

MRS. BOWSER. Her marriage Mr. Bowser has been a dog, and she has been together ever since her father, John W. Scott, was a teacher in Miami University, Oxford, Ohio, and it was there that the girl was born who was to be some day a president's wife. They called her Caroline, Carrie for short, and sent her to school in the girls' college of the town. She was quiet and demure, and the village home was not at all disturbed by stiff parties or dinners. In fact it is related that though her daughter is credited with having been the best waltzer in Indianapolis, Mrs. Harrison herself never danced at all when she was a girl, and that when she was at school all the girls wore calico dresses and sunbonnets, and were proud of them. Such a costume would create a sensation at Ogontz, the school where the daughter was graduated. Gen. Harrison isn't a tall man, and Mrs. Harrison is not a tall woman. When a girl she was what you would call petite. Her form was slender and her face ideally beautiful. Her hair was black and her complexion dark. It still retains its full color, but her hair has become silver here and there and her girlish form has become matronly. Her face is still handsome, and its regular features seem to have been but little lined by the passing of years. She had a mouth in her younger days which made her face in something to look at a second time. It is just as pretty to-day, and the little smile of welcome that always plays upon her lips makes Mrs. Harrison a very mirthful-appearing person. One other thing is always noticed by a man who sees Mrs. Harrison, and that is her hand. It is small and graceful, and the fingers taper just enough. The wrist is slender and well moulded, and the arm above is full and faultless in contour. Sometimes she wears gold bracelets on her wrists and diamonds on one of her fingers, but except these and her wedding ring, she displays no jewelry except at very formal gatherings, when she may wear at her throat a bar with five diamonds. She also has a gold band with five diamonds. It was given her not long ago by her husband. Her earrings are black pearls or diamonds. Caroline Scott met Benjamin Harrison in Oxford. They were boy and girl together, got married, settled down for life on some $200 that young Tippecanoe had received from his father, and had a baby before either was 21 years old. Young Harrison said his wife was half his capital. She was his helper in every sense when he began his career in law. Her ancestry had given her strength physically, and her mother had given her that sensible instruction in applied housekeeping which after a period of abandonment is coming back again in good American homes. Lawyer Harrison's wife learned how to bake bread, and she baked. A part of her exercise was with a broomstick, and though she hasn't made bread or handled a broom in a long while, she is a past grand mistress in all those things, and knows all about housekeeping, and is not ashamed to tell about those things, even if, after four months more, she is to be at the head of the first official household in the land. The supervision of the home at Indianapolis is, indeed, one of Mrs. Harrison's delights. She has a hobby of getting up at 6 in the morning and going to market every once in a while to buy meats and vegetables herself. If she should do this in Washington it would not be altogether new there, for some of the leaders even now often do their own marketing, and in days long gone it used to be one of the chief prerogatives of women of wealth and fashion.

