The Furat Bismarck encountered the hur ricane just east of the banks and for twenty six hours, beginning early in the morning of the 10th, she was tossed about like an eggshell. Her engines had to be slowed down and it was hard work to keep her head to the wind, which blew with terrific force. The Furst Eismarck did not use any oil as death. I became morose, sullen and irritable, and for eight years life was a burden. I tried many physicians and many remedies. Then again at high the storm arose. This contribued for four days. On the 9th, at tive o'clock in the morning, there was a dead calm and then middenly the storm sprang up from the south, going to the south west and west southwest. The wind was blowing at a cerrific rate and the sea was a boiling mass of foam and spray. It was so densi that it prevented us from seeing ahead. The vessel labored very heavily and took an enormous amount of water on board. At six o'clock on the same morning.

WE USED THE OIL BAGS with great success. At moon the storin subsided very rapidly. We had one life-boat destroyed and some of the vessel's awnings blown away. Shortly after noon we sighted a wreck, which we supposed to be a bark of about 600 tons. She was fully two miles from us, but owing to the heavy seas it was impossible to reach her.
