz.: One at each end of the rod. Well two negatives make a positive, so one hundred pounds of trout is a positive fact, whether secured by rods tact or otherwise. The little village of Markdale is on the Toronto-Grey and Bruce railway, about three miles from the main gauge, and distant from Toronto 6 or 8 hours run. The road is not difficult to travel by, being slow, sufficing, crooked and bumpy. Indeed it seems as if it were plowed out of some thickets and railroad. The company purpose making it a uniform gauge, the same as other roads. The alteration will be made with delight by the travelling public. Those who visit this place either on business or pleasure will find good accommodations in the numerous good restaurants.

Yours truly, JOHN D. HARRIS.

village has a population of 600, and is growing. It contains 10 or 12 stores, post office, a drug store, bank, three hotel, a school, a blacksmith who is building a comfortable and expensive house. The villagers are looking forward to incorporation. An interest, however, is looked after by Mr. G. W. Buddege, Editor and proprietor of the Standard. This is a local weekly conducted with spirit and enterprise, no snobbish or partisan trickery mars its usefulness. Political caucuses are given in this birth, with perfect freedom to paddle their own canoe. Long may it be the friend of industry and honest enterprise. The farmer, friend, business man, controller, and the medium through which public and personal grievances may seek and find redress. Accept my thanks for your valuable space.

Yours truly, JOHN D. HARRIS.

From a Correspondent.—Now that the snow is gone about, it is not about time that the street cleaning had commenced. Some of the Blacksmiths should take the hint before there is any more said.

Some people will tell us that this is sugar weather, but the weather bulletin says that there is more snow coming.

The adjourned trial of Watt vs. $300. We hope this will be a warning to people who are inclined to trade horses to be cautious.—VILLAGER.

DUNDALK.

From our Correspondent.—

The Skating Rink is sinking in the centre, owing to width of span and kind of timber. Very few risk their lives in it now.

The hay press has been removed from here to Blyth, as the roads are unfit for drawing hay.

Mr. Peter McGregor, is going to add a planer to his mill.

Mr. Phillips Druggist, has left here and has been succeeded by Mr. Parsons, of Cookstown.

Mr. W. J. Hicks, has a quantity of timber on the ground for the erection of a new granary, to be completed in time for next winter.

WILLIAMSFORD.

From our Correspondent.—

Dear Sir.—The several services which continued for nearly eight weeks in the Methodist church here, we believe, resulted in good being done. A large attendance, good attention, first class order, and an increase in the membership of about 60, are one of the chief features of the services. The Minister in charge said that in none of his past experience has had such universal good order. So much for the village that has by some been badly reported of.

We are informed that the Temperance Society here is in a very prosperous state at present.

Mr. Joseph Archer, while at his father's, fell from the loft in the barn, and received very serious and almost fatal injuries. Dr. McGregor promises recovery, complete, in a short time.

On Friday last, wondering eyes gazed at several couples of youthful men and maidens, as they drove up to the Vogan House, where one of the happy pair was joined in matrimony by Rev. Mr. Cameron of Chatsworth.—H.

Williamsford, March 29th, 1881.

Correspondence.

Notice.—We wish it distinctly understood, that we do not hold ourselves responsible for the opinions expressed by our correspondents.

To the Editor of the STANDARD.—Sir.—I was agreeably surprised to see the quality of Fall & Spring Wheat, Oats and Peas, now in store at Markdale Station. They are the best samples I have seen in any part of this western Peninsula. My first impression of the land in Bentinck, Glenely and Artemesia, was that it was almost worthless, at least only fit for sheep pasture. Its rugged, stony surface, dotted with intervening gravelly knolls and ridges, on which by the way, when not cleared ground, the finest of Maple, Elm, Holly oak, Numerous ravines or valleys watered by the purest and most abundant springs, which unite in little rivulets that meander along the base of the hills. The little streams are shaded with Evergreens, such as cedar, tamarack and balsam, all indicative, to my mind, of land unsuitable for grain raising; but the fact of 180,000 bushels of grain, such as referred to, being shipped from Markdale Station in one year, is the logic that dispels my former theory. I would advise those requiring good seed such as wheat, oats and peas, to procure it from this section of country. It is strange that land so productive of staple cereals is held by the present occupants at such low figures—say from $20, $25 and $30 per acre. The bad state of cultivation in which the land is in at present, throughout its entire value. There is a rich field for improvement, and large profits would be the result to those who may purchase at present prices. The production of grain is not the only pleasure peculiar to this section of country. Its valleys and streams are visited by the lovers of piscatorial sport from New York, Boston, Toronto, Hamilton and London, during the holidays. Angling for the sportive speckled trout is an amusing pastime. The abundance of fish in these limped streams may be imagined from the fact that one hundred weight of trout has been taken by one angler in 6 hours. I have been told. It is said that two rods are necessary for successful fishing, viz.: One at each end of the rod. Well two negatives make a positive, so one hundred pounds of trout is a positive fact, whether secured by rods tact or otherwise. The little village of Markdale is on the Toronto-Grey and Bruce railway, about three miles from the main gauge, and distant from Toronto 6 or 8 hours run. The road is not difficult to travel by, being slow, sufficing, crooked and bumpy. Indeed it seems as if it were plowed out of some thickets and railroad. The company purpose making it a uniform gauge, the same as other roads. The alteration will be made with delight by the travelling public. Those who visit this place either on business or pleasure will find good accommodations in the numerous good restaurants.