Mrs. Harrison, who will preside over Washington society, is just about as old as her husband, the president elect: that is, 54 years, and they have been together ever since her father, John W. Scott, was a teacher in Miami University, Oxford, Ohio, and it was there that the girl was born who was to be some day a president's wife. They called her Caroline, Carrie for short, and sent her to school in the girls' college of the town. She was quiet and demure, and the village home was not at all disturbed by stiff parties or dinners. In fact it is related that though her daughter is credited with having been the best waltzer in Indianapolis, Mrs. Harrison herself never danced at all when she was a girl, and that when she was at school all the girls wore calico dresses and sunbonnets, and were proud of them. Such a costume would create a sensation at Ogontz, the school where the daughter was graduated. Gen. Harrison isn't a tall man, and Mrs. Harrison is not a tall woman. When a girl she was what you would call petite. Her form was slender and her face ideally beautiful. Her hair was black and her complexion dark. It still retains its full color, but her hair has become silver here and there and her girlish form has become matronly. Her face is still handsome, and its regular features seem to have been but little lined by the passing of years. She had a mouth in her younger days which made her face in something to look at a second time. It is just as pretty to-day, and the little smile of welcome that always plays upon her lips makes Mrs. Harrison a very mirthful-appearing person. One other thing is always noticed by a man who sees Mrs. Harrison, and that is her hand. It is small and graceful, and the fingers taper just enough. The wrist is slender and well moulded, and the arm above is full and faultless in contour. Sometimes she wears gold bracelets on her wrists and diamonds on one of her fingers, but except these and her wedding ring, she displays no jewelry except at very formal gatherings, when she may wear at her throat a bar with five diamonds. She also has a gold band with five diamonds. It was given her not long ago by her husband. Her earrings are black pearls or diamonds. Caroline Scott met Benjamin Harrison in Oxford. They were boy and girl together, got married, settled down for life on some $200 that young Tippecanoe had received from his father, and had a baby before either was 21 years old. Young Harrison said his wife was half his capital. She was his helper in every sense when he began his career in law. Her ancestry had given her strength physically, and her mother had given her that sensible instruction in applied housekeeping which after a period of abandonment is coming back again in good American homes. Lawyer Harrison's wife learned how to bake bread, and she baked. A part of her exercise was with a broomstick, and though she hasn't made bread or handled a broom in a long while, she is a past grand mistress in all those things, and knows all about housekeeping, and is not ashamed to tell about those things, even if, after four months more, she is to be at the head of the first official household in the land. The supervision of the home at Indianapolis is, indeed, one of Mrs. Harrison's delights. She has a hobby of getting up at 6 in the morning and going to market every once in a while to buy meats and vegetables herself. If she should do this in Washington it would not be altogether new there, for some of the leaders even now often do their own marketing, and in days long gone it used to be one of the chief prerogatives of women of wealth and fashion.

Election Scene in New York.
Under the stars the city waited to see which party the great white flood of ballots would sweep into power.
And what a city it was!
A city that thrilled and throbbled from river to river, its streets aflame with thousands of bonfires and great black multitudes roaring and surging about with no thought of sleep; now in convulsions of delight and new agonies of despair—wonderfully, beautifully symbolizing the republic that dies and is born again every four years.
It was as if some mighty earthquake had driven the inhabitants out of doors, and every one was waiting for the earth to tremble again.
All the flimsy paraphernalia of the campaign were forgotten, the rivers of gay crested knights and gleaming banners, the labor of slanders and threats of national disaster. The people were gathered in the walls of their city, trembling to know what the majority should decree. It was a close fight and every one knew it. All they could do was to wait and strain their eyes, and shout till their throats were hoarse. None could possibly know the result early in the evening, none, unless it were the party managers, and they sat pale and nervous in their inner dens, alternately sending out bulletins of hope or dread.
AN UNEQUALLED SCENE.
The sight must have profoundly impressed a stranger to American institutions who looked upon the chief city of the nation in its supreme ecstasy. In Madison square 175 thousand people stood in front of the "Herald" bulletin, and the sound of their voices was like the beating of wild waves through a cavern. Along the edges of this majestic assemblage were the blazing corridors of the hotels, in which half-crazed men with flushed faces and blood-shot eyes waved handfuls of money, and with blasphemous boasts sought out their opponents. Crowds of drunk men swirled into the wide, tumultuous squares from every corner of the city. The dainty ladies who had trooped down from their aristocratic homes, unable to bear the suspense of ignorance any longer, shrank back from the wild, savage outpour of the city's unwashed hosts. White-haired, feeble men crept out and got into snug positions where they could watch the varying figures through their spectacles and tell the roasting, excited young men around them that it was a more glorious night than the old times ever saw.
Down in front of the newspaper offices a prairie of faces seemed to be spread out from grim St. Paul's to the Brooklyn bridge. When the car passed through it the crowds parted like water and flowed again into the wake, hurrahing and swaying with passion.
A WAR OF VOICES.
But although this bewildering scene turned the city into a Babel, the revolution was one of order. No blows were struck. Never in the history of New York was such patience, common sense, tolerance and good nature exhibited. A man who had $0,000 wagered on the result, and with wealth and beggary at once threatening him, could hear the exultations of his political foes and smile. It was a war of voices and not of fists. Even the police who were scattered in these great throngs had to join in the enthusiasm and yell like the rest.—N. Y. Herald.

