

Reception Number of the War News

The Grip Printing & Publishing Co. have issued their Reception Number of the Illustrated War News. This number is one of unusual interest. It contains sixteen pages, and the illustrations are entirely composed of scenes in connection with the return of the Volunteers from the North-West. The Publishers sent special artists to Winnipeg and other principal points to report and illustrate the proceedings, and have gone to considerable expense in getting authentic sketches of the various demonstrations all over the Dominion.

A racy account of the incidents and experiences of the troops returning home is written by Captain C. W. Allan, who accompanied some of them from Port Arthur, and it is illustrated by J. W. Bengough in his best style.

This number is, in every respect, the best which has yet been issued, and is worthy of being sent away to friends all over the world, as a representation of the reception tendered our returning heroes.

We understand there has been already an enormous demand for this issue, and the publishers have had great difficulty in filling orders. Certainly everybody who appreciates the work done by our brave volunteers should have a copy.

The publishers will mail copies post paid to any address on receipt of the price, in advance, or it can be obtained from all newsdealers. The Toronto News Co. are the wholesale agents.

Dr. J. G. Falls, Dutton, certifies: "For some years my wife has been troubled with Dyspepsia, and has tried one thing after another recommended but with little or no effect till I gave her McGreggor's Speedy Cure a trial. Since taking the first bottle I have noticed a decided improvement, and with confidence recommend it to be one of the best medicines extant for Dyspepsia. This invaluable medicine for Liver Complaint, Indigestion, Kidney Complaint, is purely vegetable. Sold at Hill Bros. Trial bottles given free."

How to Keep Cool.

Don't work as hard as usual during the middle of the day if it can be escaped.

Don't eat as much as usual. It is not necessary, and a little fasting in hot weather always pays.

Don't drink extremely cold ice water. It is always better to eat the ice or let it melt in the mouth.

Don't have any fires going in the house unless absolutely necessary. Use cold foods and do without hot drinks.

Don't wear your clothes tight. It impedes the already depressed circulation and is a great source of discomfort.

Don't eat any meat or butter, if you can do without them. They are heating and anyone is better without them in this weather.

Don't fail at meals to give preference to fruits and acids, which are agreeable now to the stomach and anything else that can be offered.

Don't drink any strong stimulants, such as lemonade, milk, or iced coffee, as they are more for the tired energies at such time than the best brandy.

Don't worry and fret. Try and put the unpleasant things with which you have to deal until cooler weather, and make up your mind not to get mad at anything.

Don't neglect your feet. Bathe them night and morning, pay more attention than usual to corns, and wear the oldest and roomiest shoes you have. No one can keep cool with tight shoes on their feet.

Don't miss any opportunity that is offered to bathe or go in the water. Nothing else can be done dip the hands in a basin of water and rub them all over the person on arising before retiring.

Don't wear a stiff hat. Compromise something light or soft—straw, if possible—and ventilated above to let the hot air. Frequent shampooing and wetting the top of the head is an effective means of keeping cool.
