Married Eight Times.

WIVES SCATTERED ALL OVER CANADA AND THE UNITED STATES.

DETROIT, May 9.—Manager C. J. Whitney is taking every possible step to bring the scoundrel who deceived his daughter to justice. Detectives and police officers are at work in all parts of the country, following up clues bearing on the past career of Neveille, alias Perry, alias half a dozen names. The amount of evidence discovered thus far is almost startling. Telegrams were received last night throwing new light on the sordid history. From present indications he will be lucky if he gets off with anything less than a life sentence.

INTERVIEW WITH THE PRISONER.

Whitney's daughter went to Toledo yesterday with Lawyer George W. Moore and Mrs. Fred C. Whitney to see if something could not be learned from Neveille, who thus far has stubbornly refused to tell anything of his past history. The meeting between Neveille and Lillian is described as very sensational. The couple fell into each other's arms; then Neveille pretended to faint away, and fell on the floor. Water was thrown into his face, and he revived, but soon keeled over again, and more water had to be thrown in his face. After considerable excitement all around, Lillian and Mr. Moore persuaded Neveille to tell something of his history. Mr. Moore is not communicative, but the other who heard it say Neveille

CLAIMS TO BE SIR ROGER TICHBORNE.

He said his mother was living in England and thinks him dead. He and the celebrated claimant were in the English army together; they were drummed out for tarring and feathering a comrade. He claims to be of Irish and English extraction, and says he gets his name from large estates in Great Britain which are bound up in chancery. He drew rent from his estate until 17 years of age, when he had a row with his mother and came to America in company with the claimant. They were together some years. Neveille admitted having been but said he had been divorced each time. He says he met Miss Shaw, the woman who came to Detroit with him, at Poughkeepsie, N. Y., but denies that he was married to her. An attempt was made to get a photograph of Neveille, but his lawyer objected, and it seemed under Ohio law Neveille could not be forced to sit for his likeness.

MARRIED TWICE IN THIS COUNTRY.

HIS DOINGS IN SCHENECTADY.

A telegram from Schenectady says Neveille is probably the man who came there under the name of John H. Percy and married Miss Anna Henry. He was working the town as a book agent. He was arrested on the charge of false pretences, but his wife and mother-in-law settled matters. From there Percy went to Jersey City and married the daughter of a rich man, he then going by the name of Perry. The Schenectady woman says he got considerable money out of his mother-in-law, and the last time she heard of him he was in Canada.

MENTAL ABERRATION OF MISS WHITNEY.

That the genuine and spontaneous sympathy bestowed on Mr. Whitney, his unhappy daughter, and all the members of his family is well placed, has been demonstrated by evidences of mental aberration on the part of Miss Whitney. At a consultation of medical experts yesterday one of the physicians suggested that the young lady be placed for a time in a private asylum, to which her parents demurred, and travel abroad was suggested.

THE SON OF A HAMILTONIAN.

HAMILTON, May 9.—Neveille, who eloped with C. J. Whitney's daughter from Detroit, was the son of a man who kept a butcher's shop here some years ago. His real name is Geo. R. Newbold. He was once a Methodist Episcopal preacher here.

Degrading the Press.

Surely the leading party journals in this city are doing all that lies in their power to bring party journalism into contempt, and themselves in disgrace. There can scarcely be lower depths than they have already attained. The former insinuations of both the leading papers here have been something really disgraceful, but probably nothing lower and meaner has appeared than in connection with the late case of dynamite finding at the parliament buildings. In connection with the announcement of the discovery of the dynamite cartridges in the wells of the building the Globe gave an implied intimation that the Tories connected with the Conspiracy Case probably had a hand in it. Stress is laid on the fact that one of the cartridges was found immediately under the apartments of the Speaker, and the other under the safe containing important documents both of which could have been destroyed had the case gone on at the Assizes! What intelligent men in Toronto entertains for one moment the idea that the defendants in the Conspiracy Case would have been parties to getting rid of witnesses and documents in that murderous and savage way?

The Mail, not to be outdone by its rival, even in mean insinuations, comes out the next morning with two or three articles in which it is boldly intimated that the whole thing was the work of the present Ontario Government, or of some parties under the immediate control and direction of the Ministers. It says that "the prevailing opinion among those who profess to know a thing or two is that the cartridges were placed where they were found under the instructions of the government." It insinuates that the boy who made the discovery was probably inspired to do so, and that the Globe reporter was there under instructions at the time, and probably several others about the premises would not have been there then but for the very purpose of making the most out of all the pretended discovery." In a leading editorial article on the same subject it plainly says that Mr. Mowat and his colleagues "are not men above a little dabbling in ineffectual dynamite and unconnected fuse if any purpose could be saved by the experiment on the tide of public opinion."

There has been more of this disgraceful sort of writing in both papers. Surely if we have a law in Canada for the suppression of immoral and debasing literature it is not likely to reach any cases of more debasing literature during an entire year. What a sin and shame for journals aspiring to reputations for reliability and decency to use their opportunities in trying to convince the young man of the country that our leading public men are among the lowest, most deceptive, and most heartless creatures to be found outside of prison walls!

Why not now go the full length and let the Globe come out with the insinuation that the same Tories are hand in hand with the Fenian dynamiters in an endeavor to blow up the Speaker, the Government, and every Grit in Canada, and let the Mail follow with the deliberate announcement that the Provincial Premier and his Cabinet have all combined to blow up the Parliament buildings and destroy all the public property they possibly can and then attribute the whole crime to their opponents simply to injure the reputation of the Tory leaders in the public estimation? For shame, gentlemen; have some better respect to the reputation of the press than to allow any more such unworthy matter to appear.—Truth.

C. P. R.

By a general order issued by Manager Van Horn on the 1st inst., the Ontario and Quebec, Toronto Grey and Bruce and Credit Valley will henceforth be managed as part of the C. P. R. The old names of these railways will disappear, and they will now be known as the Ontario Division of the C. P. R. We notice that the last rail of the Ontario and Quebec was laid on Monday, and the work of ballasting is being vigorously pushed. The line will be open for freight traffic in a very short time, and by the 1st of July for first class passenger service. We will then have a direct through line from Owen Sound to Ottawa and Montreal, much shorter to the former city than that now travelled by way of the Grand Trunk. We believe it is also the intention to at once push on a direct line from Smith's Falls or Carleton Place to Montreal, which will greatly shorten the distance to the latter city, passengers going straight through without going near Ottawa.

With this direct connection from the East now completed, and the C. P. R. boats to make the connection westward Owen Sound is in a favored position as regards communication in both directions, and we may expect to see a large stream of traffic this summer. Manager Whyte, who under the new arrangement is manager of the Ontario Division of the C. P. R., was in town this week, laying out the ground for the new station building and immigrant sheds to be erected here. The station building will be on the tannery property, and the immigrant sheds north of Russell street, in rear of Mr. Dunn's present residence.—O. S. Times.

ROBERT DUNLOP,
Tp. Clerk.

Warning to Assessors.

A warning to assessors comes from Kent county. Edward A. Craig, an assessor, has just been convicted at Chatham assizes and sentenced to a fine of $200, with two weeks in jail, for wilfully inserting three names on the assessment roll for the township of Camder, with the intention of giving them an apparent right to vote. It was of no avail that the prisoner pleaded ignorance of the statute. The judge told him he had taken the oath to perform the duty faithfully and honestly, and had been guilty of a flagrant violation of it.
