ASSURANCE COMPANY. THE Annual meeting of the North American Life Assurance Company was held at the Heaf Office of the Company, 22 to 20 King street west, Toronto, of the world is that belonging to Erans, of Paris, Linn County, Iowa. on Thursday, the 27th day of January, when the an-Blusble little stone was formerly ownnual report was submitted as follows : in sentleman in Virginia, where it is

In submitting their annual report the directors have much pleasure in stating that in every department tending to the Company's substantial progress and prosperity, the year's operations have been most satisfactory. During the year 1,578 applications for $2,420,050 were received, upon which were issued 1,515 policies for $2,294,550, the rest being unacceptable, and ? policies for $10,635, which had lapsed for non-payment of premium, were revived. The accompanying revenue account and balance sheet show that the reserve fund has been increased by $104,826, and that fund now amounts to the handsome sum of $416,511. The addition to the Company's assets is largely in excess of that of any former year, amounting to $120,508,89, being over fifty per cent. of the whole income of the year. All the reserves and resources of the Company are invested in Canada, throughout nearly all the Provinces, and are thus utilized in building up and extending Canadian interests. Every documentary security held by the Company has been examined and verified independently by the Auditors and the Committee of the ALEXANDER MACKENZIE.

B. B. HUGHES, 1 Auditing Com. of Board. WM GORDON. The President then said, in moving the adoption of the report: I have very great pleasure in making the usual formal motion to adopt the report, printed copies of which you have in your hands. Year by ailments. Why ! it even cured me of proyear, since the commencement of this Company, it has been my pleasing duty to take the chair at our annual general meeting, and to make some remarks on the position of the Company and its progress, but never, in its history, have we had such a splendid showing as that for 1887 which has just been read. The statement is so full, clear and concise, that it seems to me almost unnecessary to make any remarks thereon. It is said, "nothing succeeds like success," and this may be the reason that, year by year, our success has increased until to-day we meet you and say that we can show a statement with over half a million of accumulated assets in the short period of a few years, together with a handsome surplus. The actual increase in our ascets during the past year has amounted to the large sum of $120,508.89, while our Reserve Fund has been increased by $104 826, now reaching the handsome sum of $416,511. These grand results have been accomplished mainly by hard, persistent work on the part of our active agents on the field. The splendid investment and other plans of insurance offered by this Company, all of which have stood the test of time, and have been endorsed by the highest authorities on this Continent, have been wicely approved by leading professional men and others desiring to protect themselves by the s feguards of life insurance combined with an investment. The appli cations of the year have been of an unusually good character. It is gratifying to observe that so many farmers, constituting as they do the large-t incustrial interest in this country, are availing themselves so largely of the great advantages of life insurance. The Government official report shows that, in the amount of our income, accumulated funds, new busihess insurance in force and addition to assets, we are again considerably ahead of our chief home competitors at the same period in their history, and what fs of more importance, the cost of cur business is still kept within re-sonable limits. Competition, both from the United States, and also from the British companies, was never keener than during the past year, and in many instances, prices were paid for the business, which we consider excessive. One word about the excellent character of our assets. Our Finance Committee have been very careful in the selection of investments, and it is a reat source of congratulation to know that so successful have they been in this respect, that there is not a single investment on the books about which we have the slightest anxiety that the Company will lose a single cent.

The interest has been wonderfully well paid, and the income from that source has now reached a very handsome figure, being in cash $23 718 72, and due and accrued $6,016.23, which would have more than paid the losses of the year in the general branch. As regards our Company, I feel the utmost confidence in recommending it to the consideration of every one contemplating insurance, as I fully believe there is no company doing business in Canada to day that is bet-much pleasure in seconding the motion of my old and tried friend, the President, for the adoption of the report. The able address of the President has left me very little to do. It is impossible for any one to read and study this report without feeling intensely gratified. Here is a home institution that trusted itself to the public, that endeavoured to meet the wants of the people, and the people have nobly ra'lied round it. They have shown appreciation of the efforts of those who desire to make life insurance a home word and a home institution. They have shown that they believe in the benefits of life insurance, and the most gratifying feature of the report alluded to by the President, is that the farmers, upon whom everything in this country rests in so great a degree, have begun to realize the benefits of life insurance, and are largely taking advantage of it, and 'of the opportunity afforded them of making provision for their families. Dr. Thorburn, who gives the utmost attention to the examination of all applications received, and we have the advantage, in addition, of the matured wisdom of the President, who, I may state, is in daily attendance at the office, and gives all attention in his power to this business; and also one of the best life insurance men in Canada, your maging director, Mr. McCabe, and then you have the quiet, energetic application and long and succe-sful financial experience of a gentleman whose merits are not fully known to you; I refer to my colleague in the vice-presidency, Mr. Blaikie. I had no intention to delay you so long, but as I look around the room I cannot help but remark on the good appearance of the Company's agents. As a director, I thank the agents again for their efficient services in the past, and would simply say to you that the North American Life Assurance Company expects every man to on his duty as he has
