 THE TWELFTH IN MARKDALE.

A PLEASANT DAY AND SUCCESSFUL CELEBRATION.

The 200th anniversary of Orangeism was celebrated in Markdale in a manner both creditable to the order and satisfactory to the citizens and public. Twelve lodges were present together with over 2,000 people from the neighboring townships. Several lodges from the vicinity of Walter's Falls did not turn out, as they had intended, as well as several hundred from that neighborhood owing to the appalling accident of the previous day to Mr. and Mrs. Heighs, the particulars of which may be found in another column. Liberal preparations were made in town for supplying the wants of the inner man and all were highly pleased with their treatment in that respect. After dinner the immense procession, led by the brass band, went to the Agricultural Grounds where appropriate addresses were delivered by Revs. Shilton, of Flesherton, Wilson and Buggin, of Markdale, and Capt. Rorke, M. P. P., interspersed with selections by the band. The day was very pleasant, tho' fearfully dusty. The conduct throughout was orderly and respectable and everything passed off satisfactorily.

In the evening the Markdale Brass Band gave a grand concert in Haskett's Hall. The Hall was comfortably filled and the programme, as usual, was lengthy and well sustained throughout. Dr. Sproule, as chairman, addressed the audience in his usual off-hand, gentlemanly manner, after which the band was called upon and gave one of their choice selections. Mr. A. R. Leggett gave a song, and was succeeded by Miss Mary Large, who rendered in an artistic manner a selection on the organ. Miss Minnie McNea and Miss Bella Benson each did well in their solos (vocal), and their selections displays good taste on their part. Mr. Dezell, of Flesherton, and Miss Minnie Dundas contributed to the entertainment by rendering in good style a number of recitations. J. R. Anderson, as a Scottish vocalist, and W. J. Benson, as a comic singer, are a whole concert within themselves. "The march of the Cameron men," sang by Mr. Anderson (by request), is really one of the best Scotch songs we have ever listened to, while the comic songs by W. J. B. (in character) were repeatedly enquired. Wm. M. Bush & Co. gave several fine instrumental pieces on violins and organ. Johnnie Dundas presided at the organ and as an accompanist he is hard to beat. The programme was concluded by singing "God save the Queen." Proceeds amounted to $32.00.

NOTE AND COMMENT.

—Two men and twenty horses were burned to death in a Buffalo livery stable on Wednesday of last week.

—At the formal opening of the Niagara Central railway last week, President Oille said the line would be pushed forward to Toronto as rapidly as possible.

—4,000 Orangemen took part in the celebration of the 200th anniversary of the Battle of the Boyne in Toronto last Thursday.

—The Dominion Government will appeal against the judgment of the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court in the Ayers Custom case.

—Liquor licenses were issued in Halton on Wednesday, for the first time since 1882. The number issued is 18, and there will be a few additions to the list. Forty were issued before the Scott Act was adopted.

—The Village of Ripley was swept by fire on Friday last. Twenty-six buildings were burned, and only two or three business places are left standing.

—The Quebec Legislative Council which is answerable neither to the press nor people, has thrown out the mutilated remains of the libel law amendment for the prevention of blackmailing as it came from the Assembly, a body which is also fairly indifferent to public opinion on any question involving intelligence and the defence of such liberal institutions as the press. The Ontario Legislature passed the amendments which the Quebec Legislature has rejected.—Montreal Witness.

—Mr. Parnell's Federal Scheme for the United Kingdom is certainly one which includes adequate reform of the House of Lords. His proposal seems to be a single local chamber at the capitals of England, Scotland, Ireland and Wales for local affairs, and a single chamber in London composed of elected representatives from all parts of the United Kingdom and from the Colonies for Imperial affairs. The House of Lords is to be thus reformed out of existence.

—In the great servant girl question might it not be well that mistresses, aye, and masters, too, should bear in mind that to scold servants, as so many of them are too much in the habit of doing, is, to say the least of it, very undignified, and like what might be fairly expected neither of a lady nor a gentleman? Instruct, reprove, admonish as much as may be necessary; give warning, or, if necessary turn the worthless one out of the house, but never descend to scolding or to the use of rude, harsh language. If people could only see the ridiculous figure they make when in a towering rage, the chances are that they would contrive to keep their tempers rather more within bounds. To fly into a fury about broken plates or overdone mutton is really too absurd. And yet people are doing it every day, and people who fancy that they are ladies and gentlemen as well. It is very possible that a great number of domestic helps are really domestic hindrances, but it only makes matters worse to get into tantrums and swear round like coal heavers because some things are not just what they ought to be. One would not be far away from the fact if venturing to say that in the cases of domestic incompatibility the "mistress" may be quite as often at fault as the "maid."

