The Toronto Industrial Exhibition is again past and it has been a wonderful success in many respects. The local fair is now attracting attention and are likely to receive a larger patronage than usual. There is many a profitable lesson learned by attending an agricultural fair and there are also those who seldom go to such a place and yet succeed in adding dollar to dollar and farm to farm.

It is very important, however, to know where to buy your groceries. Those who study economy have given us a trial may be found taking a straight course for E. Rutledge's grocery. The Sun, Owen Sound's new paper, made its first appearance last Thursday. We have received three copies of the tri-weekly. Mr. Lang, the editor, is evidently a live newspaper man. The paper is neatly gotten up, ably written, newsy, witty, and good natured, and is a valuable acquisition to Owen Sound. Long may it shine.

That splendid property, the James Mercer farm, will be offered for sale by public auction at the Markdale House on Saturday next, 27th, at one o'clock. JOHN WALKER, who left this month en route for London, Eng., with stock, writes a card from Montreal as follows: Left Thornbury on the 10th with 85 head cattle, 8 calves, 72 sheep and 62 hogs; arrived at Montreal on the 12th. Sold the hogs and will load the cattle and sheep so-day, Sept. 16th. There is a strike among the ship hands which has delayed us five days.

The Government Printing Bureau at Ottawa has just adopted a regulation requiring that hereafter the spelling of such words as "honor" shall conform to the English usage and be spelled with the "n." This is hardly in accordance with the spirit of the times, the tendency being in favor of brevity. The word "honor" is a Latin word, and those dead and gone people spelled it without the "n."

It seems a mistake that so many fall exhibitions are held on the same day in one county. It is now too late to avoid the difficulty for this season, but there should be something done to hinder such collisions another year. Suppose a meeting of all the secretaries in the county should meet at a given place and date, soon after the fall of the season are past and arrange the whole matter for 1891. We think it could safely be left in the hands of the secretaries, who usually the general managers of the shows.

DISTRICT DOTS.

Skayner's rate of taxation is 24 mills on the dollar. Harristown rate this year is 23 mills on the dollar. Orangeville has 762 voters; 99 of them are ladies. The C. P. R. has completed a new station at Guelph. Collingwood is to have a new school building to cost $515. Chesley's rate of taxation has been struck at 20 mills on the dollar.

Owen Sound public schools have a daily attendance of 1604 children. Tara millers and flour dealers have decided to sell no flour, bran or shorts forthwith on credit.

The Owen Sound Advertiser is now published twice a week and the subscription raised to $1.50 per annum.

TARA LEADER.—Mr. and Miss Rutledge returned home yesterday, after enjoying a pleasant visit with friends here.

MR. N. S. Johnston, Reeve of Port Elgin, has purchased a job printing business in Toronto and is moving to the city. He was presented with an address and well filled purse by the citizens of Port Elgin on the eve of his departure.

OWEN SOUND'S ACQUISITIONS.—On Tuesday last a negro, his wife, a pair of twins 8 months old, and a boy three years old, passed through here on their way from Hamilton to Owen Sound, driving their family and household effects on a cart made out of the hind wheels of a wagon. The negro took the place of the horse while the wife pushed behind. It was rather a hard sight to witness in a land of religion, education and plenty.—Harristown Tribune.

WEDDING AT ST. PETERS.—Mr. Frank McCarroll, station agent at Berkeley, formerly assistant at Orangeville, and Miss Louisa Ryan, of this town, were yesterday joined in holy matrimony by Rev. Father Morris. The bridemaid was Miss Kate Ryan, of Campbell's Cross, and the groomsmen were Mr. Joseph Ryan of Toronto, brother of the bride. The wedding party adjourned to the residence of the bride's mother, where a substantial repast was provided. The newly married couple left on the evening train for Montreal amidst a shower of congratulations.—Dufferin Post.

A BIRTY FARE.—The advertising of county treasurer's sales of lands for taxes at present conducted in a great farce. In both Dufferin and Grey the advertisements appear in papers published at the extreme end of the county, and four-fifths of the people living in the counties named never see the advertisements. Many times have we been asked for copies of the Orangeville paper containing the list of lands in Dufferin to be sold, and only yesterday a resident of Proton sent to this office for a copy of the Owen Sound paper containing the list for Grey. Such advertisements should appear in more than one paper in the county, so that all interested could see them.—Shelburne Economist.

