The Manager, Lakehurst Institute, Oakville, Ont Remarkable Longevity.

Two remarkable coaces of longevity were recalled recently by a conversation between several gentlemen in Shelby, Ind. They were discussing the death of Rev. George McCall, the veteran Baptist preacher, when it was authentically stated that Ma McCall's great-grandfather lived to the ripe old age of 127 years. He was a bachelor at 100 and took a notion to get married. Three sons were a notion to get married. Three sons were born to him, and he lived to see the oldest son old enough to vote. This was considered romarkable, but a gentleman in the crowd whose character and stand-ing religiously and socially, are above reing religiously and scenary, are above re-present, told an authentic account of the life of his great-uncle, who was one of Georgia's ploneer citizens. This old gentleman lived to be 130 years old. He gentleman lived to be 180 years old. He lived in a log cabin, in the northern end of which was cut a square hole. The old man turned the head of his bed to that hole and slept that way in the warmest and coldest weather. His wife died when was about 90 years old, and for many cars he lived as a widower. As the years he lived as a widower. At the age of 115 he cut an entirely new set of teeth, and at the age of 128 one morning he saddled his own horse, sprang into the saddle and rode thisty miles to address a widow and sak her to be his wife. He evidently was rejected, for he node back that day and lived seven years

Already you have been told of its unprecedented features. For the first time since these provinces were banded together in a federal union, the representatives of the people have drawn indemnity for six sessions, attendance at Ottawa. With no regret have Sir Mackania Bowell and Sir Charles Tupper seen the departure of the faithful Commoners. The session has been positively resultless. The Government carried out its promise to introduce the Remedial bill. It did not, to use the words of George Enlas Foster last July, "press it to a conclusion." The Opposition, for diverse reasons, declined to allow the bill to pass. But that is an old story. Liberal Outlook. But two months will intervene between the date of prorogation and the day when the electors of Canada shall muster at the polls and cast their ballots. The Liberals from Ontario are not well pleased at the renoteness of the date. They hoped that the Administration would elect to have a short campaign. The feeling in Ontario, the Oppositionists believe, is strongly against the Government. Every day that the Ministry will have in which portation and all, $9,000 day that the Ministry will have in which to do missionary work, the Conservatives about 300,000 in New York city, as against 75,000 a quarter of a century ago There are probably about 200,000 women of a working age in a city like New Israel Tarte laughs at the assertion. Israel Tarte laughs at the assertion. The Liberal libutenant has been through the province from Gaspe to Vandroull. He claims thirty-five in place of twenty seats. The other day'l had a short conversation with Tarte. "The Conservatives," said he, "think the province will rally to their support because of the Remedial bill. They nover were more mistaken. They have made the attempt to pass a measure that would not have been workable. We, the Liberals, shall take care that the people of Quebec are not misled by the Conservative stumpers. Further than this, the prospect of our having a French Canadian Premier will bring many a vote to Mr. Laurier. If every many a vote to Mr. Laurier. "I was a spy, and I risked, my life in this service. At any moment I might have been discovered and hanged for my zeal. While I was in this office the order came from the Czar to silence Taras. Taras was then, as he is now my dearest friend, and you can maggine my horror when I heard that this order was to be executed without delay. Happily the minister found it difficult id lay his hand on a min for his purpose. It was a very delicate business. As Taras was in London it was necessary that the agent should speak English, not only for the practical working out of the design, but to avoid political complications. It would never do for the Russian government to be discovered in this plot to violate the freedom of a man so well would be discovered in this plot violate the freedom of a man so we known and much honored as Tara There was one man in the service of the police who eagerly desired to have the job, and that was Ruders lerf, a lowed enemy of Taras.