Yours truly, JOHN D. HARRIS.

From a Correspondent.—

The Skating Rink is sinking in the centre, owing to width of span and kind of timber. Very few risk their lives in it now.

The hay press has been removed from here to Blyth, as the roads are unfit for drawing hay.

Mr. Peter McGregor, is going to add a planer to his mill.

Mr. Phillips Druggist, has left here and has been succeeded by Mr. Parsons, of Cookstown.

Mr. W. J. Hicks, has a quantity of timber on the ground for the erection of a new granary, to be completed in time for next winter.

WILLIAMSFORD.

From our Correspondent.—

Dear Sir.—The several services which continued for nearly eight weeks in the Methodist church here, we believe, resulted in good being done. A large attendance, good attention, first class order, and an increase in the membership of about 60, are one of the chief features of the services. The Minister in charge said that in none of his past experience has had such universal good order. So much for the village that has by some been badly reported of.

We are informed that the Temperance Society here is in a very prosperous state at present.

Mr. Joseph Archer, while at his father's, fell from the loft in the barn, and received very serious and almost fatal injuries. Dr. McGregor promises recovery, complete, in a short time.

On Friday last, wondering eyes gazed at several couples of youthful men and maidens, as they drove up to the Vogan House, where one of the happy pair was joined in matrimony by Rev. Mr. Cameron of Chatsworth.—H.

Williamsford, March 29th, 1881.

Correspondence.

Notice.—We wish it distinctly understood, that we do not hold ourselves responsible for the opinions expressed by our correspondents.

To the Editor of the STANDARD.—Sir.—I was agreeably surprised to see the quality of Fall & Spring Wheat, Oats and Peas, now in store at Markdale Station. They are the best samples I have seen in any part of this western Peninsula. My first impression of the land in Bentinck, Glenely and Artemesia, was that it was almost worthless, at least only fit for sheep pasture. Its rugged, stony surface, dotted with intervening gravelly knolls and ridges, on which by the way, when not cleared ground, the finest of Maple, Elm, Holly oak, Numerous ravines or valleys watered by the purest and most abundant springs, which unite in little rivulets that meander along the base of the hills. The little streams are shaded with Evergreens, such as cedar, tamarack and balsam, all indicative, to my mind, of land unsuitable for grain raising; but the fact of 180,000 bushels of grain, such as referred to, being shipped from Markdale Station in one year, is the logic that dispels my former theory. I would advise those requiring good seed such as wheat, oats and peas, to procure it from this section of country. It is strange that land so productive of staple cereals is held by the present occupants at such low figures—say from $20, $25 and $30 per acre. The bad state of cultivation in which the land is in at present, throughout its entire value. There is a rich field for improvement, and large profits would be the result to those who may purchase at present prices. The production of grain is not the only pleasure peculiar to this section of country. Its valleys and streams are visited by the lovers of piscatorial sport from New York, Boston, Toronto, Hamilton and London, during the holidays. Angling for the sportive speckled trout is an amusing pastime. The abundance of fish in these limped streams may be imagined from the fact that one hundred weight of trout has been taken by one angler in 6 hours. I have been told. It is said that two rods are necessary for successful fishing, viz.: One at each end of the rod. Well two negatives make a positive, so one hundred pounds of trout is a positive fact, whether secured by rods tact or otherwise. The little village of Markdale is on the Toronto-Grey and Bruce railway, about three miles from the main gauge, and distant from Toronto 6 or 8 hours run. The road is not difficult to travel by, being slow, sufficing, crooked and bumpy. Indeed it seems as if it were plowed out of some thickets and railroad. The company purpose making it a uniform gauge, the same as other roads. The alteration will be made with delight by the travelling public. Those who visit this place either on business or pleasure will find good accommodations in the numerous good restaurants.