PRESENTATION.—On Tuesday evening Mr. Frank McCarroll, C. P. R. agent at Berkeley, presented a silver tea service at the office of Mr. J. O'Connell, the C. P. R. agent here. Prior to this Berkeley, Frank was freight agent at Berkeley, and his geniality and courtesy won for him many friends. The local employees of a railway felt that they could not allow Frank to take the important step he made yesterday without showing their appreciation of his uniform kind behavior and their best wishes for his future success. Mr. J. O'Connell made the presentation, and among those present were Messrs. Adams, Davis, and P. Smith. The present was accompanied by an appropriate address to which Mr. McCarroll replied in felicitous terms. The Post wishes Mr. and Mrs. McCarroll length of days, and trusts that Frank's popularity on the line will always be even greater than it is now.—Dufferin Post.

SHELBRUNE, Sept. 22.—Dr. D. R. Johnston of Hornings' Mills died on Saturday night from an overdose of laudanum. He was in Shelburne during the afternoon and was under the influence of liquor. He started for home at 6 o'clock, but he did not reach Hornings' Mills until 8.30. The distance is only 3 miles. It was feared this evening that he had the wrong road on arriving at the cemetery. He was seen on the Toronto and Shelburne road, and inquired the way to Hornings' Mills. This will account for the length of time it took him to reach home. Mr. Plewles, his uncle, with whom he was heard him drive into the stable, and after waiting a few minutes went out to see what detained the doctor and found him lying in a sensible on the stable floor. He was removed to the house, and his friends worked with him for some minutes to endeavor to arouse him from what seemed to be a state of extreme intoxication. Failing in their efforts, they sent for Dr. Reid, who also practices at Hornings' Mills, but every effort was fruitless. On examining his pockets an empty whiskey bottle, an eight ounce one, was found, also an eight ounce bottle of laudanum, of which upwards of three ounces had been taken. With this evidence before them, emergency treatment was procured by the attendants to rid the stomach of its contents, but notwithstanding all that was done, poor Johnston breathed his last about 11.30. It is supposed that he took a drink out of the laudanum bottle in mistake. When near his office he was seen by a neighbor, who saw him urinate his house at full speed, in order, it is supposed, to reach his surgery quickly to get something to counteract the poison taken.

Dr. Daniel Raphael Johnston was a graduate and medalist of Toronto University and of the Toronto School of Medicine. After his graduation he practiced in partnership with Dr. Richardson of Ancaster for perhaps a year and a half. Three years ago this month he was admitted into partnership with Dr. Barr and Norton, who then had offices at both Hornings' Mills and Shelburne. He remained with them some fourteen months when he bought out the Hornings' Mills business of the firm, and with it the residence of Dr. Barr. The deceased was nearly 30 years of age, and was considered one of the foremost professional men in the Province. A brilliant scholar, a gentleman in every respect, kind and generous to a fault; he was universally esteemed wherever he was known. His parents resided in Amaranth, a few miles from Shelburne.

The whole community is shocked at the tragic end of a life that promised so brightly. His parents reside in Amaranth, a few miles from Shelburne.

Courteous Home Manners. Very few young people realize the immense charm of genuine, courteous home manners. It is not only that it is right and the duty of every gentleman and woman, but it is infinitely lovely and attractive to see girls and boys showing in their own homes, to their own people and in their everyday life the same courtesy and the same consideration that they exercise in society.

There is a species of vulgarity about "company manners," just as there is in all vulgar; and there are many young people who consider themselves well bred, who would scorn to wear shawls, jewelry, and who would think false pretense of any kind bad form, yet who keep their graciousness for the world, and spoil the home atmosphere by their touchiness and rudeness. Not that they mean it; they may really love each other dearly, and in any great matter would be quick to serve and make sacrifices—but the daily exercise of self control in little matters, the every-day unselfishness, the "soft answer that turneth away wrath," are not the habits, and almost invariably the same, of many ill-breeding as formed, and many a mother finds too late that through her carelessness and inattention to details the mischief is done, and she cannot remedy it.—New York Tribune.

Dear Sir,—Your favor to hand a squirrel how we got along with the Wind Mill might say we had no difficulty in putting together. It was working splendidly. The pump does its work right. I like the working of the Victor Wind Mill very much. It governs itself nicely in a high wind, and I think it is more durable than a wooden mill. N. DEXTER, Mosford, June 22, 1890.
