likely through the cold months, consequently matter intended for the paper must be in the that week.

Rev. Mr. WILSON exchanged pulpits last Sabbath with Rev. Mr. D'Arpent of Maxwell.
The latter preached two able sermons in the Presbyterian church in this place; the evening discourse in particular was indeed eloquent.

TENDERS.—Will be received till the 16th November to build Presbyterian brick church in Priceville. Plans and specifications to be seen with secretary, A. McCuaig, chairman; Rev. D. McLeod, Secretary of building committee.

THE Methodists are already making preparations for their church anniversary services and entertainment which will be held on the 25th and 26th of December. Rev. Mr. Casson will conduct the services; which fact is sufficient to ensure a crowded house and successful services.

Miss ETTIE FORD, teacher at Vandeleur school, is reported by Inspector Campbell to have one of the best schools in the township.
She has everything in and about the premises neat and trim, and by persistent and well directed effort, has the school in a commendable orderly and progressive state.

OUR LITTLE ONES for November is to hand full of amusing, interesting and instructive reading matter and illustrations for the young folk. This excellent monthly is filling an important mission among the young with whom it is circulated throughout America.
Price $1.50 a year. Russell Pub. Co., Boston, Mass.

THE season of the year for marketing fowl is at hand, and those having such to dispose of will do well to have it in the best possible condition and thus secure a ready sale at the highest market price. Starve the fowl well before killing, and be particular not to scald them in order to get the feathers off. There is more loss to the seller by scalding, and thus discoloring fowl, than most people are aware of.

THE Methodist Observer contains every week several columns of latest denominational news timely editorials, articles by ablest divines, Talmage's Sermon of the previous Sunday, excellent notes on the Sunday School lesson interesting health, household and other departments, instalments of a good moral story and carefully selected miscellany. Every Methodist family in Canada should take it.
Only $1 a year, with great reductions to clubs.
Agents wanted at every post office. Big commissions. Sample copies sent free.
Address, James' Publishing House, Bomanville, Ontario.

THE constant success of The Illustrated London News (American edition) is not by any means a surprise when even the contents of a single week is considered. Take for instance the issue of October 29th, now on the market. The supplement alone, giving an excellent colored portrait of Prince Bismark, is a valuable souvenir to possess, while in addition there are pictures of the Nizam of Hyderabad, two pages devoted to illustrations of the State of Ireland, another page to Our Troops in Burma, one of Border Sketches in Kelso, one of Bristol Cathedral, one of Death of Caesar, and a most attractive picture of a little girl and a dog entitled "Speak!" The reading matter is as interesting and complete as ever, while the price for all is only ten cents all newdealers have it, and the New York office is in the Potter building.

THE S. S. anniversary of the Methodist church took place last week. Appropriate sermons were preached, on Sunday morning by Rev. J. W. Shilton B. A. of Flesherton, and by Rev. Mr. Buggin, the pastor, in the evening. The weather was most unfavorable hence the congregations were small. On Wednesday evening the weather was delightful and the attendance large. A spacious platform was erected extending clear across the church, and was gorgeously decorated with plants, flowers, evergreens, palm trees etc., giving the edifice a brilliant and very handsome appearance. The beautiful cantata "Under the Palms" was rendered in a praiseworthy manner. The school appeared to excellent advantage, while each and all rendered their various parts admirably, reflecting great credit on Mr. Bowes, the superintendent for untiring patience and perseverance in the arduous task of practicing such a heavy rendering. The very best of order prevailed throughout. The secretary's report showed the school to be in a prosperous condition. The collections amounted to $36.38. We noticed quite a number from Owen Sound and Flesherton present, also our respected School Inspector Mr. H. W. Campbell.

The City of Owen Sound Lost.

The steamer City of Owen Sound struck on Robertson's rock, off Clapperton Island, Lake Huron, about four o'clock on Monday morning, and sunk in about half an hour. The crew reached the island in safety, whence they were rescued by the steamer Campana and taken to Collingwood. The vessel and cargo are a total loss, and the crew lost everything but the close they had on at the time the vessel struck. There were no passengers on board.

The City of Owen Sound was loaded with 24,500 bushels of corn for Dunn & Thompson, of Montreal, and 411 packages of fish for Smith & Keighley, and Leckie, of Toronto. The City was built in 1875 at Owen Sound, by J.
Simpson, rebuilt in 1884 and 1886, had a registered tonnage of 598 tons, classed A1. She was valued at $29,000, was owned by Smith & Keighley, of Toronto, and was insured in the Western Pool for $31,000. In the fall of 1884 she went ashore on a reef at Peninsular Harbor, Lake Superior, and lay there all winter. She was taken off in the spring and rebuilt at Owen Sound with great care, a large amount of money, about $18,000, being expended on her in rebuilding and repairs. She was considered one of the staunchest wooden steamers of the Upper lakes. After being rebuilt, she was used almost exclusively for heavy freights, whilst the Campana, of the same line, carried the light freights and passengers.

New Invention.

Mr. A. G. Hunter, Estate Agent of Dundalk, Ont., has perfected his "Automatic Orator," for which he has received "Letters Patent" for Canada and the United States. The "Orator" is designed to become the friend of cur public speakers. The instrument is made to represent a book to lay on the desk or table before the eye of the speaker. The matter of speech, lecture or sermon is written, or printed (with Type Writer) on a strip of paper four inches wide, which is placed on a revolving roller. By touching a spring, the matter of speech, lecture or sermon, is made to move on before the eye of the speaker; at a rate equivalent to the speakers utterances. The rate of motion can be regulated by the speaker, so that the lines he may be uttering, will appear in the opening in the face of the "Orator." The inventor claims that more than fifty per cent of the speakers time and study will be saved in the preparation of a discourse, while at the same time the delivery will be facilitated by the increased confidence of the speaker. The motion can be started or stopped in a moment, in any part of the discourse.
The idea is entirely new, as well as the instrument, and promises to become popular and take a wide field, in "Oratory."

The American Agriculturist for November 1887 is a double number, far surpassing its editors' claim, any previous issue in the amount and variety of reading matter, in the number of contributors, in the number and variety of illustrations, etc., etc. Not during its nearly fifty years' existence has any number of the American Agriculturist begun to compare with the one which goes out this month.

There are no less than one hundred and ninety-seven columns of reading matter proper, embracing four hundred and eight editorial, contributed and descriptive articles; fifty-five different contributed, representing twenty-two States, Territories, the Provinces and Europe, and two hundred and forty illustrations, including full page illustrations and Premiums. In alluding to the death, this month, of one of its editors, Col.
Mason C. Weld, the American Agriculturist says: "What is note-worthy, the body of writers, who for nearly half a century have made it a power in both hemispheres, are still, with this exception connected with the periodical. Publishers have come and gone, but the editors and their associates remain." $1.50 per year, English or German; Single number 15 cents. Address American Agriculturist, 751 Broadway, New York.
