Those wishing to join her class will leave their name at R. L. Stephen's drug store, where specimens of her work can be seen. Miss Scott is an artist of high attainments. Read the following from last week's Owen Sound Times, which is but a short portion of an unsolicited notice—ART CLASS EXHIBITION.—One of the attractions of the Christmas week was the exhibition of the work of Miss Ema Scott's art classes which was shown in the McMillan Block on Monday and Tuesday of this week. The work was excellent and displayed the effects of thorough instruction. Among the pictures shown were several productions from the brush of Miss Scott &c., &c.

Presbyterian Church Anniversary. New Year's Day was dirty, dismal and dreary, raining all the day long, while the roads were in a parallel condition so that the annual tea had a slim attendance; however a goodly company was present and after a good tea was served a pleasant and well rendered program was enjoyed. Dr. Ego filled the chair admirably. Rev. Mr. McAlpin, of Chatsworth, gave a practical address on success; the other talent, which was local acquitted themselves creditably throughout.

Christmas Tree. The Christmas Tree entertainment, given in the rink on Friday evening last by Christ Church Sunday School, was a very interesting and successful affair. The program was rendered throughout in a manner that showed thorough training and efficient management. The cantata, "King Winter," was very appropriate and interesting, and the Indian club swinging, by six girls, was indeed creditable to the performers as also to Miss Ettie Ford, who had trained them, and superintended that exercise. There was a large attendance and excellent order prevailed. The distribution of gifts from the Christmas Tree, by Santa Claus, was specially enjoyed by the children, none being forgotten. The singing of the National Anthem brought this very pleasing entertainment to a close at a seasonable hour.

To the Public. I beg to intimate that I am now fully prepared to meet the wants of all who favor me with their patronage in anything in my line from a needle to an anvil. Shelf goods, cutlery, tinware, stoves, paints, oils, glass, X-cut saws, and axes purchased for cash and will be sold at the lowest living prices. Sole agent for Moffat & Sons' popular PRIME LINE of stoves. A call is respectfully solicited. Remember, Mabee's old stand, next door to Manley's drug store. Wishing all the compliments of the season, I am, faithfully yours, J. E. Trelford.

F. Jameson. First-class horse-shoer and good general blacksmith. All kinds repairing neatly done and promptly attended to. Call and see us anyway. Shop opposite Markdale House, in McNally's Carriage building.

Anniversary Services. The anniversary services of the Markdale Methodist church were held last Sunday, and Monday, and notwithstanding the unpropitious weather and wretched state of the roads, especially on Sunday, were very successful. The Rev. A. Carman D. D., General Superintendent of the Methodist church, preached morning and evening. His sermon in the a. m. on "Holiness" was most eloquent, logical and forcible and was listened to with great interest, admiration and profit. The evening was dark, wet and stormy yet the audience was large. The Rev. gentleman delivered a "political sermon" or the duty of christians to the nation. This was a strange theme in the pulpit, but was presented as scriptural and handled in a masterly and thoroughly logical and convincing manner. On Monday evening the weather was fair and a large attendance was again present. The excellent and abundant provisions made by the ladies for the wants of the inner man was appreciated and provoked expressions of satisfaction on every hand. Shortly after 8 o'clock Major Rorke, M. P. P. took the chair, which position he ably filled. The choir did their part in a highly creditable manner, but the great expectation of the company was the lecture by Dr. Carman on "The Jesuit Question," which was interesting and instructive, but as is often the case when expectation reaches a very high pitch, there was more or less disappointment. Proceeds—Sunday collections $41.49. Tea and Lecture $76.15. Total $117.64.

This Lodge is organized now over eight years with a membership during that period of from forty to fifty members and has never yet lost a member by death.
