James Crawford, an elderly Englishman who went to Manitou, Man., from the United States recently, was frozen to death on Monday night, while walking to his son's farm, four miles from Manitou.

Frederick Small, who pleaded guilty to defrauding the city of Hamilton out of $100 in connection with the House of Refuge Accounts, was not sentenced by Magistrate Jelfs, who reserved his judgment.

The investigation into the transfer of the Cobourg postmastership from Mr. William Sykes to Mr. Charles Guillet at the last general election has been concluded, and Commissioner Seager will report very soon.

The Rev. Father Lacombe, parish priest of Hull, gave the hotel-keepers of that city public warning from the pulpit on Sunday that he intends prosecuting a vigorous campaign against all violations of the liquor license law.

Burglaries of country post-offices are so frequent and daring that Major Sherwood, Commissioner of Dominion Police, has suggested to the Postmaster-General the advisability of adopting the reward system in vogue in the United States.

William Poole, a farmer residing near Thomasburg, Ont., committed suicide on Wednesday night by cutting his throat. Business troubles are supposed to have caused the rash act. The deceased, who had made a similar attempt a few days ago, was about sixty years of age.

If your children moan and are restless during sleep, coupled when awake with a loss of appetite, pale countenance, pickings of the nose, etc., you may depend upon it that the primary cause of the trouble is worms. Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator effectually removes these pests, at once relieving the little sufferers.

The customs officers at Windsor suspected for some time that their cash drawer was being robbed. The officers tried various means to detect the culprit, but failed, and as a final resort set a muskrat trap in the drawer. In the morning they found the cash untouched but Bertha Haines, a colored girl who washes out the office, had her fingers cut and bleeding. She was arrested.

UNITED STATES.

About six hundred persons living in Milwaukee were poisoned, some seriously, by bread obtained from a baker. It contained arsenic and it is supposed the poison was put in the bread by some enemy of the baker.

AN INCURABLE CURED.

AFTER TREATMENT IN CANADA'S BEST HOSPITAL HAD FAILED.

One of the Most Remarkable Cases on Record—Ten Years of Intense Suffering From Acute Rheumatism—The Whole Body Contracted and Out of Shape in Every Limb—Again Restored to Active Life.

From the Newmarket Advertiser.

We suppose there is not a resident of Newmarket who does not know Mr. J. A. Moffatt, who does not know of his years of suffering and who has not heard of his release from a life of helplessness and pain through the medium of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Indeed we doubt if in the annals of medicine there is a more remarkable restoration than has been accomplished in Mr. Moffatt's case, and he deems it his duty to mankind to make the facts known through the columns of the Advertiser.

Ten years ago Mr. Moffatt was working in the Newmarket Hub Factory. Through the influence of the damp room, and possibly some carelessness in regard to his health, he was attacked with a severe cold which eventually settled in his limbs. For some years he was an almost constant sufferer from rheumatic pains and spent much money in treatment for the trouble, but with no result beyond an occasional temporary release from pain. Finally to make matters worse he was attacked with malarin and rheumatic fever. He was then forced to go to Toronto general hospital when it was found that he was afflicted with torticollis (wry neck). During the first six months in the hospital he was under the treatment of the staff electrician, but the powers of electricity entirely failed, and after a consultation of physicians it was deemed advisable to perform an operation. Six weeks later a second operation was performed. The operations proved successful only in so far as they afforded temporary relief. He remained in the hospital from November, 1890, till January, 1892, and with all the modern remedies and appliances known to the staff of that well equipped institution no permanent relief could be obtained. He was then advised to go home, partly in the hope that the change might prove beneficial, but instead he continually grew worse, and in March, 1892, was again forced to take to his bed, and those who knew of his condition did not believe he had long to live. At this time every joint in his body was swollen and distorted, and he suffered the most excruciating agony. If a person walked across his bedroom it intensified the pain as though he was being pierced and torn with knives, and if touched he would scream aloud with agony. In this state of hopeless suffering he remained bedfast for eighteen months, all the while using all manner of medicines from which relief might be hoped for. Then he was put under the treatment of a celebrated Toronto specialist, but with no better results. After this last experiment failed, he determined to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, at the same time discontinuing all other treatment. At the end of three months there was a very noticeable improvement in his condition, and so much so that his mother thought he could be lifted outside. He was still so weak, however, that he was only able to remain up a few minutes as before. When taken back to bed he felt a sudden tingling sensation going up from his toes and through his joints and spine. The next morning when he awoke the pain had left the body and lodged in the arms, and then for some weeks the pain flitted from place to place in the arms and then disappeared, and he has not had a particle of pain since. All this time he was taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills but slowly but surely regaining his strength. Then an invalid's chair was procured, and he was wheeled out, eventually he was able to wheel himself about. The continued use of the Pink Pills constantly added to his strength, and then the chair was discarded for crutches, and then the crutches for a cane. At this time (Sept. 1895) Mr. Moffatt had so far recovered that he was a frequent contributor to the columns of the Advertiser and procuring a horse and buggy he was engaged as local reporter for the paper. The once utterly helpless invalid is now able to go about, and get in and out of his buggy without any assistance, and is at his post of duty whenever called upon.

