INCENDIARY FIRE.—On Thursday night the alarm bell sounded and it was soon discovered that the saw mill of Mr. O. Jull was in flames. There was a good deal of delay in bringing the hose to play on the fire, and the mill was soon destroyed. There is no doubt but this was the work of an incendiary. Mr. Jull is an earnest supporter of the Scott Act, and we learn that threats were made against him by some of the liquor party. The loss of Mr. Jull is serious, as there was no insurance, but such acts of persecution will only make the friends of the act more determined to punish the law-breakers.—Orangeville Advertiser.

THE LADIES' AID of the Markdale Methodist church will hold their annual garden party on Friday evening, the 24th July, at the residence of Mr. Wm. Armstrong, adjoining the village. This is perhaps the most beautiful location for a residence in the County and is well arranged for a lawn party. The Brass Band will be in attendance, and a splendid time is expected.

TRIMBLE'S Imported entire horse "Garfield," presented a magnificent appearance and attracted a large crowd of spectators as he passed through on his last round last week being completely deluged with ribbons of all shades and colors. We regret that our notice last week of the Orange men's Sunday service was in part incorrect, as one of the lodges worshipped in the Presbyterian church. The error was not ours, however, as we knew nothing of the arrangements until a prominent member of the order called and wished us to make a note of the service, which we gladly did, precisely as stated to us.

FATAL ACCIDENT.—Three young men named Henry Newell, Edward Stiver, and Wm. Moore, of the centre line of Osprey, went out shooting on Saturday last. Newell, the deceased, had his gun standing beside him at full cock, and Stiver was standing at his side engaged in loading his gun when it accidentally struck the other and discharged it, the whole charge entering Newell's jaw causing instantaneous death. The deceased was about 22 years of age, and was highly respected. The funeral was held on Monday last. The services were conducted by the Sons of Temperance of which the deceased had been an active member.—Shelburne Free Press.

The School Festival of the Town Line Church, held in Mr. Hawkins' grove was a most successful affair. The superior quality of the good things provided reflected great credit on the ladies. After the young people had enjoyed themselves with swings and games, Mr. E. Moore, Superintendent of the School took charge of the Programme. Excellent recitations were rendered by three of the children. Short addresses were delivered by Messrs. Lyons, Moore, Martin, Hawkins, Logan, Brown, Grandy and Casson. The choir sang some very choice pieces. The proceedings were closed by the Natinal Anthem. Proceeds about $18.

ANOTHER OLD MARE.—Mr. Jas. Dowsett of Leeds County, Township Basted, writes to us and says that he owned an aunt of Mr. John Whitby's old mare for 29 years and she worked 28 years of that time, and died three years ago, in her 82nd year she was also without blemish, active and smart until death. She spent the last nine years of her life-time in hauling milk for her owner to the cheese factory, to the value of three thousand dollars. Mr. D. comes short of owning her as long as Mr. Whitby by two years. Strange coincidence that those two mares has been drove together many times in Leeds County.

BANQUET.—About forty sat down to a sumptuous and toothsome spread at the Markdale House on Wednesday evening to do honor to Mr. W. L. Young on the occasion of his departure on a trip to Scotland. After the wants of the inner man were replenished, Mr. A. Turner took the chair, which position he filled with credit to himself and satisfaction to all, and then usual toasts were drunk, in cold water and responded with more than ordinary ability, seasoned with a superabundance of wit and humor, during which the guest of the evening was presented by B. S. Bae, Esq., on the part of Markdale C.O.O.F., of which Mr. Young is a worthy member, with a beautiful Oddfellow's Seal. Time and space prevents us doing justice in our report, it was however a grand success throughout, showing to a demonstration the high respect of the citizens of Markdale for Mr. Young.
