MARKDALE OCT. 23, 1884.

A SAD ACCIDENT.

A Lad 13 years old has both legs torn off by a Threshing Machine.

HE EXPIRES IN 13 HOURS.

A most heartrending accident occurred on the farm of Mr. Geo. Hill, 11th line, Euphrasia, about 9 o'clock on Tuesday last, where Stinson Bros. were threshing, in which one of the brothers, met with a most sickening and fatal accident. The younger brother, Thomas J., was attending ordinary duties oiling, &c., when the coupling near the gearing caught his clothes, instantly winding him up and literally tearing both legs off below the knees before the machine could be stopped. One of the feet had passed through the cylinder and the other was found near the place where the accident occurred. Dr. Sproule was immediately sent for and on arriving found that little or no hopes could be entertained for his recovery, both legs being completely severed below the knees, and several wounds about the head and other parts of the body. He, however, bound up the battered and bleeding form, but the unfortunate sufferer continued to sink until 10 o'clock in the evening when death ended his sufferings. It is a sad stroke of affliction for his parents and the family, who live in the same neighborhood where the sad event happened. The funeral will take place to-day, (Thursday) to the Presbyterian cemetery, leaving the house at 10 a. m.

AGAIN SUCCESSFUL.

We are pleased to observe that our enterprising townsman, Mr. J. R. Trimble, has again been successful in taking a first prize and diploma at the great Northern Fair held at Walkerton last week, with his celebrated entire horse, Clear Grit, Jr.; also a first prize with his young Clear Grit mare, which gives promise of great excellence. It is the natural outcome of the true spirit of humanity to feel a degree of pride in all that pertains to ourselves, whether of a national or local character; hence we admire the public spirit and enterprise which actuates Mr. Trimble in placing within the reach of our farmers, a horse which was no compeer in the province, as a roadster—a class of horse which will always find a ready market. On former occasions we have admonished our readers to devote a greater share of their energies to stock raising, of all kinds, our country is peculiarly well adapted therefor, not only for its excellent pasturage, but its abundant supply of pure spring water.

Meaford Road.

Mr. Robert Shannon, Jr., is here visiting among his friends and former acquaintances.

Mr. Daniel Walker has rented Mrs. Foley's farm. He thinks that it will pay him better than working at chance jobs.

Mr. Jesse Wing has purchased a farm in Euphrasia and has gone there to live.

The present teacher of the day school here, Mr. Robert McLaughry, has been re-engaged for 1885.

Eidon, son of Mr. J. Brodie, had his arm broken last week by being thrown from a milk wagon. Dr. Sproule fixed up the broken sores, and he is now doing well.

Mr. T. Penelton was compelled to leave the farm on which he was living, in the village, by the lawsuit in which he was engaged going against him.

Dundalk.

From our own Correspondent.

The Baud racket is subsiding, the leading members being ashamed of their childishness and the younger members disclaiming all connection with the affair. We hope our band boys will hold together, and continue to blow and prosper.

Dr. McWilliam's residence is being proceeded with, and when completed will be an ornament to the village.

The brick work on Mr. Clark's block is finished, and presents a very neat appearance.

Mr. J. Duncan, one of the Plymouth brethren of Toronto, has been holding forth here of late.

Revs. Snowden and Shaw have commenced a series of special services in the Methodist Church here.

On Saturday evening the alarm of fire! was raised. The roof of a house, owned by Mr. Wm. Robinson, and occupied by Mr. A. Duncan, caught fire. The fire-bell hastily summoned the villagers, and the fire was extinguished, but not till the roof was considerably damaged, and the contents injured by hasty removal. The fire-bell is a very useful article in our town. A few gongs collect a large crowd in a few moments.

Our village is increasing in wealth, another "precious jewel" having been added last week.

Flesherton.

From our own correspondent.

Miss Miller of Owen Sound, is at present visiting at J. W. Armstrong's, Esq.,

J. R. Clark, Esq., of Hamilton Times, after passing through an attack of typhoid fever, has quite recovered again and with his wife has been spending a few days at his father-in-law's, J. W. Armstrong's. Mr. Clark left here on Monday last and we understand will sail from New York on Thursday for England where he intends spending a few months. We wish him a safe and speedy trip across the Big water.