Thus we find that after years of suffering and helplessness Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have proved successful after all other remedies and the best of medical treatment had utterly failed. With such marvellous cures as this to its credit it is no wonder that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is the most popular medicine with all classes throughout the land, and this one certainly justifies the claim put forth on its behalf that it "cures when other medicines fail."

Dangers of Divers.

The greatest danger to those who dive into the sea for valuables that have been sunk is that of falling asleep. On a hot day the contrast between the heat above and the delicious coolness below water is apt to make a diver sleepy. One of these men recently stated that he once slept half an hour at the bottom of a wreck, where he was laying a pipe.

Supposing that had happened in a channel where the tide runs so swiftly that a diver can work only during the one hour of slack water, the deadly rush of tide would have snapped the life-line and hose. Then in working wrecks there is the danger of getting jammed in between freight or getting the hose or line entangled. When the hose snaps at a great depth the tremendous pressure kills the diver. He is frightfully distorted by it.

Dyspepsia or indigestion is occasioned by the want of action in the biliary ducts, loss of vitality in the stomach to secrete the gastric juices, without which digestion cannot go on; also, being the principle cause of Headache. Parmelee's Vegetable Pills taken before going to bed, for a while, never fail to give relief and effect a cure. Mr. F. W. Ashdown, Ashdown, Ont., writes: "Parmelee's Pills are taking the lead against ten other makes which have in stock."

She Rode a Double Century.

Denver glories in many record-breaking wheelmen and also in one record-breaking wheelwoman. Mrs. Rhinehart, a society beauty, who recently rode a double century in twenty and one-third hours. The Cycling West says this is the first time a woman has made such a ride, that few men are able to accomplish the feat, and that no Coloradoan has ever done it. Mrs. Rhinehart left her home in Denver Wednesday morning a week ago at 4.05, and completed her first century over the Evans course at 12.45, or eight hours and forty minutes for the trip. After lunch and a rest of an hour, she started at 1.45 p.m. for the second half of her ride. She rode to Platteville, thirty-six miles, and return to Denver, making seventy-two miles, and completed the balance of the double century on the Littleton course. When she had finished at 12.45 Thursday morning her cyclometer registered 209 miles. She endured many hardships, especially on the last century. Before going fifteen miles on the Platteville road, and after making 118 miles, she encountered a rain storm. This continued until she found herself pushing through isolated mud holes and immense stretches of water, which submerged the road in many places. The last thirty miles was where her great pluck and endurance were brought into play. The distance was done in inky darkness. She was accompanied by her husband, who would have gladly relinquished any glory to sit beside a fire in a comfortable home in preference to braving the big electrical storm which swept over Denver on that night, sending sheets of rain in the faces of pedestrians and covering the road with shimmering pools of water, discernible only when a flash of lightning lit up the road ahead. To make matters worse, Mrs. Rhinehart's tire punctured on the Littleton course, and she rode fifteen miles on a flat tire. To summarize the time and conditions of her ride, she made 203 miles in twenty-four hours and twenty minutes; rode first century in 8:40, second in 10:40; fifty miles were ridden in rain, darkness and mud; she was alone for 179 miles of the trip; had only twenty-three miles of favorable wind, and rode fifteen miles on a flat tire.—Kansas City Star.

