THE HOUSE AT THE CORNER

At the corner of the street, there stood a house of two stories. It was a fine house, with a garden in front and a lawn behind. The house was the property of a man who had died, and it was to be sold.

One o'clock-half past one—two! The clock struck, and struck again, and struck a third time. The house was empty. The door was open. The house was the property of a man who had died, and it was to be sold.

A WORLD OF TROUBLE

It is the nature of man to be troubled. He is troubled by his sins, by his passions, by his desires. He is troubled by the world, by the flesh, by the devil. He is troubled by the things of this life, by the things of the next life.

REV. DR. TALMAGE ON THE PETTY ANNOYANCES OF LIFE.

Washington, Dec. 15.—Dr. Talmage's sermon on the petty annoyances of life was one of the most interesting and practical sermons ever preached. He spoke of the little things that trouble us, the things that we often overlook, the things that we often despise.

THE FURNACE

The furnace is a symbol of the human soul. It is a place of trial, a place of purification, a place of refinement. It is a place where the dross of the world is burned away, and the gold of the kingdom is revealed.

WOMEN PREDOMINANT IN ENGLAND.

One of the curious revelations of the recent British census is the extraordinary predominance of women in the male sex among the grown inhabitants of the island. The figures show that the excess of females over males is about 1,000,000.

STADTLY IS SOMETIMES A MERE MASK.

Stadty is sometimes a mere mask, a disguise, a pretense. It is a mask that we wear to hide our true feelings, our true thoughts, our true selves. It is a mask that we wear to deceive others, to deceive ourselves.

THE MAN WHO GOES TO THE REAR SEAT.

The man who goes to the rear seat is a man who is not interested in the things of this world. He is a man who is interested in the things of the next world. He is a man who is interested in the things of the hereafter.

OF ZEAL THERE IS ABUNDANCE.

Of zeal there is abundance. Zeal is a fire, a passion, a desire. It is a fire that burns in the heart, a passion that drives the soul, a desire that moves the hand. It is a fire that consumes, a passion that consumes, a desire that consumes.

POWER, LIGHT, HEAT.

Power, light, heat. These are the things that we need in this world. They are the things that we need to live, to work, to play. They are the things that we need to be happy, to be content, to be at peace.
