MICHAEL MATHEWS, of Holland, met with a severe accident last Thursday while working for Prtrick Mathews. He had fallen a tree which lodged, and Mathews went up the slanting tree to release it with his axe, when he fell coming down with his left arm on the axe inflicting a fearful gash at the wrist. Dr. Oldham dressed the wounded member and he is progressing favorably.—[Chatsworth News.]

MR. BUCHANAN, Meaford Road, Artemesia, ordered and used one of Messrs. Wortman & Ward's horse hay fork's with sheaf lifter attachment last season, reserving the right to return it if not satisfactory after a fair trial. Mr. B. is however well satisfied, and would not be without it for twice its cost, as he can unload hay, peas, loose barley or sheaves in one third the time it took in the old way, making the hardest work a pleasure.

ANOTHER WARNING.—Last Wednesday evening a man by the name of Perry, from Duntroon was driving home on a wagon load of lumber, and being slightly under the influence of liquor he drove his horses too close to the deep ditch in front of Cameron's garden, and the wagon and load upset into the ditch. Mr. Perry fell underneath the load, and was crushed and mangled in a frightful manner. He was extracted with considerable difficulty and taken to Poplar Hotel where he breathed his last about an hour after the accident happened this is indeed a solemn warning to those who indulge in the social glass.—[Collingwood Bulletin.]
