The 24th of May and 12th of July both fall on Sunday this year.

No Spring Show for Markdale eh? or Queen's Birthday celebration?

The sugar-making has not panned out as well as many were counting on.

There is a decided improvement in the Council Chamber since a caretaker was appointed.

The pancake social on Friday evening in the basement of the Methodist church promises to be largely attended.

Wanted—75 maple trees suitable for May planting, delivered at Markdale school grounds on arbor day, May 1st. Tender to W. A. Brown, sec.-treas.

A copy of the minutes and proceedings of January session of Grey County Council is to hand. It was printed at the Mirror office, Meaford, and is very well printed.

Tenders Wanted.—Tenders will be received by the undersigned until the 1st May for the position of caretaker of Christ Church, Markdale, for the ensuing year. R. D. Barton.

Mr. Barton has changed his arrangements, owing to the serious illness of his wife, and will not move to Markdale, but has packed up his store goods this week and leaving.

A "Historic Report of Census of Montreal," published by John Lovell, is to hand. The volume contains much valuable information. The population of Montreal is placed at 218,302.

It is said that Samson was a liberal advertiser. He took two solid columns to demonstrate his strength, and several thousand people "tumbled" to the scheme at once. In fact he brought down the house.

For Sale—At half price, 150 acres of lot No. 16 in 10th con. of Euphrasia, 25 acres clear, balance first-class timber; a public school house on the property. Price $1200. For further particulars call on A. G. Hunter, Dundalk P. O.

A contract for building a bridge over the Saugeen river at Barrhead Mills will be let at 10:30 o'clock on Saturday, the 18th April, at said Mills by the Reeves of Markdale and Glenelg. Plans and specifications can be seen at Markdale post office.

Any person writing for the paper must sign their name. We are responsible for what appears in its columns, and tho' the name of the writer may be a secret to every one else, the editor must have it, or the manuscript will find its way into the waste basket.

Pan-cake Social.—The Ladies' Aid Society of the Methodist church will hold a pan-cake social in the basement of the church on the evening of Friday, the 17th. Maple syrup will be furnished, yum, yum; also a good programme. Admission, 15 cents.

The official report of the Postmaster General for the year ending June 30th, 1890, shows the following statistics for Markdale post office:—Gross Postal Revenue $7,649.83, number of Money Orders issued 627, total remuneration as salary, forwarding allowances, rent, fuel and light $600.

Telegraph Poles Wanted.—Tenders will be received by the undersigned up to Saturday, the 18th of April, for the supply of 350 telegraph poles, to be peeled, 30 feet long and 7 inches at small end to be delivered on gravel road any place or places between Flesherton and Holland Centre. J. E. Marsh, Markdale.

The Farmer's Advocate comes to hand promptly, and is being conducted with ability, notwithstanding the fact of its founder and head having been removed by the hand of death. The various departments continue to be increasingly interesting and true to the name of the journal. $1 a year. Address, The Farmer's Advocate, London, Ont.

Commercial Enterprise.—Mr. Albert C. Patterson, Euphrasia's 2nd deputy-reeve, passed through this village last Friday with his imported Durham bull on his way home. This animal is a fine specimen of that famous breed and was admired by lovers of good stock as he was led through on his journey from the C. P. R. station here. Mr. Patterson has introduced him chiefly to improve his own herd, but he is open for engagements as a sire for the season. [illegible]

To Lady Readers Only.—Miss Moffat who has again charge of McFarland's millinery show rooms, cordially invites the ladies of Markdale and surrounding country to call and inspect the latest styles for the coming season, assuring them that for variety or design, richness of colorings and newness of style, the offerings this season surpass all former efforts. Prices will be found as moderate as newness of design and quality of material will warrant.

The Farmer's Advocate of this month contains a descriptive and very eulogistic article on the importing establishment of Messrs. Blair Bros., of Illinois. This firm has been doing an extensive and successful business in importing both heavy horses and Coach Stallions. Many Standard readers will remember Mr. James Blair, brother of Mr. Wm. Blair, of Artemesia. This noted firm is Mr. James Blair's sons, and we are pleased to note their success.

Standard subscribers will please examine their address label and see how you stand. It will indicate the date to which you are paid. If that date is past, then you are in arrears and we can't believe that any subscriber wishes to be in arrears. Prompt payment in advance is a great help to the publisher of a paper, so that every patron can thus render assistance in improving their paper. Many thanks to those who have thus cheerfully and promptly assisted.

Printing Presses.—A strong and general prejudice has prevailed against Canadian made presses by printers, owing to the inferior quality manufactured at the outset, many years ago. Messrs. Westman & Baker some time ago, commenced the manufacture of presses in Toronto with a determination to build up not only a good reputation for their output but a substantial business, and have been eminently successful in both. They turn out an article very worthy the patronage of men of the craft. Westman & Baker's Improved Gordon job press has no superior and is now sought after by leading printers all over the Dominion. Two months ago we put one of them into the Standard office, a No. 2 Medium, which is a marvel of perfection. It is strong and durable, and perfect in all its parts, noiseless in action and shows superior mechanism and finish throughout. This make of press has only to be tested in order to completely captivate the printer who aims at superior press work as well as economy.

SOCIAL and PERSONAL.

Miss Minnie Lucas is visiting friends at Toronto and Ottawa.

Miss Ramsay has been visiting her sister, Mrs. D. J. Irwin.

SIFTINGS.

Stolen kisses are said to be the sweetest.

This is evidently the case also in reference to speckled trout.

The season does not open legally until the 1st of May.

Yet some of our citizens are said to have had their lungings for finny flesh already gratified.