The Death Sentence Against the Saviour.
A correspondent of the English "Notes and Queries" extracts from the "Koluische Zeitung" what is called "a correct transcript of the sentence of death pronounced against our Lord and Saviour, Jesus Christ." The following is a copy of the most measurable judicial sentence which has ever been pronounced in the annals of the world, namely, that of death against the Saviour, with the remarks that the journal Le Drouh has collected, the knowledge of which must be interesting in the highest degree to every Christian. The sentence is word for word as follows:
Sentence pronounced by Pontius Pilate, Intendant of the province of Lower Galilee, that Jesus of Nazareth shall suffer death by the cross. In the seventh year of the reign of the Emperor Tiberius, and on the 25th of the month of March, in the most holy city of Jerusalem, during the Pontificate of Annas and Caiaphas, Pontius Pilate, Intendant of the province of Lower Galilee, sitting in judgment in the presidential seat of the Pretors, sentences Jesus Christ of Nazareth to death on a cross between two robbers, as the numerous and notorious testimonials of the people prove:—1. Jesus is a misleader. 2. He has excited the people to a rebellion. 3. He is an enemy to the laws. 4. He calls himself the King of Israel. 5. He calls himself falsely the Son of God. 6. He went into the Temple, followed by a multitude carrying palms in their hands. Orders: The first centurion, Quintus Cornelius, to bring him to the place of execution, forbids all persons, rich or poor, to prevent the execution of Jesus. The witnesses who have signed the execution against Jesus are:—1. Daniel Robani, Pharisee; 2. John Zorababel; 3. Raphael Robani; 4. Capet. Jesus to be taken out of Jerusalem through the gate of Tournes.
The sentence is engraved on a plate of brass in the Hebrew language, and on its sides are the following words: "A similar plate has been sent to each tribe." It was discovered in the year 1280 in the city of Aquil (Aquila?) in the kingdom of Naples, by a search made for the discovery of Roman antiquities, and remained there until it was found by the Commissaries of Art in the French Army of Italy. Up to the time of the campaign in Southern Italy it was preserved in the sacristy of the Carthusians, near Naples, where it was kept in a box of ebony. Since then the relic has been kept in the Chapel of Caserty. The Carthusians obtained by their petitions that the plate might be kept by them, which was an acknowledgment of the sacrifices which they made for the French Army. The French translation was made literally by members of the Commission of Arts. Dehon had a facsimile of the plate engraved, which was bought by Lord Howard on the sale of his cabinet for 2,800l. There seems to be no historical doubt as to the authenticity of the plate. The reasons of the sentence correspond exactly with those of the gospels.

Imitation
Is sometimes called the sterner form of flattery. This may account for the number of imitations of the original and only positive imitation, Paine's Painless Corn Extractor. All who fail to possess equal merit, so when purchasing get the genuine "Painless." Safe, sure, and painless. All druggists.

THE DANDY PATENT BAGHOLDER, which every farmer wants now, costs only 5 cts., and if there is no local agent, may be obtained free by express or mail, on sending price to C. W. ALLEN & CO., World Building, Toronto.

SAUSAGE CASINGS—Season 1888—New Improved
Finest American Hog Casings. Orders filled for any desired quantity. Write for prices.
JAMES PARK & SON,
41 to 47 St. Lawrence Market, Toronto.

Artificial
MONEY TO LOAN
No delay. Rates No del. Correspondence solicited. E. W. D. BULLER, Financial Agt. Established 1850. 72 King St. E., Toronto.

