

The STANDARD office is noted for being prompt in filling orders for job printing, which has been the means of greatly increasing its custom. We are in receipt of many letters of thanks and good wishes from outlying points for neatness in design and despatch in forwarding orders. Our business is increasing especially in fine work, which we made a specialty, having added recently to our already large assortment of material of fashionable type, besides having one of the most rapid and perfect running job presses manufactured. We are prepared to execute all kinds of work in Pamphlets, Circulars, Letter Heads, Note Blanks, Receipts, Business Cards, Funeral Cards, Posters, Hand Bills, Dodgers, Printed Envelopes, &c., &c. Orders by mail will receive prompt attention. Address all letters to

METHODIST UNION.

It were strange indeed if so great a movement as that which is on foot for the unification of the Methodism of this country should not meet with more or less opposition. Indeed, so accustomed have we become to look for antagonism to every thing that is good, we should be almost inclined to look doubtfully upon any great undertaking that did not encounter something of the sort. We are not surprised therefore that this great measure of denominational unification has received so much opposition, but rather that it has so little. A good deal has been written against it, it is true, and written with a certain sort of ability, too, but the paucity of argument in most of this writing has, as it appears to us, been one of its most striking characteristics. This has not been the result of any want of ability in the writers who have attempted to champion the losing side in this controversy, but to the scantiness of the materials with which they had to work. That the weight of fact and argument was chiefly on the side of their opponents was not so much their fault as their misfortune. All that can be reasonably expected of any man is that he make the best of his opportunities, and we think that it is due to those who have written on the opposition side in this discussion to say that they have done this.

TO THE END OF HIS TETHER.

The Advocate appears exhausted and, notwithstanding his recent prating about newspaper etiquette, new resorts to calling names. The Standard subscribers are too respectable a class of people to appreciate such a course, and besides, we have no inclination to stoop to such means. We were first treated with a "sounding of trumpets" high flown language, and a smattering of French, but how soon he fell to his own level, he endeavours to cast a slur on agriculturists by insinuating that we once tilled the soil. Wonder what the supposed Editor of the Advocate descended from, was it not from the same calling, we have been informed that his parents were farmers but that this boy would not work, so they made a printers' devil out of him, and it appears he has never yet got through his apprenticeship.

MAGISTRATES' COURT.

On Thursday a week ago, Wm. Scott, Dennis Hogan, and Wm. McCaskill, were up before Wm. Brown, and H. D. Irwin, J. P.'s, at the instance of S. L. M. Luke, complainant, charged with assault. After hearing considerable evidence, the court was adjourned till Thursday last.

On appearing again before the same Magistrate accompanied with Mr. James Struthers, J. P., it came out in the evidence, that Dennis Hogan, had offered Scott $2 to catch Mr. Luke in a sumptuous manner for writing correspondence to Durham, of which Luke had no knowledge whatever. It appears the occurrence took place in the "Revere Hotel," as follows: D. Hogan, called Luke in and gave him a drink while McCaskill went to arouse Scott who was sleeping, and after riling him up with "rye" got him to work to beat Luke, which he did in a treacherous manner. After hearing the evidence the Magistrate fined Scott $7 and costs or 30 days at hard labor; D. Hogan, for abetting the same, and W. McCaskill, $10 and costs or 30 days. Hogan over her, between the sittings of court, invented for parts unknown.

On Thursday afternoon, two charges of selling liquor without license, against D. Hogan were tried before the same Magistrate, at the instance of inspector Harris, each of which were proven and the defendant fined $30 and costs.

ARTEMESIA COUNCIL.

This Council met in the Town Hall, Flesherton, Monday May 7th, present, Messrs. Christie, Elliott, Wright, McArthur and McKee.

Minutes of April session read and approved. Communication from Thos. Boland and McL. Puddy, presented and read.

Accounts as follows were ordered to be paid: Jame Webster, lumber for Priceville bridge and repairing bridge on town line, $21; A. Webster mals furnished for repairing Priceville bridge, $1.68; A. R. Fawcett, printing Auditors Report, $12.

