CAUGHT BY COUGH DROPS.

A FARMER'S WIFE ELOPES WITH A PILL PEDDLER.

His Tenor Voice Proves Irresistible and She flies with Him

(From the News)

Belleville, Feb. 9.—About six months ago there came to this section of the country a man named Thomas Flack. He was a likely looking fellow a good talker, and could sing ike a tenor of a negro minstrel show. He engaged in the sale of cough drops. and having the gift of gab managed to get along well, for his medicine sold quite readily. His manner was so thaing his conversation so pleasing, and his style so attractive that he created a good impression wherever he went. His principal field of opera tion was the township of Sidney, and Flack and his cough drops were known in the majority of its househoids.

During the course of Flack's percgrinations he met Mrs. Martin Kelly, who resided with her husband on a farm in the first concession of the township named, about five miles west of this city. Mrs. Kelly had a fine home but no family. When she saw Flack her heart went out towards him, and his cough-drops, but when she heard him sing-oh, goodnessshe was completely carried away and became thoroughly infatuated with him. He began to visit her house and show her marked attention. He went driving with her, and together they attended church socials in the Methodist church, on the Trenton

As time advanced the gossiping neighbors began to whisper unpleasant things about the lady and her companion, and these slyly-expressed observations soon grew into rumors which were not of a pleasing character. They reached the auricular appendages of Mr, Kelly, and the green eved monster took complete posses. ion of him. He accused his wifealthough she was a member of the church, of not being all that she should be, and angry scenes and torrid words ensued. His desires and requests were disregarded by his better-half, as she continued to keep company with the vendor of cough drops. The limit of forbearance was reached a few days ago, and open hostilities resulted. The husbands demands and commands were unheeded, and eventually Mrs. Kelly told the man she had promised to love and obey that she infinitely preferred Flack to The Yeas and Nays were called him. Then there was "a picnic," which was subceeded by a brief calm. Yeas, Messrs. Fawcett, Hurd, Black Mr. Kelly arose on Saturday last to find that he was sole monarch of all he surveyed. His wife had fled. On The minutes were then confirmed. | discovering her departure Mr. Kelly The Report of Committee shewing | instituted a search, and endeavoured the state of the Treasurer securities to ascertain her whereabouts, but was to be satisfactory, laid before Council unable to do so. Advice to Swearers.

R. J. BURDETTE.

Nobody cares for the swearing of an $14.72 to J. Rutherford, Esq., Owen | habitual swearer. His volleys of profanity have no terror in them. They mean nothing. It is the man who heretofore. never swears who scares you out of ALFRED FROST, On motion being made and seconded your boots if once in a lifetime he County Crown Attorney. Application was received from the the Council adjourned until the first does swear. So far as we can learn Washington only swore once during all the eight years of the revolutionary war But that one time counted. It cer, &c. turned back the tide of retreat, changed a rout into a victory, and made things hum. But the fellow who swears on all occasions. and swears hot and cold with the same mouth, the intellectual pauper who ekes out his barren supply of ideas with an abundant crop of profanity, whose conversation is a long chain of mill privileges, and who talks as a beaver works: his swearing is weak, tiresome, disgusting. So, if you want to swear with any effect, my boy, be very seldom about it. Be exclusive in your profanity. If you can't get along without it bring it out occasionally, like rare old family diamonds; don't keep it running six or eight hours a day, like the kitchen hydrant.

son—but if you will observe closely you will perceive that young men, boys, fledglings of about young age, swear more than men-more frequently, more awkardly, with less point and direction. A man becomes ashamed of it. It belongs to the eigarette and matinee period of life, my boy. It is a habit that flourishes in the bread- | curity. and-butter days, along somewhere between the high school and the college, and while the blue ribbon on the diploma is bright. It belongs to what Pluck so aptly calis the "unsalted | dale. generation," the fresh young men. So put it away and put on all manly things.

I know some good men, some of the best men in the world, who will confound it. and even dog gone it, and in New England even a deacon A PERFECT FIT GUARANTEED. has been known, under a terrible strain, to "condemn." But as a rule, my son, don't do it. Don't swear. It isn't an evidence of smartness or worldly wisdom. Any fool can swear. And a good many fools do it. I, my son? Ah, if yeu could only gather up all the useless, uncalled for, ineffective swears I have dropped along the pathway of my life, I know I would remove stumbling blocks from many inexperienced feet, and my heart would be lighter by a ton than it is to-day. But if you are going to be a fool just because other men have been, oh, my FISH & FOWL IN THEIR SEASON son, what a hopeless fool you will be.

CRUELLY MURDERED.

In the Province of Ontario every year thousands are being slowly murdered by taking unsuitable, untried nostrums for such complaints as Costiveness, Indigestion Liver Complaint. Kidney Troubles, etc., who might easily regain lost strength and energy by using McGregor's Speedy Cure. To convince them that such is the case we will give them a free trial bottle at Hill Bro's Price 50c. and $1. See testimonials from persons in your own town.

A Protest from the Grand Trunk.

declares war on the Canadian Pacific anteed. Orders left at ahe STANDARD office railway to-day in a pamphlet entitled will receive prompt attention. "Correspondence between the Grand Trunk company and the dominion government respecting an advance to the Canadian Picific railway company." While in the shape of correspondence, it is really a firm and threatening protest. One paragraph from a letter of the 2nd instant from Mr. Hickson to Sir John Macdonald shows the spirit of the whole thing. It reads as follows: "You will realize, doubtless, that unless I can secure the intervention of the government it will be incombent upon me, situated as I am, to make an appeal for justice to parliament in such a manner as constitutional usages will permit."

A WRONG OPINION.

Many a dollar is paid for prescriptions for some disease that never troubled the patient, and when the sole difficulty was worms, which a few of Freeman's Worm Powders would to merit a liberal patronage, we remain remove. These Powders are pleasant, safe, and sure, contain their own cathartic, and are adapted for children or ad :lts.
