predecessors, refused pay for his services. Com.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.—Donald O'Hanly, stray lamb; Robt. McGowan, wheat market; Beauty, Chadwick, Blackstock & Galt, mortgage sale; John Whitby, cattle for sale.

THRASHING is about wound up for the season, and is done at a much earlier date than usual: It is also worthy of remark, that the number of threshing machine accidents have been very few this year.

It was James Lyons who was recouped by Holland Council for injuries received by being pitched from rig while driving over dangerous road, and not William as stated in minutes of Council as published last week.

TENDERS.—Will be received till the 16th November to build Presbyterian brick church in Priceville. Plans and specifications to be seen with secretary, A. McCuaig, chairman; Rev. D. McLeod, Secretary of building committee.

Mr. JOHN Ross brought to market last Saturday, for Mr. Andrew Beattie of Artemesia, a load of oats containing 205 bushels 20 lbs. It was drawn by "Lucky Lad" and his mate and delivered at McFarland's elevator.

FARMERS' Institutes desiring the assistance of professors of the Agricultural College at meetings during the coming winter, are requested to make formal application to James Mills, president of the college, at once, before the plans for winter work are completed.

HALLOWE'EN passed off comparatively quiet in Markdale, yet we very much regret that the recklessness of some of the boys caused the breaking of a plate glass in S. Hill's store. The glass is one of the side lights by the front entrance and cost $30. The accident doubtless happened by pitching boxes into the door-way and striking the glass.

The illustrations of The Illustrated London News (American edition) for November 5th, present as usual instruction as well as entertainment, and cover the customary broad range of this long established and widely known publication. They are indicated by the following titles: Sketches of the Bulgarian Elections, The Disputes Between Fishermen at Plymouth, State of Ireland. The Late Mrs. Craik, H. M. S. Wasp. Sketches on the River Congo, Sketches on Cat Show, Crystal Palace, The Late Lady Brassey, Grand Durbar at Mandalay, In the Semois Valley, Ardennes, A Tame Lion, Algiers, and the Kali Ghaut, Calcutta. Reading matter in abundance is also provided, while now it is becoming quite generally known that newsdealers everywhere sell the paper for 10 cents. Subscriptions can be sent direct to the New York office, which is in the Potter Building.

Traverston.

Standard Correspondence.
Mrs. Grier, of Normanby, is visiting her brother Mr. Elder.
Mr. T. H. Arrowsmith has left the village, he has taken up his quarters higher up the river.

The Glenelg Teachers Association met at S. S. No. 5, on Saturday, a number of teachers were present.

Another of our young men forsaken bachelor life and has taken to himself a wife. Mr. John McCarthy was married on Thursday to Miss M'Garm of Dornoch. Congratulations.

About 12 o'clock on Monday night the residents of Traverston awoke to find that the "fiery fiend" was at work. All hurried to the scene of the fire which proved to be an unoccupied house belonging to Mr. Elder. The fire had made such headway that it was impossible to get it under control and the building soon collapsed, a complete loss, no insurance. The origin of the fire unknown.

The ex-mayor of Traverston has his back up and is squealing like a hog under a gate. He takes offense at some complimentary terms we addressed to him last week, and turns around and abuses an innocent person to the fullest extent that his tongue and brain-power will allow, which is not much. If Mr. A. was very anxious to find out who your correspondent was, he could very easily have done so, but in the blindness of his rage he picked on a person who had nothing whatever to do with the correspondence, and abuse him in a manner not in harmony with the dignity that a chief magistrate should possess. If Mr. A. wishes to reply to our joking—we never meant any more—let him do it in the same spirit since his motto is "Do unto others as you would have others do unto you" and not to cast up slurs which are as false as they are base. And also remember the proverb that "People who live in glass houses should not throw stones," or they may get the worst. He complains of the levity of our writing, "baby talk" he calls it, well, when dealing with a trifling subject we use language and style to match, but we have the conceit, had we a more fitting subject, we could write with most people, even his Worship. And although we have some friends who are good writers, we would not like him, make a family affair of it and ask the whole country side to aid him in writing his little "squib" but if we could not hold our own in good humored banter, we would ascend some "high hill" and pray that a favorable breeze would waft us to a more genial clime or else take a "header" into the Saugeen and say "Here goes nothing." The latter would be a much better plan than the former since some persons will know from experience that it is not done so easy to ascend bodily as they once imagined and we would advise Mr. A. the next time he tires of this country to try it. As for ourselves we are perfectly satisfied with our present state of experience, and when we do tire of this earth we hope to end our life in a more dignified manner than that of dangling at the end of a rope with a dog tied to our heels, which end, is only suitable to the originator of the idea, that is Mr. A. As a parting advice to Mr. A. we would ask him in future never to take offense at an innocent joke, or he may get it piled deeper, but rather let him return joke for joke or since he pretends to be such a sincere Christian let him return good for evil which is consistent with spirit of a true Christian.

Not the Old, Old Story.

There was an old preacher once who told some boys of the Bible lesson he was to read in the morning. The boys finding the place, gined together the connecting pages. The next morning he read on the bottom of one page: "When Noah was 120 years old he took unto himself a wife, who was,"—then turned the page—"140 cubits wide, built of gopher wood and covered with pitch inside and out." He read it again, verified it, and then said: "My friends this is the first time I ever read this in the bible, but I accept this as evidence, of the assertion that we are fearfully and wonderfully made."
