IMMIGRANT SLEEPING CARS.—The wretched accommodation provided for immigrants will soon cease to be a reproach to at least on Canadian railways. Five immigrant sleeping coaches manufactured expressly for the C. P. R. at Cobourg reached the Union Station this morning en route for the Port Arthur division of the Canada Pacific, where they will in future run. The coaches, which are equipped with Westinghouse air brakes, are 56 feet long, exclusive of the platform. Comfortable day and sleeping accommodation is provided for 86 adult passengers, who will be supplied with warm water by a neat cottriyance attached to the two heaters in each. The interior of each coach is richly finished in polished Canadian woods, and the seats are of a pattern specially designed by General Manager Van Horne for the immigrant traffic. The windows are double, and the arrangements for ventilation are complete. As soon as the Ontario & Quebec opens fifteen of these cars will be placed on the line between Quebec, Montreal, and Owen Sound.—O. S. Advertiser.

Flesherton.

From our own correspondent.

A large crowd of people attended the monthly fair held in this place last Monday. The show of stock on the market was small, and but a limited number changed hands. On the evening of the same day a scene which seldom disgraces the public streets of Flesherton was witnessed opposite the Flesherton Hotel. While two men named Hargrave and Jamie were having some pugilistic exercises. The noise made, the language used and the brandishing of a cane, by an old gentleman, whose locks are blossoming, made him look as if reason had left its throne and he had become a fit subject for a dwelling whose doors are well guarded.

Mr. Thos. Duncan sold his household effects by auction last Monday. He is breaking up house keeping here, his family going to Toronto, while he still continues his business as tailor here himself.

Messrs. Strain & Large have got the contract of doing the plaster work on Mr. M. Richardson's new block. The work on the building is being rapidly pushed forward.

Mr. D. E. Wright, late of Markdale, but an old resident of this place, has again taken up his abode in our midst.

In the absence of the pastor, Rev. Mr. Wilson, the Rev. Mr. Chisholm, of Maxwell, occupied his pulpit here last Sabbath.

Owen Sound.

From a correspondent.

The new elevator has now reached its utmost height, 180 ft., and from the roof on a fine day a splendid view of Owen Sound and surrounding country can be had.

Last week the harbor and wharfs presented a busy scene, a large number of men being employed in fitting up and loading the vessels in the harbor, and in the works of the C. P. R. around the station. There are still four or five schooners and as many small steam crafts in the river; but all the passenger steamers have started on their various routes. The Frances Smith sailed for Collingwood this morning. The Spartan is expected from Detroit to-morrow, and the big steel steamers of the C. P. R. are expected from Port Colborne in the beginning of next week. On Saturday two tugs brought a dredge and scows from Collingwood, and dredging is now going on at the station wharf so as to give the new boats plenty of water.

The Salvation Army meetings seem to loose none of their interest. Every night the barracks are crowded, and from the number of army uniforms and badges seen on the street, their number must be getting very large.

On Thursday evening as the City of Owen Sound was coming up the harbor, one of the passengers, an English emigrant fell into the hold and was almost instantly killed.

On Thursday evening Samuel Johnson, an old resident of Keppel, while returning from Owen Sound, fell from his waggon and received fatal injuries from which he died the next day. Whiskey is supposed to have been the cause of his fall.

On Friday morning Robert Wylie, Sr., for many years a town constable, was found lying on one of the bridges where it is supposed he had fallen in a fit sometime during the night. He never recovered consciousness and died on Friday evening.

Mr. J. W. Dennis, our popular hotel keeper has erected a five shed with hall above which will be complete shortly; the young people are looking forward and expecting a "trip on the light fantastic toe" when the hall is complete.

Mr. Conkey is doing a lively trade among the lasts, having four men employed shoemaking.

Mr. Thos. Welsh, an old resident of Artemesia, died last Saturday and was buried at the Catholic Church Glenelg on Monday. The funeral was largely attended.

SERIOUS RUNAWAY ACCIDENT.—While Mr. E. Page was driving Mrs. Page and Mrs. John McGhee into Shelburne on Thursday last, the horses became frightened at a cow near the C. M. church above Horning's Mills and ran away. To make matters worse the high line broke, the result being that Mr. Page pulled the horses to the right against a bank, where a wheel of the waggon was wrenched off, and the occupants thrown out, both ladies being seriously injured. Mrs. Page, who is an elderly person, was badly shaken up and rendered unconscious. It is feared that the shock to her system may prove fatal. Mrs. McGhee had an elbow dislocated, and an arm fractured. She was also insensible for a while. Mr. Page escaped uninjured. The ladies were carried into the church, where they fainted a second time. They were removed home and attended to by Dr. Norton and Dr. Lawrence. The horses, it may be added, turned their faces round and continued their runaway career until they reached home.—Shelburne Free Press.
