

The construction of a large number of roads have been furnished to the Canadian Commission. The commission is very worthy of every encouragement from the public and the government, as it enables them to secure the best service without sending their money out of Canada.

Toronto, Sept. 22nd, 1908.

Editor Standard:

While visiting the Exhibition, I was much struck with the number of people in Toronto from Hartland and vicinity. On getting off the train at Parkdale I proceeded down Queen St. when, not far from the subway, I came across R. O. Whitty's Real Estate office; "Roof" seems to be doing a rushing business; he had just closed a deal involving $50,000. I had not gone much farther when I ran across Silas Hill, but Silas is not as much alienated from our village as some would have left. He visits us occasionally. Charlie Lawrence is in the city too. I doubt if he will remain long away from us; his heart is in Hartland.

It is very interesting to see the number of people from Hartland and vicinity who are visiting the Exhibition. On getting off the train at Parkdale I proceeded down Queen St. when, not far from the subway, I came across R. O. Whitty's Real Estate office; "Roof" seems to be doing a rushing business; he had just closed a deal involving $50,000. I had not gone much farther when I ran across Silas Hill, but Silas is not as much alienated from our village as some would have left. He visits us occasionally. Charlie Lawrence is in the city too. I doubt if he will remain long away from us; his heart is in Hartland.