Wild Geese Killed by Hail.

Hailstones, the size of pigeon eggs, according to W. G. McKinnell, of Melita, Manitoba, writing in the London Field, killed 105 Canada geese during a heavy thunderstorm recently near Sauris, Manitoba. A farmer named Coulter found a large flock of the geese killed or disabled after the storm, and, after killing the living ones with a stick, went home and got a wagon and took the geese to Sauris and sold the lot for 50 cents each. He took in $52.50 for his windfall.

The Week's Commercial Summary.

The world's decrease in the visible supply of wheat for the past week is 366,000 bushels.

Business failures in Canada this week number 55, against 53 for the corresponding week last year.

Last week twelve Canadian banks distributed $1,372,000 in the shape of dividends for the past six months.

The stocks of wheat at Toronto are 186,074 bushels as compared with 236,313 a week ago and 75,027 bushels a year ago.

Stocks of wheat at Port Arthur and Fort William, are 3,038,80- bushels, a decrease of 810,000 bushels for the week. A year ago the total was 1,479,000 bushels.

The total earnings of Toronto Railway for November were $74,617, as compared with $77,083 the corresponding month of last year. There was one working day less last month.

The Canadian Pacific earnings, for the month of October show a net decrease of $170,003, while for the ten months of the year they are $722,381 greater than for the corresponding ten months of last year.

The prices of wheat, wool and hides hold their own pretty well, but coarse grains are weaker owing to successive supplies. The flour trade is actually dull, even at prices relatively much lower than wheat. Stocks on hand before the advance in wheat took place were large, and speculation in this product has ruled flat.

The visible supply of wheat in the United States and Canada is now 58,014,000 bushels, a decrease of 1,057,000 bushels for the week. The total a year ago was 63,903,000 and two years ago 65,161,000 bushels. The amount afloat to Europe is 32,400,000 bushels, an increase of 240,000 for the week, while the total a year ago was 26,400,000 bushels.

Trade in wholesale departments at Toronto is not particularly active, but in some lines an improvement is reported. Heavy winter wear, furs, etc., are in better request owing to the colder and more seasonable weather. The holiday trade in fancy goods is also in fair shape, and a fairly satisfactory business is anticipated the next two weeks.

Here and There.

Will the price of hair mattresses go down when the college foot ball players seek the barber's chair.

Bob Ingersoll's sciatica is in his knees. If he can't take that hint, what is there that will bring him down?

Marie Corelli's new novel is selling vigorously, in spite of the sneers directed at her art—perhaps because of them.

Princess Helene seems to be happy, though married, and foolishly bombarded with hard words from Russian and Greece.

The heels of industry make a much more cheerful noise than that which is occasioned by the whirling wheels in people's heads.

Has the Thirteen club noted the fact that Maria Barberi's mother has had thirteen children, all of whom, she says, are weak-minded?

"Advertising as News" is the heading over Wanamaker's fascinating announcements in the New York papers. Mr. Wanamaker has the right idea.

The old adage, "A pint a pound the world around," is misleading. In no case does a pint exactly equal a pound. A pint of whisky, for instance, sometimes weighs several tons.

Russia has only one doctor to every 6,000 inhabitants, as against one to every 1,800 in France and one to 1,600 in England, and yet the New York Tribune seems surprised because Russians are exceptionally long-lived.

The Ladies' Home Journal for 1897.

