TURNER'S DRUG STORE,
Markdale, Ont.

Having purchased W. J. Manley's right and interest in the Drug, Stationery, and Fancy Goods business here, we would respectfully ask a continuance of the patronage so liberally given in the past and by personal attention to business, fair dealing on a strictly cash principle, do our utmost to retain all old customers and gain many new. The business will be carried on as usual in the old stand where you will be able to secure Pure, Fresh Drugs and Chemicals, all the Standard Patent Medicines, a select stock of Stationery, Fine Perfumes, Fancy Goods, Teas, and Spectacles.

IT is very convenient to blame the tornado for certain calamities. One hundred and twelve lives were lost by the "Lake Pepin" disaster, near St. Paul, Minn., on Sunday the 18th inst., and the survivors testify that much drinking was being done not only by the excursion party, but by the captain and engineer of the boat. It is believed that whiskey was more the cause of the disaster than the storm.

ANOTHER change has taken place in the proprietorship of the Medical Hall, by which Mr. Manley steps down and out and Mr. Walter Turner & Co., takes full control. We can commend our respected townsman, W. Turner, to our readers as being worthy of their confidence and trust, and wish for him a prosperous career. Mr. T. is courteous, careful and attentive to business, all important requisites.

THE STANDARD is in receipt of a copy of the Prize Essay on "Practical Sanitary and Economic Cooking adapted to persons of Moderate and Small Means," by Mrs. Mary Hinman Abel, from the American Public Health Association. To this essay was awarded the first prize among seventy competitors, and the unanimous opinion of the able Judges of Award, and testimonials from members of the American Public Health Association prove that it is a work of great practical value, and that it would in many cases assist in securing to families health, comfort, and happiness in life, if it could be placed in their hands.

ON Wednesday evening of last week about dusk, John Langman, who works in Martin's saw mill, 9th line Euphrasia, saw a bear walk out on the road and taking out his gun took deliberate aim and dropped his bearship. The carcass was shipped at Markdale the following morning to Toronto. It was very lean yet weighed 228 lbs. Good for John.

TO enable me to attend to my interest in The Drummond Medicine Co. Toronto I have decided to remove there and have disposed of my entire stock and right in the Drug business, Markdale, to W. Turner & Co. I now desire to thank the public for their kind patronage in the past and cordially recommend the new firm to all persons requiring anything in their line. W. Manley. 515-17

MR. THOS. JENNINGS, formerly of the Revere Hotel, was in town on Wednesday. He is now travelling for a liquor and cigar firm.

THE lecture in the Methodist church last night by Mrs. Allen was one of the richest intellectual treats a Markdale audience has ever been favored with. The subject, "The Bible and Woman," was delineated in a comprehensive scriptural and logical manner while the lecturer exhibited an easy and graceful demeanor with superior powers of elocution, which altogether captivated the audience. The choir also acquitted themselves very creditably.

THE Bell Organ has held for many years an enviable reputation as a high class instrument, and thousands of them are to-day giving satisfaction throughout the land. The Bell Piano has been in the market only a few years, yet it has had a most remarkably successful career and is now considered, after being thoroughly tested by the best musicians of the day, unexcelled for quality of tone, beauty of finish, and general excellence.

ONE night last week a Markdale lady was about to dismantle for bed when, oh, horror! was it a mouse or bed bug? no, it wasn't any living thing; then what was it? "Mercy I've lost my watch." It was an exciting hour. A lantern was lighted search immediately instituted. "Where can it be anyway." There was the vegetable garden and the house plants, and the long grass, where snakes are wont to hide themselves. "Dear me what w-i-l-l I do." All at once she pressed her hand to her side and exclaimed "I have it;" It had slipped down past the pocket and lodged just above the belt.

THE exposure and privation, together with autocratic discipline experienced by volunteers while on parade, may be submitted to with reluctance, but when a party of young people start out on a camping expedition, they enjoy the hardships incident to camp life, burst forth from the restraints of parental discipline and throw aristocratic etiquette to the winds, while all hands lay themselves out for a vigorous health-giving jollification, and of course they are successful; and why not? Following are the names of a party who camped at Bell's Lake: Miss McFarland and the Misses Lucas, of Markdale; Misses Armstrong and Richardson, of Flesherton; Messrs. Will. McFarland and I. B. Lucas, of Markdale; Mr. Fred. McDiarmid, of Oshawa, and Messrs. Armstrong and Richardson, of Flesherton. Ye editor and his wife have received a pressing invitation to visit the camps, which we will endeavor to do.
