WILD PEOPLE CAPTURED.

Remarkable Kentucky Yarn from the Hickman Swamp.

A party of gentlemen were passing the swampy Chien swamps Wednesday, and were attracted to the Bayou de Chien River by the splashing of water, supposed to be a large fish in shallow water. Approaching the banks and looking down they saw a man in swimming body heavily coated with hair. Hearing the voice of the strangers the man looked up and seemed very much surprised as he beheld the spectators. As they saw the men he disappeared beneath the water and emerged in a few minutes near the opposite bank. But two men, suspecting he would come out at the opposite shore, had crossed the bridge and were there in advance of him.

When he rushed out of the water, these gentlemen made a dash for him, but with a single blow he sent one of the men into the air. The other companion grabbed the wild man, with the strength of which he hurled his antagonist to the ground. The time the first party had recovered from the shock and with the assistance of three gentlemen, who had crossed the bridge, they undertook to hold the wild man. The men had now undertaken to capture this wild creature, but he handled them as though they were mere children. He completely exhausted the five gentlemen, though they gave up trying to catch him. He came to Columbus, where they reported their encounter with this remarkable being, and organized a party of seventeen men to capture him.

The party left Columbus Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock and went directly to where the wild man had been seen. They could not find him until they were about a mile from the attacking party cutting him from the left arm. The search was continued until dark, when the party went into the swamp for the night, expecting to pursue the wild man the following morning. About 12 o'clock that night they were awakened by the screaming of a man, and were quickly upon their feet. Upon looking a fire it was noticed that one of the party, P. Pearson, was absent. This was a man of some size, and it was at last ascertained that the wild man had stolen to the swamp, and had made away with Mr. Pearson. The party could not sleep the remainder of the night, and sat up plotting the capture of the wild man and the rescue of their friend. At the drop of a word a stick from some dead tree profound silence would ensue, and all could be heard in the night until daybreak, when the party divided into two squads, with an agreement to meet two miles above the iron bridge at 12 o'clock noon.

The party to which we belonged took the left bank of the river, while the other went north. Our party had not gone more than a mile when we heard a noise in the bushes, and Mr. Haile, whom we had selected as our leader, led us to the spot. We searched the place, but could not see from where the noise came, but Mr. Richardson, second opening of a spectacle, and which journey from Brisbane in a snowy ed wool to a height scended in a list close as to quiet. It was a marvel that will never be forgotten.

Miss Minnie—"Mr. Figg, you really must buy a ticket for our ball. It is for the benefit of a poor starving dressmaker." Figg—"But is she really deserving, do you think?" Miss Minnie—"I know she is. She has done lots of work for the girls of our set, and always let us set our own price."

The Coming Comet.

It is fancied by a grateful patron that the next comet will appear in the form of a huge bottle, having "Golden Medical Discovery" inscribed upon it in bold characters. Whether this conceit and high compliment will be verified, remains to be seen, but Dr. Pierce will continue to send forth that wonderful vegetable compound, and potent eradicator of disease. It has no equal in medicinal and health-giving properties, for imparting vigor and tone to the liver and kidneys, in purifying the blood, and through it cleansing and renewing the whole system. For scrofulous humors, and consumption, or lung scrofula, in its early stages, it is a positive specific. Druggists.

Woman's Work.

There is no end to the tasks which daily confront the good housewife. To be a successful housekeeper, the first requisite is good health. How can a woman contend against the trials and worries of housekeeping if she be suffering from distressing irregularities, ailments and weaknesses peculiar to her sex? Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a specific for these disorders. The only remedy, sold by druggists, under a positive guarantee from the manufacturers. Satisfaction guaranteed in every case, or money refunded. See printed guarantee on bottle wrapper.

Faithful prayer always implies correlative exertion; and no man can ask honestly and hopefully to be delivered from temptation, unless he has himself honestly and firmly determined to do the best he can to keep out of it.

A General Tie-up

of all the means of public conveyance in a large city, even for a few hours, during a strike of the employees, means a general paralyzing of trade and industry for the time being, and is attended with an enormous aggregate loss to the community. How much more serious to the individual is the general tie-up of his system, known as constipation, and due to the strike of the most important organs for more prudent treatment and better care. If too long neglected, a torpid or sluggish liver will produce serious forms of kidney and liver diseases, malarial trouble and chronic dyspepsia. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets are a preventive and cure of these disorders. They are prompt, sure and effective, pleasant to take, and positively harmless.

Well Acquainted with Hiram.

"No, Hiram," said the young girl sadly, "I cannot be your wife. We are too compatible."

"Compatible?" he exclaimed. "Isn't that the very reason why?"

"Not in our case. I should probably infer from motives of economy on dispensing with a servant and doing my housework, and would probably let me do it, Hiram."