JUST YOU MAY HAVE ONE!!
Send your name and address, and 10c. for postage, and receive by Mail a HANDSOME SILK HANDKERCHIEF and The Magic Needle! Antiques everywhere! Address, Whitson Novelty Co., Toronto, Ont.

Stained Glass
FOR CHURCHES, DWELLINGS, AND PUBLIC BUILDINGS.
M'CAUSLAND & SON,
76 King St. W., Toronto.

THE TORONTO SILVER PLATE CO.
Manufacturers of the High Grade—
SILVER-PLATED WARES.

TRADE MARK.
Factories and Salesroom:
420 to 428 King St. West, TORONTO
E. G. GOODERMAN, Manager. J. C. COPE, Secy-Treas.

CANADA PERMANENT Loan & Savings Company
INCORPORATED 1855.
Head Office: Toronto St., Toronto

Subscribed Capital.....$ 4,000,000
Paid Up Capital.....2,500,000
Total Assets.....10,000,000

The enlarged capital and resources of this Company, together with the increased facilities it has recently acquired for supplying land owners with cheap money, enable the Directors to meet with promptness and at the lowest current rate of interest all requirements for loans upon satisfactory real estate security. Application may be made to either of the Company's local Appraisers, or to J. HERBERT MASON, Manager, Director, Toronto.

WHAT
SCOTT'S EMULSION
CURES
CONSUMPTION
SCROFULA
BRONCHITIS
COUGHS COLDS
Wasting Diseases
Wonderful Flesh Producer.
Scott's Emulsion is not a secret remedy. Containing the stimulating Hypophosphites and Pure Norwegian Cod Liver Oil, the potency of both being largely increased. It is used by Physicians all over the world.
PALATABLE AS MILK.
Sold by all Druggists, 50c. and $1.00.

WILLIAMS & CO. ROOFERS
MANUFACTURERS AND DEALERS IN
Roofing Felt, Glazed Felt, Despatching Felt,
Carpet Paper, Building Paper, Roofing Pitch,
Coal Tar, Lake Gravel.
Office: 4 Adelaide St. East, Toronto.

Allan Line Royal Mail Steamships
Sailing during winter from Portland every Thursday, and Halifax every Saturday to Liverpool, and in summer from Quebec every Saturday to Liverpool, calling at Londonderry to land mails and passengers for Scotland and Ireland; also from Baltimore, via Halifax and St. John's, N. F., to Liverpool fortnightly, during summer months. The steamers of the Allan Line sail during winter to and from Halifax, Portland, Boston and Philadelphia; and during summer months between Glasgow and Montreal weekly; Glasgow and Boston weekly, and Glasgow and Philadelphia fortnightly.
For freight, passage or other information apply to A. Schumacher & Co., Baltimore; E. Guinness & Co., Halifax; Shea & Co., St. John's, N. F.; Wm. Thomson & Co., St. John, N. B.; Allen & Co., Chicago; Love & Alden, New York; H. Bourlier, Toronto; Allan Mac & Co., Quebec; Wm. Brooks, Philadelphia; E. A. Allan, Portland, Maine.

MONEY TO LOAN
FRANCIS - CANADIAN CREDIT FUND
HEAD OFFICE, 107 BAY ST. OFFICE, ONTARIO DIVISION, 107 BAY ST., TORONTO. This Company is prepared to make advances on the security of Good Farm Property at lowest current rate of interest, and on favorable terms. MORTGAGES RECEIVED. For information apply to the Local Agents of the Company, or to W. E. LOVG, Manager, Toronto, Ont.

