> Meaford Boad. Staudard Correspondence.

A very successful Xmas tree entertainment was held in the stone school house on Friday evening the 23rd inst in connection with the day school. There was a very interesting program rendered consisting of dialogues, readings recitations and singing; several spicy and entertaining addresses were delivered by the trustees and others present. The house was well filled and a very pleasant evening was spent. The teacher, Miss Ettie Ford, deserves great credit for the pains taken by her to make this entertainment a success

At the annual school meeting held on Wednesday the 28th inst., Mr. Thos. Kells was re-elected school trustee for another term.

Mr. James Hanson has sold his farm on the town line to Mr, James Brodie and is going to Toronto to attend the Veterinary School.

Mr. George Prichard's family has been increasing by the arrival of a young daughter as an Xmas present.

A Live Agricultural Paper.

"The Farmer's Advocate," of London, Ont., is before us. It is, we consider, equal to any agricultural paper published in America. It is a fearless and outspoken journal upon all subjects affecting the interests of the farmer, and is full of valuable information upon all agricultural subjects; each lissue contains practical and useful illustrations. It is a journal which all Canadian farmers should be proud of.

Charming Actresses.

HE LILY GIVES PLACE TO THE ROSE-STAGE TRIALS AND TRIHUMPS.

There may have been a time, perhaps, when the pallid lily was the type of female beauty. It is not so to-day.

On the stage the most charming actresses are women of robust health. Mrs. Lanctry is the best matinee attraction on the stage so managers says, because she is attractive to women as ations.

never touching the floor. Great surprise is ofter expressed that actresses are able to preserve their health and beauty in the terrible strain of their exacting duties and physical and mental force.

Jennie Kimbell, the mother of charming "Little Corinne," who has delighted lovers of comic opera for many years, says. under date May 28th, 1887: "I was exausted with my severe work that the doctors told me to give up the stage. Warner's safe cure restored me. I have never had better health in my life, and whenever bad feelings returns I immediately restore to that remedy."

Grace Hawthorne, the American ac tress, now playing Theodora with great success in London, Eng., in a recent interview said: "I know how to remain Condition; Prize Essay-Winter Care of in perfect heatlith, notwithstanding the Cattle; Milk Standards; Stock Raising and nervious strain I have nightly to endure Grain Growing in Relation to Soil Fertility while playing, I used Warner's safe and Exhaustion; Relative Profits in Dairy cure, and it controls life and health as | ing and Beef Growing; Should we Feed for nothing else will."

The really great actresses in emotional parts are those who utterly aband on their own personality in the assumption of the character portrayed. The strain they undergo is one that few, outside of the profession, can understand.

Maud Granger was obliged to abandon the stage temporarily by reason of it. of Feeding Stuffs on the Flavor and Constitute She says: "The suffering I then endured. and the terrible condition I was in, can only be appreciated by those women who have undergone the same experience It was while still suffering that I learned of Warner's safe cure and began its use.
