Draft Horses.—40 Years Experience.
A. S. Chamberlain, for 40 years proprietor of the Bull's Head Stables, New York City, in reference to the value of different breeds of draft horses, said:
"I keep exchange and sale stables for horses. Don't deal on my own account to any extent. All classes of horses, amounting to several thousands annually, come to my stables from all sections of the country. A large number of these are draft horses of the different breeds the Clydesdales, the French horses called Percherons or Normans, the English and Belgian. There seems to be a larger demand for the French horses than for any other breed.

"Some years ago we used to get a great many horses from Upper Canada. These were Clydesdales, and would weigh from 1,400 to 1,600 pounds, but they did not seem to answer the purpose; as a general thing their feet were thimshelled and flat, and being heavy horses their feet would become sore and would not stand the pavements. The French horses have good feet and stand the pavements better than the Clydesdales. That is the reason they sell better.

"I would advise the farmers and breeders who are breeding horses to sell on the New York market for draft purposes to breed from the French horses in preference to all others."
—Chicago Tribune.
The best horses to be found in France are recorded with pedigrees in full in the Percheron Stud Book of that country.
At the great importing and breeding establishment of M. W. Dunham, Wayne, DuPage Co., Illinois, hundreds of the finest specimens of this famous race can be found at all times.

Horse Physiognomy.
A horse's head indicates his character very much as a man's does. Vice is shown in the eye and mouth; intelligence in the eye and in the breadth between the ears, and between the eyes; spirit in the eye and nose, in the mobile nostril, and active ear. The size of the eye, the thinness of the skin, making the face bony, the large, open, thimshelled nostril, the fine ear, and the thin, fine mane and fore-top, are indications of high breeding, and accompany a high-strung nervous organization, which with good limbs and muscular power, ensures a considerable degree of speed in the animal. The stupidly, lazy horse, that drivers call a "lunk-head," has a dull eye usually, a narrow forehead, and contracted poll. He is not represented in this group, but occurs not frequently is always a blunderer, forgets himself, and stumbles on smooth ground, gets himself and his owner into difficulties, calks himself, is sometimes positively lazy, but often a hard goer. He needs constant care and watchfulness on the driver's part. A buyer of equine flesh should be able to detect the good and bad qualities of the animals he contemplates purchasing. This valuable knowledge is only acquired by a careful study of the various parts of horse physiognomy.—COL. M. C. WELD, in American Agriculturist for Dec.
