Holy Week.
The services held in Christ Church during Holy Week were not at all un-successful considering the prevalence of stormy weather. These services were attended by hundreds and devout worshippers who felt it "good to be within the precincts of the Sanctuary during the holy season. The subjects dwelt upon by the Rev. M. M. Gilberg who conducted these services every evening were of a practical kind and spiritual in tone, calculated to arrest the careless and to awaken the sleepers.
On Good Friday evening in spite of the storm there was goodly attendance at church when the Rev. gentleman gave an exceedingly interesting address on the restoration and future glory of Israel.
Easter Sunday was a fine day almost all night one could wish. The congregations both at the morning and evening services were excellent in point of numbers, the services were hearty, collections good, and the choir deserves credit.
On Monday evening the annual meeting of the Vestry took place with the Rev. M. M. Gilberg in the chair. The churchwardens appointed for the ensuing year are Mr. Oswald Walker for the clergyman and Mr. Thomas Brady for the people. Everything else being satisfactory the meeting was adjourned for a fortnight when the financial report will be presented.
Christ church is to be congratulated on its present condition. May prosperity attend both temporarily and spiritually.

The Late James Stitt.
Another of Ephraim's old residents passed on to his eternal majority on March 27th at his beautiful farm home near Blantyre. The subject of this sketch was a son of the late James Stitt of Toronto. He came to Ephraim when quite a young man and located on the farm near Blantyre where he resided continuously until his death. Like other early settlers Mr. Stitt encountered many hardships in converting a portion of the unbroken forest into a productive farm. Mr. Stitt was married three times. His first wife was a Miss Steele, who died in 1834 leaving 4 children, three of which survive their father. His second wife was, who died in 1872 leaving one daughter. Mr. Stitt's third wife, who survives him, was a Miss Molins. By this marriage two sons and three daughters were born who are all living at present on the homestead. In politics Mr. Stitt was a staunch reformer, and was always foremost in the promotion of any movement for the benefit of his fellow men. Canada's Glory.
We would call your attention to the splendid engraving entitled "Canada's Glory," just issued from the office of the "Printer's Advocate," London, Ont., and Winnipeg, Man. The artist and the engraver have made excellent themselves in this great production. It represents eleven of the very finest light horses in the Dominion, each standing out so boldly from the background that they seem insistent with life and motion. The surroundings are most picturesque, making a charming landscape, with unusually good perspective. In the foreground is a clear, limpid brook, in which two of the public animals have just quenched their thirst. A bird is seen in flight, following their example. In the background is a cool glade, where two others are resting under the shade of a mighty elm. So one can fail to be delighted with the magnificent picture, the size of which is 30 x 24. To lovers of horseflesh, and especially to those who are breeding establishments, represented, it will prove a most valuable addition to their collections.
