Harvesting in this locality, drawing to a close and would in a few days be finished only for the late rains which have been very heavy. The condition in which a large amount of grain was harvested was unsatisfactory. I heard a thresher say a few days ago, "We threshed 900 bushels of grain yesterday and there was not a dry shock in the whole lot."

Mr. G. Graham is getting things into splendid shape for starting up his saw mill, and everything from the foundation up is going to be on a more solid basis than the old structure.

We have been favored with visits this season from many tourists travelling on bicycles, and at present some of those are residing at the Travellers' Home.

Our esteemed neighbor, Mr. J. M. Thurston was agreeably surprised today at the sudden and unexpected appearance of his eldest brother whom he had not seen for years.

Dr. Halstead, a specialist in rheumatism, has very successfully treated Mr. Graham's boy, who had at first the services of another doctor, and the boy is now running around. Dr. Halstead has some testimonies of extraordinary cures performed on persons who for years were crippled.

Our miller, Mr. Pheves, has purchased the machinery of the Fairmount Mill, which is as good now being used only a few winters, and he is about making some very important changes and additions to his mill, so that customers are sure to have an efficient service the coming season.

The mercantile department is strongly represented by Mr. Hammond who has a very large new stock of fall and winter goods at prices that are right.

Priceville.

The wet weather of last week has hindered harvesting operations very much. The crops are very good in this locality this season.

Mr. N. McFadden and J. D. Brown merchants took in the excursion last week to the city and conducted business with pleasure. J. D. brought him with him the latest style of bicycle. His spare moments will be employed in practicing thereon. No doubt he will soon be expert at it, and perhaps will ride Editor Thirlestoe with it some day.

Mr. Thos. H. Aikinson of Chesley, is having two weeks holidays. He is employed in a drug store there and is getting on well.

Messrs. A. McNeil and Wm. Conkey, of Chicago, who were visiting their friends here for a few days returned to that city last week.

A number of the farmers of this vicinity invested in bicycles among them are Messrs. A. McLean, Wm. Gray, and McEvilye and Wm. Waters of the Durham Road.

Mr. Whitmore of St. Catharines, is around here again this summer, buying lambs, cattle, etc. Mr. W. is doing good business in his line.

Mr. A. H. Ross spent some of his holidays with his parents here. He is teaching in Business College in Kingston, and likes the situation well.

Mrs. Walker and her family of Toronto are visiting at her father's Mr. Alex. Brown, postmaster, for a few weeks.

The statue lately built is being applied in beautifying the condition of the streets and sidewalks. When the work is completed we expect to see a noted improvement in the area.

The Board of Health do not attend to their duties as everything is under the eye of our vigilant health inspector, who will direct accordingly.

Mr. Jas. E. Frazee, tanner, was unable to work last week owing to the heat, but got all right again.

Miss Best is teaching the Junior Department of our school. She was successful at the state examination in getting a Second Class certificate.

Messrs. Cole and Tryon are our butchers here. They are both good in their line of business. We hope they will succeed and always have good meat in the future as in the past.

Mr. Joseph McDonald, miller, is now enjoying the comforts of his new house.

Eugenia.

Eugenia after a long repose is awakened at last. A wealthy company of business men have leased a small portion of that beautiful river which flows through the midst of our city, and soon we shall see a new dam a large building with a lot of first-class machinery in it, and employing probably 40 or 50 hands. So all are jubilant and trust that there is a bright future for Eugenia; we hope the new railway will touch our "Burg."

Mr. Jake Williams, son of Mr. John Williams has bought a property in town and will have his blacksmith shop in full blast in a few days. We gladly welcome Jake to Eugenia and wish him all success.

I see in yours of the 18th an article by one who signs himself "A Methodist" referring to correspondent in a previous issue as to the concluding paragraph of his letter in which he says "I am very much inclined to believe that your correspondent is so far from being friendly to Methodism that he has made use of the Standard in order to induce others to share the animosity which his book is." I agree with such a laudable instinct, and trample such under my feet, as being unworthy to come from enter into the bosom of any man calling himself a Christian, and regret much that any one calling himself "A Methodist" should bring his soul so far to allow such sentiments to fill his own bosom toward a man that he does not know the first thing about. I am happy to say that many of my warmest and truest friends are Methodists, and their friendship and esteem is all warmly and truly reciprocated by me, but this correspondent's opinion has nothing of a true Methodist ring about it which almost forces one to conclude that he must be some fresh importation. I have no sympathy with him or woman who is so "chuckfull" of Methodism (or any other ism) and so overflowing with self pretension that he or she can see no good in any church but their own, or in any body but themselves, but to a real Christian I gladly extend the right hand of fellowship wherever I meet him or whatever his creed, to Salem your correspondent knows right well that neither the people of Eugenia nor Salem had any voice in the chances made, they were told that Salem was to be closed and what could they do but accept the inevitable? He tells us he changed his mind by consulting your correspondent alone with a least from Salmon whom does not touch me at all. Salem can quote scripture and the like to him, he also says I am misinformed on many points.

The Umbria is the

this we are not sure but one thing we are sure
