It Serves Them Right.

To the Editor of the STANDARD.

DEAR SIR,-I understand that five of the hopefulls of your village, summoned to appear before the magistrate, Brown, on Saturday last, to answer a charge of "Disorderly Conduct" and breaking the doors and windows of one Mrs Duff, who keeps a house of questionable notority, and were fined each in the sum of about $8. 1 am also informed by some of the neighbors that this is not the first time their midnight slumbers have been disturbed by the rowdyish conduct of some of the same parties, and if repeated will have to answer before a higher tribunal. I am surprised that self-respect, if not shame, would not keep young men (who ought to occupy a respectable position in society) from such conduct.

The blame is laid on whiskey, which was taken in quantities by some of the parties. Your village has got an unenviable notority. A gentleman on the cars, who had remained over night in your village, and had witnessed the conduct of some of the youths, remarked that there were boys in your village preparing themselves for the penitentiary and the hangman's rope. Your hotel-keepers are also guilty of selling liquor on Sunday, contrary law. Your licensed groceries sell liquor by the glass, contrary to law: and even do not regard the sacredness of the Sabbath, but have been seen going in and out of their places of business with their customers on the Lord's day. There is also liquor sold in your midst without license. What in the name of common sense are the Inspectors paid for? Are they doing their duty? Let every respectable merchant, let every respectab e man who has an interest in the prosperity of your village arise in his might and crush out this crying evil from your midst; let the law be enforced in every instance, and heavy fines laid upon the transgressors, then peace and prosperity will be yours.

Yours truly, MORALITY.

A Trip To Manitoulin

To the Editor of the Standard. Dear Sir. -- If you will allow me a places.

Tuesday the 15th July I left Markdale, took my departure same evening from Owen Sound per S. S. Magnet arriving at Manitowaning the following day. I was surprised, on nearing that port, with the beautiful view, and still more impressed with the lively business aspect of the village; why, it proved even more lively and interesting the one night we stopped here thun our go-ahead Markdale. I left Manitowaning the following day This institution has dragged along (Thursday) by stage for Providence a feeble existance for two years, but Bay district and the farther I travelled is now developing into a genuine the more discouraged I grew, there cattle fair; last Saturday over one being nothing but rocks on either side; hundred head of fine cattle were on I determined however to further test the fair ground, more than half of the matter more fully and to that end which founds market at fair prices, left the stage at Michael's Bay and Mr. F.
