MR. W. C. JEWEL, dentist, of Meaford, who formerly made professional visits to Markdale, died at his residence, on Monday the 5th inst., aged 51 years.

THE storm of Sunday last was one of the worst for 20 years on the Northern lakes. Six men from Markdale were on the Campana, which vessel is however safe with her load.

MR. WM. ANDERSON, a well-to-do farmer has lived 30 years in Glenelg township and informed us that he has never been in Owen Sound. He is not at all anxious to go there either.

THE BELL-RINGERS.—The concert given on Monday evening by the Alleghian troupe was something above the ordinary. The Swiss bells were something new to a Markdale audience and was highly appreciated, while the singing by the troupe was simply grand. Those who had not the good fortune to attend missed a rare treat. The company appear to be of a highly respectable class.

If you wish to subscribe for the Globe, Mail, Star, Farmer's Advocate or Montreal Witness or renew your subscription for any of the above papers hand in your name and subscription to this office.

NEVER in the history of Markdale was there such a dearth of fire wood as the present week. We are no exception to the rule we are sorry to say, and it is almost a miracle that we published this week.

CHANGED HANDS.—W. J. McFarland has sold his mill property to Plewes Bros., of Bracebridge and Glen Huron. Those gentlemen appear to be thoroughgoing business men. They purpose commencing business forthwith, but will not make any important changes until spring when they purpose enlarging the mill, raising the dam, and putting in the new roller system and will run it as a merchant mill. They also purpose opening a flour and general feed and provision store.

A LODGE of the Sons of Temperance was recently organized at the town line appointment of the P. M. Church at which place an open lodge was held on Tuesday evening last which was a success notwithstanding the stormy weather.

A FATAL accident occurred at Clarksburg, on Wednesday the 7th inst., whereby Mr. Thos. Loughhead lost his life by a heavy plate falling on him while assisting to raise the new foundry, he died almost instantly. He leaves a wife and family of six to mourn their sad loss.

SERIOUS ACCIDENT.—Last Friday evening, as Mrs. Geo. Anderson, of the Back Line, Melancthon, was in an outbuilding searching for eggs, her feet slipping, she caught a log with her left hand, in the vain endeavor to prevent falling; but her hand getting bound between two logs, the small bone of the forearm was snapped an inch or so above the wrist. Dr. Norton adjusted the fracture.—Shelburne Free Press. (The above person was formerly a highly respected resident of Markdale.—ED.)

STRANGE BUT TRUE.—A woman in Wisconsin left her husband and two children. In order to disguise herself she dressed in men's clothing. She soon after courted a girl and married, they lived happy together but had no family, strange but true.

SUPPORT IT.—The local newspaper is not only an educator but it is a panorama of every day events. It aims to return value received for what you do for it whether individually or in the aggregate. Strive then to look upon it as one of the essentials that you must have. In doing so the local paper will become what you can count it and its mission will be a success. An exchange hits the nail on the head in the following:—"It is absurd for the residents of rural municipalities to suppose that because they get large city weeklies for the same money that they paid for a good local paper, that they receive more value for their money. This is a mistaken idea. Any man who takes the least interest in the affairs of his township or county, if he can afford only one paper, he should take the one published in his own county. The local paper furnishes its readers with the news of the entire district, market reports, agricultural news; county, town and township Council reports, accounts of agricultural society and shows; and local news generally, none of which the city papers can pretend to do. It will thus be seen that neither the Globe, Mail, or any other city weekly can supply the place of the local paper."