Killed by a Tree.

PAINFULLY SAD ACCIDENT.

On Wednesday last while Mr. Thos. Heighs, a middle aged farmer of the 10th line, Holland, was driving to Walter's Falls, together with his wife, with horses and democrat, a tree blew down across the road striking them and killing Mrs. Heighs instantly. Mr. Heighs had his leg broken at the thigh and badly shattered below, also a bad flesh wound in his forehead. He was attended by Drs. McCullough and McLellan and is likely to recover. The carriage was smashed into atoms but the horses were unhurt. Mrs. Heighs' head was smashed in and she was otherwise fearfully mangled. This heart-rending affair cast a gloom over the whole neighborhood. Mr. H. is almost distracted with grief. Five small children with a large circle of friends mourn their loss.

Editor Standard:

SIR,—As I do not take the STANDARD I did not see Mr. Beattie's challenge regarding Lord Derby's registration in time to take it up last week but now accept it by placing fifty dollars with W. L. Young, bank clerk, which I will allow to remain for ten days for his acceptance, the decision to be left to Mr. Henry Wade, Toronto, who is the highest authority in the matter. Regarding the registration of this Canadian bred "Just in Time" I know nothing and care less as it is of very little importance and have plenty to do in minding my own business without meddling with other men's horses. Respectfully yours,
 THOMAS WRIGHT.

 Haying is about finished and the crop. Fall wheat will be a few days and is a good crop all little thin. Spring crops will be short.
 The Battle of the Boyne was celebrated here in good shape. There were five lodges and they enjoyed themselves very much and were well served.
 W. Moore, of Clarksburg, has resigned and before Squires Gilray and Sturges, picking Benjamin Scanlon and $1 and costs. Mr. M. is a very appealing. He says he was just in what he did.
 Mr. Gauden, the head teacher of our school, has resigned and is going to British Columbia. He was respected here. The trustees engaged Mr. Hughill in his stead.
 Mr. Sherwood has bought a plot of land from W. Stuart and is going to start a brick yard.
 The dry weather has made strawberries and raspberries scarce. In fact all the small fruit will be scarce. Plums are looking well and will be abundant.
 The Rev. J. S. Corcoran has been removed from this part to Cape Er, and Rev. Mr. Watt sent to replace. The new man is being received.

 Mrs. Grier is building an addition to her store for more convenience when finished, will make the store have a grand and different appearance from the present way her store is.
 Mr. Lamont, proprietor of the Hotel, is having a large addition to his hotel for the purpose of increasing more bedroom accommodation for use and benefit of the travelling community. When this additional improvement is finished it will make the Crown Hotel equal with any first class house in this part of the country. Mr. and Mrs. Lamont being kind, sensible and obliging doubt but they will be well patronized and get a large call from the travelling community.
 The stone work of the Presbyterian church is finished. The sills, corner stones are all dressed by Laidlaw, stonecutter, Durham, a true good hand, well experienced in his trade. We suppose he is the mason in this county. His work will show his skill and taste. We understand that the foundation—or the corner stone—will be laid on Monday, the 24th inst. We did not who is to get the honor of laying the stone, but we suppose the parties involved have a favorite person appointed view for the honorable job.
 Priceville, by all appearance requires large church accommodation. Any one being here last Sabbath not help remarking that this part of the morning some were seen going their way to their respective places of worship. They kept coming half-past ten until eleven when the streets were crowded. The speaking people belonging to the Presbyterian church and the Roman Catholic congregation going in at the hour, then coming out again at past twelve and the English speaking Presbyterians going in the three congregations were mixed together front street and you could not tell the difference between any of them. When the Baptist church was going the English Presbyterians were going out which caused another mixture of people. In the evening the Methodist church meets well attended; the church is full, and comes out at 8 o'clock. A stranger may well say it is a pleasure to be here enjoying such blessed legs of the sanctity of the Sabbath day.
 Our fair was only fairly well attended this week. Cattle in general poor on account of the pasture. The few milk cows that were brought good prices. Mr. Gilles, from the south-east of the first ward was there with his cattle. We understand that the way from his place to 15th north of his place to the Tyrone is all under bush. No cattle having so much ground pasture or feed when they come fair can look so fat and glossy.