ST. PAUL MINNEAPOLIS MANITOBA RAILWAY.
Commencing on Saturday, Nov. 10th, there will be a daily first class through train service between St. Paul and Seattle, Montana, comprised of Drawing-room, Sleeping Car, Day Coaches, Dining Car and Free Colonist Sleeper. Equipment new, modern and equal to the best.
Leaving St. Paul every morning, and running directly through to Seattle. The only line without change and the only line via Ft. Snodgrass, Ft. Benton, Great Falls and Helena.
For particulars, apply
F. I. WHITNEY, J. M. HUCKINS,
Gen. Pass. & Ticket Agt., Travel's Pass Agt.,
ST. PAUL, 1 Palmer House Block, Toronto.

STANDARD CHOPPING MILLS.
USES BEST FRENCH BURR MILLSTONES
FINEST CRINDER IN THE WORLD FOR REFINING PLATES IN IRONWORKS
Have also Best Corn and Cob Grinders for circular.

WATEROUS E. W. CO. BRANTFORD, CANADA.
Nervous Debility.
DR. GRAY'S Specific has been used for the fifteen years, with great success, in the treatment of nervous debility, and all diseases arising from excess, over-worked brain, loss of vitality, ringing in the ears, palpitation, etc. For sale by all druggists. Price, $1 per box, or 6 boxes for $5, or will be sent by mail on receipt of price. Pamphlet on application.
THE GRAY MEDICINE CO., Toronto.

JOHNSTON'S FLUID BEEF
THE GREAT STRENGTH GIVER
A PERFECT FOOD FOR THE SICK WARMING & NUTRITIOUS BEVERAGE
A POWERFUL INVIGORANT
Recovery from this distressing condition is often sought by having recourse to tonics or medical treatment which only serves to aggravate the trouble. The system DEMANDS NUTRITION that can be easily digested and thoroughly assimilated by the weak stomach.
Johnston's Fluid Beef
Supplies THIS DEMAND BECAUSE a perfect food and an easy means for renewing the tissues wasted by disease. It is of cultivation and produces firm muscle and nerve.
THE GREAT STRENGTH GIVER.

FOR BEST FAMILY USE, CARBON SAFETY OIL.
ASK DEALERS FOR IT.
Wholesale Depots:
ONTARIO—TORONTO, 30 Front Street East.
OTTAWA, 33 Sparks Street.
BELLEVILLE, L. W. Yeomans & Co.
QUEBEC—MONTREAL, E. Cavanagh.
MARTIME PROVINCES—St. JOHN'S, Joe. Bullock & Sons.
MANITOBA & N. W. T.—BRANDON, W. Johnston & Co.
Sam'l Rogers & Co., Toronto, Canada.

ILLUMINATING CARBON SAFETY OIL
HAS NO EQUAL

Confederation Life ASSOCIATION.
Capital and Funds now over $2,000,000.
HEAD OFFICE: 15 TORONTO STREET, TORONTO, On a Home Company, Established October, 1871.
To this date, October 31st, 1887, there has been returned:
To the heirs of Policy-holders (death claims).....$649,949 00
To the holders of matured Endowment Policies.....84,425 00
To Policy-holders on surrender of Policies.....86,956 00
To Policy-holders for Cash Profits (including those allocated and being paid).....452,544 00
To holders of Annuity Bonds.....15,997 00
Loaned to Policy-holders on the Security of their Policies.....25,266 00
$1,064,137 00
Policies in Force over 10,000. AMOUNT OF IT $15,000,000.
PRESIDENT—HON. SIR W. P. HOWLAND, C.B., K.C.M.G.
VICE-PRESIDENTS—WILLIAM ELLIOTT, Esq.; EDWARD HOOPER, Esq.
J. K. MACDONALD, Managing Director.
All Policies Renewable after 1 year and Indefinite after 2 years.

RELY ON HOP BITTERS.
A WONDERFUL NERVE TONIC. A Medicine, not a Drink. Cure All Diseases of the Stomach, Bowels, Blood, Liver, Kidneys, Urinary Organs, Nervousness, Sleeplessness, Female Complaints, DRUNKENNESS. It may Save Your Life. $1,000 Reward paid for a case they will not cure.