An even excellence makes the good things which The Ladies' Home Journal promises unusually interesting and strong. The list is long and sturdy. Two new department writers have been exclusively engaged by the Journal: Mrs. S. T. Rorer, who will hereafter have entire charge of the domestic department and give a series of cooking lessons, and Dwight L. Moody, the famous evangelist, who is to put the result of his life study of the Bible in a department entitled "Mr. Moody's Bible Class." The artist, Charles Dana Gibson, who created the Gibson girl, will present six full-page pictures showing "The People of Dickens," while Alice Barber Stephens will alternate with Mr. Gibson and present her idea of "Six Types of American Womanhood," showing the American woman in society, in religion, in business, in summer, in the home, and as a mother. Mary E. Wilkins, the New England writer, will revive the old quilting-party, the ancient singing-school and the apple-paring bee in "The Pleasures of Our Neighborhood." Sir Henry Irving is to tell how to study, read and present "Shakespeare in Small Communities." Altogether, no magazine gives a list of attractions so interesting and promising as does The Ladies' Home Journal, and certainly no periodical does it, as does the Journal, for only one dollar per year. If it has become a fad, as it seems, for every girl and woman to take this magazine, it is an excellent one, and, unlike many other fads, a sensible one. The Journal is published by The Curtis Publishing Company, of Philadelphia.

An Objection.

He—Do you like this new game of lawn billiards?

She—Well, I don't know it, but the kissing is confined to the balls I don't.—Yonkers Statesman.

The Brightest Flowers must fade, but young lives endangered by severe coughs and colds may be preserved by Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil. Croup, whooping cough, bronchitis, in short all affections of the throat and lungs, are relieved by this sterling preparation, which also remedies rheumatic pains, sores, bruises, piles, kidney difficulty, and is most economic.

The Tendency of Alcohol.

At the recent Intercolonial Medical Congress at Dunedin, New Zealand, a paper on "Alcohol" was read by Dr. Chapple, of Wellington. The author proved the falseness of the popular belief that alcohol increased the body heat, that it added strength and endurance to the muscles, that it controlled hemorrhage, that it was a disinfectant and protected from infection. He summarized his conclusions as follows: "1. Alcohol is a poisonous drug, whose special action in the body is a brain cellparalysant, destroying those cells in the inverse order of their development. 2. Alcohol disturbs the circulation leading to the loss of body temperature, and an accumulation of waste products in the blood, accompanied by great depression and muscular weakness. 3. Alcohol tends to produce in all, proportionate to the quantity taken, cirrhotic diseases of all the tissues and organs of the body. 4. Alcohol tends to produce an irresistible craving for itself. 5. Alcohol predisposes to all infections and many organic diseases. 6. Alcohol diminishes the chances of recovery in those attacked with any disease other than those resulting from its use. 7. Alcohol increases the sick rate and shortens life. 8. Alcohol disposes to consumption and all tubercular diseases. 9. Alcohol increases lunacy and crime. 10. Alcohol is absolutely unnecessary for health. 11. Alcohol promotes hemorrhage and does not check it. 12. Alcohol adds no muscular strength to the body—almost it encourages the expenditure of it force in the shortest possible time. If those were the true facts about alcohol taken as a beverage in health they were, as medical men, individually and collectively, in duty and in honor bound to make them known to public over whose health they pretend to preside."—Christian Statesman.

Traveled Half the Globe to Find Health, Without Success.

Took the Advice of a Friend and Now Proclaims It From the Housetop—"South American Nervine Saved My Life."

Mrs. H. Stapleton of Wingham writes: "I have been very much troubled for years since 1878—with nervous debility and dyspepsia. Had been treated in Canada and England by some of the best physicians without permanent relief. I was advised about three months ago to take South American Nervine, and I firmly believe I owe my life to it to-day. I can truthfully say that I have derived more benefit from it than any treatment I ever had. I can strongly recommend it, and will never be without it myself."

Escaped.

"Aren't you late in getting home from Sunday school, Bobby?"

"Well, I guess! There was a man there who made an all-day speech and I thought he would never get out."

"Who was he?"

"Aw, I forgot his name; but he was an escaped missionary."—Judge.

"I HAD NO FAITH."

But My Wife Persuaded Me to Try the Great South American Rheumatic Cure and My Agonizing Pain Was Gone in 12 Hours, and Gone for Good.

