

THE EDITOR'S EXPERIENCE

A SUFFERER FOR SEVERAL YEARS FROM ACUTE DYSPEPSIA

Food Distressed Him and it Began to Have a Weakening Effect on the Heart—Many Remedies Failed Before a Cure Was Found.

From the Canis, N. S., Breeze.

While newspaper men are called upon in their capacity as publishers to speak from week to week words of praise spoken in favor of proprietary medicines, it is not often that the editor himself feels it is his duty to say a good word yet if a new preparation has actually L and benefit from the use. A proprietary medicine why should he not make known to his readers, and then perhaps to some of them? The editor of the Breeze believes it his duty to say a few words of praise in favor of a medicine that has proved an inestimable boon to him, and to those of his propters of the medicine, who are in need of fact, no reason to know that he was selling or using their medicine. For years the editor of the Breeze had been subject to distressing complaints dyspepsia, heart trouble, who have been much misery this "treacherous" heart. He did not even little appetite, fainting spells, and, made him feel languid and weary, often caused by vomiting up the food which had taken. He was also troubled with palpitation of the heart, brought on by the dyspepsia. Numerous remedies alleged to be good were tried, but without success, and the article was approaching a chronic state.

Dr. William's Pink Pill was tried, soon followed their use, and a few remedies had been taken the editor was able to satisfactorily that he had been cured of his dyspepsia, and that remedy that has proved a boon to mankind. To any one troubled with a complaint he would strongly recommend Dr. William's Pink Pill. To newspaper men particularly they will be found just the right remedy to health and vigor to the whole system, and enable them to pursue their work free from the usual despondency so prevalent among journalists. The editor of the Breeze firmly believes that what they have done for him they heartily and sincerely apologize.

In William's Pink Pill are an unfailing cure for all troubles resulting from poverty of the blood or shattering nerves, and where given a fair trial they will find that this is the case.

Send to Dr. William's, 100 St. Paul Street, Brooklyn, N. Y., for $2.50 by addressing the Dr. William's Company, Brooklyn, N. Y. See that the registered trademark is on all packages.

To You Son

That man is such an inferior creature that you will be

One person who chews gum in public is a lady.

That world was made for your special benefit?

That you'd really happy if you had everything you want?

That baby boy is really the bright darling star?

That we'll all wear infantus bundles again if fashion commands it?

That the troubles you worry over are as small as you think them?

That old Valentine was selected as the whole world because he lost his best?

That our professions will help us much if you live, but come to them?

That an education of mind and heart makes a woman my best good house-keeper?

That old girls, money to the Lord!

That any two mothers will ever have any real love about the bringing up of that men really believe one-half of the "smart" things they write about women?

That your granddaughter will smile at your memory as you do at your grandmothers?

That it is really so much harder to say the pleasant thing than the disagreeable?

That a taste for neatness, tidiness and cleanliness is one's taste for the world would be as wicked as it is Satan was not last in doing evil?

That the time will ever come when an old man receives every day, on an average, three important letters, requiring an answer, without a signature?

That the average man will know what he wants himself when the millionum comes?

Agitation in the world of humophatic has been its very soul of protection and religion; the difficulties of opinion and action, and the standard well-known by which the standard of those have been elevated. So with most of these preparations—foremost in distress of which trade, the old and famous Quinine Wine," which is now attainable in its genuine strength, a famous creator of appetite, vitality, and stimulant to the general fertility of the system, and to the great virtues of Quinine as a medicine, is received, or offered, to the public, and the great tonics and natural giving stimulants, required of the medical profession have been compelled to recognize and prescribe. Messrs.

Warren & Lyman of Toronto, have given the entire contents of their Quinine and other drugs to the public, the article which they offer to the public, into the market, purged of all the skillful observation and experience which has pointed out in the perfect preparations of the past. All agreed, it is.

Wearing of Glass Eyes.

is a failure to suppose that people whose cork and glass eyes are insistent to their personal appearance, are less valuable than ordinary individuals.

A rich man, for instance, who is obli-ge to wear an artificial eye, will wear two false eyes every day—an eye made of cork and glass pupill, or an eye, for morning, and a pupill for evening, when the

I have extended to its full size.

A glass eye-maker, who gave this information, said he made about an equal number of glass eyes for the rich. Some people keep quite a stock in their possession, in fact no less than five hundred pairs of false eyes have been made by my instantaneous eye-maker.

His son, however, made from measure, and that eye, was so perfectly fit the old gentleman, in an instant wrote off for eleven other eyes.

Eye maker admitted that this was an epochal instance.

Mathew was the name of the woman who died recently in Ireland at the age 19 years. In the same province, Charles Nahankiewicz, a man, died about same time aged 12 years.

There are over 300 orders of nobility in various states of Germany.

And yet he almost forgot our darling

COMIN' THRO' THE RYE

BY HELEN B. MATHERS.

SYNOPSIS.—A young girl, writing a letter to her mother, relates the story of a family of ten children, all bright and healthy, except the youngest, a typical English gentleman. The children are fond of sports and any infraction of the law is laid down, "blue it, blue it to punishment."

(CONTINUED.)

Pitiful shrimps and groans from the fire-place unconvincing and painful damaged a poor little maid who was driving along in a rickety carriage.

How the children

are to do without

the maid?

How the children

are to do without

the maid?

How the children

are to do without

the maid?

How the children

are to do without

the maid?

How the children

are to do without

the maid?

How the children

are to do without

the maid?

How the children

are to do without

the maid?

How the children

are to do without

the maid?

How the children

are to do without

the maid?

How the children

are to do without

the maid?

How the children

are to do without

the maid?

How the children

are to do without

the maid?

How the children

are to do without

the maid?

How the children

are to do without

the maid?

How the children

are to do without

the maid?

How the children

are to do without

the maid?

How the children

are to do without

the maid?

How the children

are to do without

the maid?

How the children

are to do without

the maid?

How the children

are to do without

the maid?

How the children

are to do without