The highest foot piece of each bedstead is separate, save for a still higher arch, made of ornhamented brass, which connects the two draperies and is rather more elaborate. The full back is still used, but over it are arranged deep festoons and, long, drooping ends, bordered with narrow fringe.

Helping Mamma. One of the first things a child learns in a family where there are smaller children, is to be very efficient in the management of those other children. One small bor, aged three, has a sister, aged nearly two who has a proponsity for upsetting her mother's spoot-basket. For this offense she has had to be corrected several times and her brother has become aware of the enormity of the offense. Recently the mother heard a terrible uproar in her room where the children were together, and going in to see what was the matter, found the little girl weeping, while the boy, looking very conscious of virtue and radiant with pool-basket, mamma — but she's all One of the first things a child learn 'pool-basket, mamma — but she's all 'panked!"—Boston Transcript.