This vicinity has an enviable reputation as a good fishing ground.

But the close season should be respected.

And every violation of the law ferreted out.

And due punishment administered.

If unscrupulous characters are permitted to fish for a month before the season opens.

What chance have honest people of enjoying that desirable pastime with any reasonable success?

There should be a bonus offered for every conviction.

And thus, in a measure at least, protect the speckled beauties from extermination.

A public cemetery is one of the felt wants of our village.

Where each and all could assist in improving and beautifying the grounds.

The different denominations might unite in this respect with profit and credit to all.

The English Church is in absolute need of a cemetery.

It is only a matter of time until the present one is changed to a location in the suburbs.

And we believe the great majority are in favor of an early change.

The longer it is delayed the more difficult will be the undertaking.

Then why not set about it at once?

Many sacred memories cluster around the graves of departed friends.

Therefore it is a delicate question to deal with.

But it must be done sooner or later.

It is really too bad to have delayed the change so long.

With united action the desired change may be made to [illegible]

OUTSIDE GLEANINGS.

Dundalk has adopted the tag system for dogs. A good one.

There is still 14,000 bushels of grain in the C. P. R. elevator at Owen Sound.

Mr. John Cressor, Q. C., of Owen Sound, has received the appointment of Senior Judge of the County Court of the County of Grey.

South Grey Agricultural Society will hold its Spring Show on the 21st, at Durham.

A lamb with only three legs is one of the latest curosity arrivals in Arran township, near Tara.

Wiarton has applied to the Ontario Government for a grant to aid in securing C. P. R. connection, and anxiously wait an answer.

The Jefferson avenue Presbyterian church of Detroit have again called Rev. W. W. Catson to the pastorate with a stipend of $5,000.

The C. P. R. passenger station at Owen Sound was moved during the past week eastward to Marsh street, about the width of the building.

The Municipal printing of the town of Orangeville is distributed amongst the three printing offices by a committee for that purpose, and thus the usual cut-throat starvation mode abandoned. That Council is level headed.

The Haggart Bros. Manufacturing Co., Brampton, have gone into liquidation, the Council having decided at last to take legal proceedings under the bond and mortgage held by the corporation. The town is interested to the extent of $80,000.—Acton Free Press.

H. L. Hastings, of Boston, speaking of the decay of secularism, says: "In England a few years ago, the infidel societies took in 1,885 members; the next year 1,500; then 1,200; and so on, down to less than 500. Last year thirteen infidel halls were closed."

In the woods a few miles from Cheboygan, Mich., James and John Gillespie were chopping, when James' axe slipped and cut him badly. John went to get help, and when he returned with a party, found a pack of wolves picking his brother's bones.

Mr. David Maloney has decided to leave Acton and will take up his residence with his son, Rev. Father Maloney, at Markdale. Mr. Maloney has been a resident of Acton for 35 years and came here from Toronto. He will be missed here, particularly in St. Joseph's Church.—Acton Free Press.

Horses and the Spring Work.

Although it is often absolutely necessary for the farmer to tax his horses to the utmost in the spring time, a little careful management will, in the majority of cases, lessen the ill-effect that may result from the hardships to which they are subjected. Farm horses are abruptly plunged from idleness to long days' work on soft ground, while exposed to various climatic conditions. One day a scorching sun with its relaxing effect, followed by a fall of temperature of forty or fifty degrees or possibly a cold rain. These extremes are all trying to the animal economy, particularly the change from one to another, and being experienced while horses are undergoing the debilitating process of shedding the coat and performing hard work, it is not to be wondered at that they frequently show very marked evidence of hard times, even although they are not incapacitated for work. Most people like to see their horses looking well and recognize that when they do, they are usually capable of standing hard work and performing it with ease to themselves and comfort to the drivers, yet many make no effort to keep them in [illegible] condition. It does not take long to get a horse into low flesh, but it takes a long time to get him looking well again; and if there is any chance of his being put in the market, a poor condition usually lessons the price available for him. Everything considered, it is a bad plan to let horses run down if it is at all avoidable.

Take the cases of horses that have been teaming all winter and have been well cared for in every way; they will go through the spring work without any appreciable loss of flesh, on account of the vigorous state of the system that good feeding and regular work produces. This should teach the lesson that every effort should be made to get farm horses hardened up by giving them as much exercise as possible for some time prior to the starting of seeding. It is only when they are sufficiently exercised that they can with safety be fed freely enough to get them into a vigorous state, so that they can stand work. Flesh that is laid on without exercise vanishes rapidly when a horse is put into the spring work, and has in no way benefited him. If some of the outlay necessary to put on this flesh were made in giving regular exercise, he would come out of his work looking and feeling better. Too much stress cannot be laid upon the importance of proper exercise of horses in promoting condition.—Dr. Grenside in The Canadian Live Stock and Farm Journal for April.

The Canadian Live Stock and Farm Journal.

The April number of The Canadian Live Stock and Farm Journal (published by The J. E. Bryant Co., Toronto) is profusely illustrated. The frontispiece is occupied by a fine pair of Southdown sheep, specially photographed for the purpose, from the flock of A. Murriets, Esq., Wadhurst, Eng.; a engraving of the grand Clydesdale stallion "Energy" is also given, as well as portraits of Mr. R. Miller, Jr., the president of the Dominion Sheepbreeder's Association, and Mr. Wm. Smith, the president of the Canadian Clydesdale Association. The report of the late Provincial Stallion Show is given at full length, and the several articles on the care and breeding of horses, cattle, and swine especially appropriate to the season, should be read by all farmers.