Mr. McKee was appointed to act conjointly with the Council of Euphrasia in opening deviation on town line, established by By-law No. 353. The Clerk was directed to correspond with the Reeve of Proton to have culvert on town line opposite Lot 210 repaired, each township to pay share of cost. Messrs. Wright and McKee, were appointed a committee to have bridges on the Saugeen River which were damaged by spring freshet repaired.

Messrs. Christie, Elliott and McArthur were appointed a committee to investigate damage done to the bridges in Priceville village, and have same repaired.

The sum of five hundred dollars was appropriated to general repairs to roads in the Township for the current year, $125 in each ward, and the councillor for each ward was appointed road commissioner for same. The above amount to include commission for expending the same.

The discussion on the introduction of a By-law to prevent animals from running at large, was postponed until the views of the ratepayers is more fully had on this subject.

Council adjourned to meet as a Court of Revision on Monday June 4th 1883, at ten o'clock.

FIRE AT MAXWELL.

From a correspondent.

At one o'clock Saturday morning a small fire was observed burning the outside of the large wooden building, the front part of which was occupied by Stinson & Sharp, as a general store, and the rear as a dwelling house by Mr. Sharp and his sister.

The parties seeing the fire immediately gave the alarm, but the fire being set to the part of the building exactly opposite where the coal oil was kept, very soon came in contact with the combustible fluid and in a few moments the whole structure was in flames, Mr. Sharp and his sister narrowly escaped with their lives. And of the large stock amounting to nearly $4,000, only a few hundred dollars worth was saved.

The house of Mr. Taylor as well as the residence of Dr. Kerr, caught fire several times, and were only saved by the vigilance and energy of their friends.

Messrs. Stinson & Sharp have the sympathy of the whole community. The business done by Mr. Sharp since he took charge of the store excited the jealousy of his three rivals. The public are strongly of the opinion that the fire was the work of an incendiary.

The building and stock were partially insured, yet Stinson & Sharp are heavy losers.

WHAT THE STANDARD WOULD LIKE TO SEE.

A fine day to-morrow, 24th.

And an immense crowd in Markdale, good order and peace through the day, and Dufferin Hall full at night.

The Revere Hotel discontinue dealing out liquor on Sunday.

A flag on every business house in town to-morrow, 24th.

A saw mill built in time for the next season.

Some kind of seasonable weather.

The village inspector examine the yards as to cleanliness, and also fire prevention.

The May cold spell is all right. It is accounted for scientifically by the simultaneous and generally accelerated dissolution of the congelation in the hyperboreal regions, caused by the contiguity of the solstitial period. We are glad to know all about it, and shan't mind it at all in the future, now that the reason for it is pointed out.

For the Standard.

IN MEMORY.

OF EFFIE, BELOVED DAUGHTER OF A. S. YADU SEN, ESQ., FLESHERTON.

Farewell, gentle, loving Effie,
You have early been called home;
And have left the mourning loved ones,
Here to weep for you alone.

Oh, may thy spirit hover near them,
When they tears of sorrow shed;
And whisper that their darling Effie,
Is safe, though numbered with the dead.

Though they would always love her,
Ever careful of her be;
Yet within their hearts they know,
She is safer Lord, with Thee.

Safe, safe within that heavenly fold,
What joy that thought should bring;
And kneeling at her Saviour's feet,
She anthems sweet doth sing.

Death had no terror for dear Effie,
On it sweetly she could think,
Smile and calmly talk about it,
Even when standing on its brink.

Then mourn not for your darling Effie,
Who on earth we'll see no more;
She has only crossed the river,
That we all must soon cross o'er.

Only gone a day before us,
And our time will soon draw nigh;
May we be as well prepared,
For bright mansions in the sky.

As the bright and winning Effie,
Whom we all had learned to love;
And who early found a refuge,
In that happier world above.

Oh, may we all again behold her,
In that land by sin unstained;
When the cares of life are ended,
And the crown of victory gained.

Yes, meet her in that happy land,
Where joy abounds forever;
Where death divides friends shall meet,
Yes, meet no more to sever.
