Wednesday—
Let us sing with one accord,
Praise to Jesus Christour Lord;
He is worthy whom we praise,
Hearts and voices let us raise. He hath made us by His power, He hath kept us to this hour; He redeems us from the grave, He who died now lives to save.

What he bids us let us do:
What he bids us let us do:
What he bids us let us do:
Where he leads us let us go:
As Ho loves us let us go:
As Ho loves us let us love
All below and all above.
—John-Wilton.
Thursday—One of Faraday's workmen
by accident dropped a little, highly-valued silver cup into a strong acid bath. In a little while it had utterly disappeared. But when Faraday came in and learned of it he rest; the collin swings further out, and is lowered gently until the foam and spoondrift moisten it; the tackles are detached with suddin jerk, and in an instant the weighted box shoots downward, bedded in on one mand bubbles, and all is over until the sad gives up its dead.

In a little while the cheery whistles trill out a call to duty, the half-makted ensign climbs to the dasher block, the ship is brought to her course, and dazedly the men take up the wearying routine of the lives so sadly broken. An unusual quiet rests upon the vesseland around tables: but in the groups gathered to smoke during the supper hour, and after the hannocks are piped down, the virtues—those heroic and honest sea virtues—of thy flagad sailor are recalled, and with a any other men except soldlers may know.

Stolen kisses may be sweet, but they are rather dear at the present market price at Valparaise. Senor Tales, of that town, kissed a lady without casking permission while walking, in the Plaza. The lady appealed to the law, and the gay Tales suffered imprisonment for sixty days. In an evil moment he also appealed, and was kept in jail for 200 days, while his appeal was being considered. The result of that consideration was the addition of thirty days more to the original sentence. We hope the lady is now satisfied; the least she can do is to return a kies which has cost the giver so many pains. cost the giver so many pains.