Yours truly, JOHN D. HARRIS.

From a Correspondent.—

The Skating Rink is sinking in the centre, owing to width of span and kind of timber. Very few risk their lives in it now.

The hay press has been removed from here to Blyth, as the roads are unfit for drawing hay.

Mr. Peter McGregor, is going to add a planer to his mill.

Mr. Phillips Druggist, has left here and has been succeeded by Mr. Parsons, of Cookstown.

Mr. W. J. Hicks, has a quantity of timber on the ground for the erection of a new granary, to be completed in time for next winter.

WILLIAMSFORD.

From our Correspondent.—

Dear Sir.—The several services which continued for nearly eight weeks in the Methodist church here, we believe, resulted in good being done. A large attendance, good attention, first class order, and an increase in the membership of about 60, are one of the chief features of the services. The Minister in charge said that in none of his past experience has had such universal good order. So much for the village that has by some been badly reported of.

We are informed that the Temperance Society here is in a very prosperous state at present.

Mr. Joseph Archer, while at his father's, fell from the loft in the barn, and received very serious and almost fatal injuries. Dr. McGregor promises recovery, complete, in a short time.

On Friday last, wondering eyes gazed at several couples of youthful men and maidens, as they drove up to the Vogan House, where one of the happy pair was joined in matrimony by Rev. Mr. Cameron of Chatsworth.—H.

Williamsford, March 29th, 1881.

Correspondence.

Notice.—We wish it distinctly understood, that we do not hold ourselves responsible for the opinions expressed by our correspondents.

To the Editor of the STANDARD.—Sir.—I was agreeably surprised to see the quality of Fall & Spring Wheat, Oats and Peas, now in store at Markdale Station. They are the best samples I have seen in any part of this western Peninsula. My first impression of the land in Bentinck, Glenely and Artemesia, was that it was almost worthless, at least only fit for sheep pasture. Its rugged, stony surface, dotted with intervening gravelly knolls and ridges, on which by the way, when not cleared ground, the finest of Maple, Elm, Holly oak, Numerous ravines or valleys watered by the purest and most abundant springs, which unite in little rivulets that meander along the base of the hills. The little streams are shaded with Evergreens, such as cedar, tamarack and balsam, all indicative, to my mind, of land unsuitable for grain raising; but the fact of 180,000 bushels of grain, such as referred to, being shipped from Markdale Station in one year, is the logic that dispels my former theory. I would advise those requiring good seed such as wheat, oats and peas, to procure it from this section of country. It is strange that land so productive of staple cereals is held by the present occupants at such low figures—say from $20, $25 and $30 per acre. The bad state of cultivation in which the land is in at present, throughout its entire value. There is a rich field for improvement, and large profits would be the result to those who may purchase at present prices. The production of grain is not the only pleasure peculiar to this section of country. Its valleys and streams are visited by the lovers of piscatorial sport from New York, Boston, Toronto, Hamilton and London, during the holidays. Angling for the sportive speckled trout is an amusing pastime. The abundance of fish in these limped streams may be imagined from the fact that one hundred weight of trout has been taken by one angler in 6 hours. I have been told. It is said that two rods are necessary for successful fishing, viz.: One at each end of the rod. Well two negatives make a positive, so one hundred pounds of trout is a positive fact, whether secured by rods tact or otherwise. The little village of Markdale is on the Toronto-Grey and Bruce railway, about three miles from the main gauge, and distant from Toronto 6 or 8 hours run. The road is not difficult to travel by, being slow, sufficing, crooked and bumpy. Indeed it seems as if it were plowed out of some thickets and railroad. The company purpose making it a uniform gauge, the same as other roads. The alteration will be made with delight by the travelling public. Those who visit this place either on business or pleasure will find good accommodations in the numerous good restaurants.

Yours truly, JOHN D. HARRIS.

From a Correspondent.—

The Skating Rink is sinking in the centre, owing to width of span and kind of timber. Very few risk their lives in it now.

The hay press has been removed from here to Blyth, as the roads are unfit for drawing hay.

Mr. Peter McGregor, is going to