He called at the boot and she of Mr. John Toull, King stree west, and on entering the building to repor er found "Father Toull," as he amiliarly known in town, busily at wor on a pair of shoes for one of this many customers, at the same time humming over to himself the time of a chorished hyam, for, dy the way, in his younge days Mr. Toull was considered a goo local preacher among the Methodists this section and frequently fifted the pulpastor's absence, and he still loves to sing, preach or expostulate on some scripture theme or waverite hymn. The roporter was cordinly received, and on making known his business, the man's countenance brightened and eyes sparkled wish delight. It was teresting to note the fervency with which teresting to note the lervency with which he volunteered, as he said, for the sake of humanity, to tell what he could of his case, and we will let it be told in his own words. He said: "For twenty years I was subject to heart trouble and could get no relief, although I had tried almost everything that kind friedes we commended to me. My family physi-cian would sometimes give me some medicine that would help me for a short time, but without permanent boneds. He told me I might drop dead at a moment, and I tell you I expected to do so on many occasions. I heard of Di Williams' Pink Pills when they first came out, but I had used so many remodles that I just about lost faith in ever thing of that kind, and had become signed to my fate. However, I came contact with so many that had Pink Pills, and who assured me they had been benefited by their that at last I decided to give the The highest expression of religious faith is not petition.
