MULES VERSUS HORSES.

Now that horseflesh has been rais to such high prices, it might not uninteresting to the public to learn that there is a team of mules near Irish Lake which ontstripped the crack norse teams on a recent Sunday when eturning from church, the driver be ing as spirited as his mules are frisky. One of the horse teams wished to pass the mules, but no! that would be an 37 00 insult to the long-eared colts, hence a lively race ensued, the mule driver $1.00 jockeying his neighbour into the ditch, 1.00 throwing off the sleigh-box, and dam-1.00 aging things generally. communication of last week I am reminded of the fable of the mountain and the mole-hill, He says of my " At first we thought we would pay no attention to it. but on second consideration, it would not be right to let it pass unheeded, as the impression left up in the minds of your readers was ship vacated by the removal of Mr. that this new and only route would Brelby. accommodate the whole valley." Had he been guided by first thoughts he would not have exposed his ignorance or his ability to misstate facts. The second part of the sentence he does not question, leaving the " impression" as strong as ever. He next quotes my statement " choice of markets, Flesherton and Markdale." This he does not contradict, but states that Kimberlev and Flesherton are alieady connected by a good road!" (Save the mark.) " A much better road than the new one would make if thousands were expended on it," Probably he is the only person who would make such a reckless statement, and I hazard the statement that "Ratepayer" nev r trave!led over the two routes or he would not make an assertion so wide of the mark.

He says "that is not what we on 6 and 7 sideroad wish, we want to go up more direct." That would be almost impossible, for just a little "more direct." and they would fall over backwards in attempting to climb. Evidently he is sorry he had not time to dilate on the roundabout way of this new road. If he could disabuse his mind of the idea that 6 and 7 side road is the hub of the universe, he might then see that this new road would not only accommodate all on 6 and 7 side road in the valiey but ten times more, who would not try to climb 6 and 7 si leroad. He insinuates that the residents of Kimberley and district are, with few exceptions, opposed to the new road. The opposite is proved by the petition to council asking to have the road opened, signed by a large majority of those interested. Two parties are can raise $3 subscription in and about Kimb-rley for every $1 that they have for 6 and 7.

My suggestion to close the town line across valley and adopt deviation instead he denounces as an absurd norant of the powers of Municipal Counci's. Any school-boy could en- Over W. J. McFarland's Store on Thursday lighten him on that point.

What "Ratepayer" is driving at John Creason, Q. C. Duncan Morrison is a problem, he points out no better rou'e. There are a great many who want an outlet south and west, that 6 TTHE Creditors of William Irwin, late of and 7 would not be convenient for.

He says we are of posed to building ed are required to send in their names, reroads to accommodate another townwood, went down with the floor, and Campbell, John Weber, A.