The Rev. Alfred Andrews, who has been appointed by the Guelph conference of the Methodist Church to do special Sabbath School work, preached in the Methodist Church here on Sunday evening last to a large audience and on the Monday evening following lectured in the basement of the same Church to a crowded house. Mr. Andrews' lecture was lengthy, full of life, and interesting, and we think will do much good in creating a deeper interest in Sabbath School work.

Mrs. Ed. Higginbotham, of Bowmanville daughter of Rev. D. C. McDowell, who, some time ago, received some injuries from jumping out of a buggy, is now convalescent and paying a visit at home here at present.

Wednesday afternoon Oct. 15th the residence of W. J. Armstrong, Esq., was the scene of a cheerful and happy gathering of friends, being occasioned by the marriage of his second daughter, Lydia to Thos. Aikinhead of Toronto, the ceremony was performed by the Rev. D. C. McDowell, at the hour of two o'clock, after which the company partook of a bountiful repast, then the happy couple was escorted to the Flesherton depot where they took the evening train for Toronto, from thence, on their wedding tour.

A very unpleasant scene occurred in our village on Monday last, between two men R. Hardgreave and Mr. Nelson sr. It appears Hardgreave and some others had been drinking in the Hotel, when Nelson was asked to drink with them but refused to do so Mr. Nelson left the hotel but was followed by Hardgreave, to Mr. Trimble's store when he, Hardgreave, charged Nelson with owing him some money and struck Mr. Nelson, making violent threats, when Mr. N. who had been cutting an apple had his knife in his hand struck at Hardgreave, and inflicted a severe cut in his upper lip. A charge was laid by Hardgreave with J. W. Armstrong, J. P., but was afterward withdrawn.

Waters Falls.

Since you received my last note the new flour mill here has changed hands. Messrs. Olmstead & Clark have retired and Mr. Charles Freeman has assumed sole control. Mr. Freeman has resided for many years in Meaford, where he once conducted the steam flour mill, I believe, to the satisfaction of every one, and from his well known business capacity and energy, there can be little doubt that he will prove the right man in the right place.

I have to chronicle the advent of another son of St. Crispin, from Thornbury, a family man, who has started in business for himself. A new doctor has lately arrived from Halton Co. We have now two ministers, two doctors, and if we only had a couple of lawyers, would be ready for any emergency. So the folk keep pouring in. Well, let them come; there is room enough as yet for all that come—of that kind. I say of that kind, as I am not in favor of indiscriminate immigration. We want the honest, sober, and industrious; not the idle and dissolute, to hang around street corners, showing a bad example to the rest of the community.

Dear Sir,—This hat tries to observe—

"That the melancholy days have come—

The saddest of the year."

"The sere and yellow leaves" lie strewn around us or yet flutter mournfully on the boughs. What a beautiful simile it is, which I have seen somewhere, that nature dresses up in her most brilliant, gay, and gaudy robes, just before death, or the semblance of death, which our long and severe winter presents, as if to note her departure and to bid us a bright farewell.

Life has been aptly compared to the seasons, (Spring)—

"Oh, life how pleasant in thy morning; Young fancy's rays the hills adorning; That enchanted time,—

"When the feelings were young, And the world was new, Like the fresh bowers of Paradise Opening to view."

Then the summer of our days, when in the full strength and vigor of maturity, we enter with eagerness and zest, on our various pursuits of business or pleasure. Then Autumn follows. We feel we are declining and look back with soberness on our past career. We have the fruition of our exertions and aspirations, or perhaps the saddened retrospect of bereavements, failures, or disappointments.

A paring bee was held at Mr. T. Campbell's on Friday evening last. Most of the elite of the place, and a goodly number of commoners besides had been invited. After a bountiful supper abundant in delicacies, amongst which roast duck figured conspicuously; jokes and merry chat went round; but the prime moving spirit of the evening's hilarity was Mr. T. Home, Master Tailor here, whose fund of jests, anecdotes, repartee, and bon mots, seemed inexhaustible and kept the table in a perpetual roar. That gentleman has the happy knack of making old witticisms and stories appear as good if not better than new ones, by the imitable drollery of his expression and recital. One about the Cannibal and the Missionary fairly brought down the house. Said the Cannibal to the Missionary, "I think I'll eat you." "I don't agree with you my friend," says the Missionary. "Do you think so," returned the Cannibal. "Oh, then I'll let you go as I do not like to take anything that doesn't agree with me." The party broke up at a late hour, all seeming to have thoroughly enjoyed themselves and all unanimous in their praises of the kind and liberal hostess, Mrs. T. Campbell.
