Walters Falls.

From our own correspondent.

DEAR SIR,—Nothing very interesting has transpired here since I wrote you last, except the death of Mr. Philip Walters, which, although not sudden, was unexpected, and gave a shock to every one in this vicinity. The deceased gentleman may be said to have been the most influential person in this part of the country, and by his upright and honorable conduct and genial manners was both beloved and respected by all who had the good fortune to be acquainted with him. His death has been a great trial to his family, who, however, are comforted by the assurance, that their loss is his gain.

There have been no arrivals or departures of any consequence of late. Mr. Richard Olmstead and Mr. Anson Smith started on a hunting expedition lately. They went to Muskoka and had considerable success. They shot two deer, but one got away, and they brought the other home.

Mrs. D. Brown has returned from a four weeks visit to friends and relations at Emsdale, Muskoka. Our citizens appear to be settling down and preparing for the inevitable winter. All are in good spirits, and seem to think that life is worth living. Like the historian Mignet, Mr. Sam Caswell is proud and thankful that he has been brought into existence, and of having arrived at consciousness; and Mr. Bush, blacksmith, agrees perfectly with Mr. Ernest Renan, that it is something to have lived, and to have emerged, even for a short space, from the infinitude.

As was anticipated, the new roller flour mill here, under the able management of Mr. Freeman, has proved a success, and is assuming proportions which warrant us in the belief that it will be one of the main branches of industry for the furtherance of the prosperity of this place.

Mr. Caesar, butcher, is coming to settle here permanently on the first of next month, which shows the great advance this place is making, as a few years ago, if any one had said that we wanted a butcher to ourselves, that person would have been immediately examined by two medical men (we have two here now), very likely have been pronounced insane, and be at present languishing in the asylum.

The wintry wind extends his blast. To-night (27th) there is sleighing here; and the signs of an open winter are gone again.

A DOUBLE PURPOSE.

The popular remedy, Haggard's Yellow Oil, is used both internally and externally for aches, pains, colds, croup, rheumatism, deafness, and diseases of an inflammatory nature.

An Extraordinary Operation.

A MAN ABLE TO TALK AFTER HAVING HIS TONGUE CUT OFF.

A few days ago Dr. McFarland performed an unusual operation on H. C. Ward, an old Crimean veteran, of Center street, having removed a cancer from his tongue at the General Hospital. At the time the operation was so successfully performed there were some two hundred students and a number of doctors in attendance, and it was generally believed that the old man would lose his power of speech and sense of taste. Yesterday, however, Mr. Ward's son received a note from his father which stated that he would lose neither his speech nor his sense of taste, as he could already articulate quite plainly and the doctors assured him that he would soon be able to wag his tongue, or what remains of it, with as good effect as before he brought on the cancer by smoking a pipe with a broken and jagged edged stem. In the letter to the son he says he will be able to leave the hospital in about two weeks, and he concluded:—

"The doctors says I will be able to talk as well as ever, and I know I have not lost my sense of taste. There were about two hundred students present while the operation was going on, and when I came to my senses they gave me a hearty cheer."

The operation was an extraordinary one and has been reported on both sides of the Atlantic.—News.

EASILY CAUGHT.

It is very easy to catch cold, but not so easy to cure it unless you use Haggard's Pectoral Balsam, the best remedy for all throat, bronchial and lung troubles, coughs, colds and consumptive tendencies.

THE LEIGHTON CASE.

On Monday Thomas Leighton was brought up on remand charges with stealing two pairs of boots from D. P. Urquhart, to which he pleaded guilty, but as there were twenty-four other charges of larceny against him he was further remanded. On Monday he was again brought up, when the other twenty-four claimants of stolen property were in attendance. The prisoner pleaded not guilty to all the several charges. The Chief had all the goods assorted and laid out in due order all round the court room so that he could lay his hand on each parcel as it was claimed. The Police Magistrate went through with the evidence in each case patiently which was somewhat monotonous, and was about after this wise: The Chief swore to finding the goods in the house of the prisoner, who said most of them were taken there by a colored man named Johnson. Johnson denied knowing anything about them, and the owners severally identified their goods. The contradictory statement in reference to Johnson and other circumstances showed that Johnson had no complicity with him. Johnson, who had been arrested for receiving stolen goods on information given to the Chief by Leighton, was discharged from custody on application of his counsel, Samuel Platt, Esq. The prisoner Leighton was convicted on all the twenty five charges and sentenced to seven years in the Provincial Penitentiary at Kingston in each case, all to run concurrently. The Police Magistrate ordered restitution of the stolen property to the several owners. The prisoner was sentenced at 12:30 on Monday, and at 3 p. m. the same day was on his way to Kingston.—O. S. Advertiser.
