Mr. Preston also shows the high esteem in which he is held by the ratepayers of Osprey, being returned by a majority of 121 as Deputy-Reeve. Mr. P. is a man of honor and integrity, with more than an average amount of intelligence.

MISS EMA SCOTT, of Owen Sound, desires to open a painting class in Markdale, and will do so provided she has the promise of at least eight pupils to commence with by the 15th January. Those wishing to join her class will leave their name at R. L. Stephens' drug store, where specimens of her work can be seen. Miss Scott is an artist of high attainments. Read the following letter of recommendation: TO THE PUBLIC:—"Miss Ema Scott has been a student of this school this winter, receiving lessons in Oil Painting from nature. We have found her an exceedingly clever student. Her work has received great praise from visitors who have visited the school. I have every confidence in recommending her as a teacher for she is possessed of unusual talent and will rank very high in the profession. Students who may be favored with an opportunity of receiving instructions from her will be well repaid. E. R. Babington, Principal, Toronto Art School. March, 1889."

TENDERS will be received up to the 14th January, for 20 cords of 80 inch wood. R. D. Bigger.

TO OUR CORRESPONDENTS. We heartily thank each and all of you for your valuable assistance during the year just closed. Many of you we seldom meet face to face, but always appreciate the contributions from east, west, north and south, and trust each may profit by past experience and continue during this year with unabated vigilance.

TEA-MEETING. There was a tea-meeting held at Lyon's church, six miles north of Markdale on Friday night last. The weather was abundant, the roads plentiful, the attendance sufficient, and the provisions excellent. Mr. Lyons presided efficiently, and the pastor, Rev. Fydeall, W. A. Brown and Elder Hawken supplied the intellectual ingredients, while the Markdale Methodist church choir furnished the music. Considering the state of the roads the affair was a genuine success. The proceeds were sufficient to meet what they were intended for, viz., a payment on the organ. On their way home the Markdale contingent had a break-down when over four miles from home, and a lumber wagon was procured to convey the ladies, while the gentlemen hoofed it, singing "We'll all get home in the morning," and so they did.

CHANGE OF BUSINESS. As may be seen by advertisement, Mr. Jeffrey Artley has purchased the pump business from Mr. McCullough, and removed the plant to his wind mill factory across the street. Mr. Artley is a mechanical genius and an honorable business man, and we wish him unbounded success in his new venture.

PERSONALS.

The site for the new government buildings at Walkerton was decided on Monday last by vote; the site agreed upon by the town council last year was carried by a majority of 280.

Mrs. Payette, an Indian woman who lived on the shore of Owen Sound Bay, started from her home accompanied by her two nephews in a boat to spend New Year's with friends at Cape Croker. When about mid way a equal struck the craft upsetting it and she was drowned while the young men clung to the boat and drifted to White Cloud Island where they were picked up by a tug.

Where do our Young Men Stand.

Miss Willard says: "There are 7,000,000 young men in America to-day, of whom over five millions never darken a church door. Seventy-five out of every one hundred of these young men never attend church; ninety five out of every hundred do not belong to the church, and ninety-seven out of every hundred do nothing to spread Christianity. But on the other hand, sixty-seven out of one hundred criminals are young men, and young men are the chief patrons of the saloon, the gambling-house and the haunts of infamy. It was noticed recently that into a single saloon of Cincinnati and within a single hour, went 262 men, 286 of them—all but sixteen—were young men. As a result, the death rate steadily increases from 14 to 25 years of age, their evil habits reporting themselves in deteriorated bodies and distempered souls at an age when they should have attained their manly prime.

SANTA CLAUS!

Having helped me to dispose of a large amount of goods this Christmas, I desire to follow him up with my very best wishes for those who have been fit to give me a share of their patronage in the year just ended.

During the next year it will be my aim and object to carry a more complete and better assorted stock than I ever had before.

By prompt attention to business, square dealing, and good work, I hope still to retain your good will.

Wishing you all a happy and very prosperous New Year. I remain,

Sincerely yours,

S. BREADNER,

Jeweller, - Markdale
