MR. HANSON advertised in the STANDARD two weeks ago a list of stock and implements to sell by private sale and he has informed us that as a result he had all disposed of in four days after first appearance of the adv. in the paper.

ALICK McDuff's team made a bold run on Tuesday week down Mill street. Alick held on and sawed on the lines for all he was worth but they kept on in their wild career becoming detached from the sleigh opposite Mrs. Caswell's and were soon after stopped by Henry Bovee. No serious injury done.

NEWSPAPERS IN 1888.—From the edition of Geo. P. THE Easter vestry meeting of Christ Church, Markdale, was held in the School Room Monday evening, when the following gentlemen were elected to office:—Benjamin Coleman and Samuel Douglass, Church Wardens; Thomas Elliott; S. Hill, A. Turner, Dr. Freeborne and Wm. Douglass, Senr. Sidesmen; Deo. Min Coleman, Lay Delegate; J. W. Ford and J. Cesar, Auditors; R. D. Digger, Vestry Clerk.

DR. CHASE'S Receipts is a work so well and favorably known that it is unnecessary for us to add our commendation. The last edition, however, is very superior to former issues in as much as several hundred other receipts are added, the arrangement and mode of reference greatly improved making it altogether an indispensable requisite in every household. Mr. Sam'l Webster is agent for this splendid book, and we cannot too strongly recommend it to the public.

CONCERT.—The Young Peoples' Society of the Methodist church are to be congratulated for the high class of program given last Monday evening, and also for the success which crowned their efforts. Mr. Baylin occupied the chair in his usual happy manner. The renditions were of sufficient variety to be enjoyed by all the performers acquitted themselves creditably. Miss Lloyd, of Owen Sound, is a pianist of rare accomplishments, and her renderings were much appreciated by lovers of music. Miss Christo always does well, and her efforts on this occasion were no exception to the rule. Mr. Spurr rings well, has a clear melodious voice and distinct expression, also handles the piano with ease and efficiency in playing his own accompaniments. Perhaps, however, the tableaux were the most highly appreciated of all. It is comparatively new to a Markdale audience and certainly reflects credit on those taking part, and especially Mr. W. A. Brown, who was the chief one in getting it up. Altogether a pleasant and enjoyable evening was spent. Proceeds 47.