J. D. McLeod, of Leith, Ont., says: "I have been a victim of rheumatism for seven years—confined to my bed for months at a time, unable to turn myself. Have been treated by many physicians without any benefit. I had no faith in rheumatic cures. I saw advertised, but my wife induced me to get a bottle of South American Rheumatic Cure from Mr. Taylor, druggist, in Owen Sound. At that time I was in agony with pain. Inside of 12 hours after I had taken the first dose the pain had all left me. I continued until I had used three bottles, and I now consider myself completely cured."

Never.

Physicians Failed—Cure Also Failed—But the Great South American Kidney Cure a Specific Remedy for a Specific Trouble, Cured Mrs. A. E. Young of Barnston, P.Q., Quickly and Permanently.

This is her testimony: "I was taken sick in January, 1893. I employed several of the best local physicians and was treated by them for kidney disease until the autumn of the same year without receiving much benefit. I then began using your South American Kidney Cure, and derived great benefit almost immediately. I feel now that I am quite cured. I have taken no medicine for some length of time and have not had a return of the slightest symptom of the disease."

It Stands to Reason.

That a man who gives his whole and undivided attention to one particular subject should acquire a greater proficiency in it, than one whose energies are expended in different directions. This is true of the medical superintendent, and his staff of assistants, at Lakehurst Institute, in their treatment of alcoholism and kindred diseases. Every fresh case adds to the experience of years, and to the number of those successfully treated. There is no sudden and dangerous deprivation of liquor; there are no bolts and bars; the patient gives up the drink habit almost unconsciously, and, from that moment, takes the first step on his upward career, commencing life afresh under brighter auspices. There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing under this local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure of the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

Admired by Queen Victoria.

Queen Victoria's newest maid of honor, Miss Majendie, is said to owe her entrance to royal favor to a curious chance. She happened to be singing in a church choir one day when the Queen was present at divine service, and her Majesty was so greatly pleased with the fresh sweetness of the girl's face and voice that she invited her to fill the place coveted by the young girls of the English aristocracy. The position was the last thing Miss Majendie herself would ever have expected.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Genius Should be Recognized.

It is ungenerous to withhold an expression of sympathy for those who have failed in the accomplishment of great undertakings, in which they have embarked all their pecuniary, physical and intellectual resources. As a general rule, people are hardly considerate enough toward the unsuccessful. There is too great a disposition to forget their pluck and perseverance and sneer at their tentfullness. We ought to bear in mind that it is this sublime audacity of faith to which we are indebted for the marvelous achievements of our age.

A Pair of 'Em.

"Now you know the details of the affair," said the doctor to the lawyer a few days later, "what would you advise me to do about it?"

"Go back to your practice," replied the lawyer, promptly. "You have no case. Ten dollars, please."

"Now that I have said you the symptoms," said the lawyer to the doctor a few days later, "what would you advise me to do?"

"Go back to your practice," replied the physician, promptly. "You have nothing seriously wrong with you. Ten dollars, please."

Thus it happens that two men are calling each other robbers.—Chicago Evening Post.

DR. CHASE'S OINTMENT

REV. CHAS. FISH

Methodist Minister, Toronto

Few men better known or more highly esteemed in Canada than the gentleman whose portrait is now retired from the more active work in the more important charges throughout Ontario Conference Church. He is one of the many sufferers will be taken in publishing to the world what he is but doing his first command, "Do unto others as ye would be done by."

About ten years ago Rev. Mr. Fish was afflicted with Eczema. The disease commenced on his head and also developed on his body. He suffered very much from this loathsome disease, and tried many so-called remedies for skin diseases, but found no benefit and all failed. After using and investigating some of Dr. Chase's celebrated Ointment, which was warranted in perseverance and, judging from the rapid manner in which it is completed I shall be pleased at any time to show myself. I gave the ointment a fair trial for the period of two months, and was entirely cured, and I can recommend it as a most valuable remedy for the cure of Eczema.

ARTIFICIAL INCUBATION.

It Was Known to Egyptian Sphinxes.

The Artificial Incubator a Modern Invention. It was the Chinese and the ancient Diodorus, who wrote to us that the Egyptians, with hands bring eggs to maturity in chickens thus produced are said to those hatched in the ordinary manner." The practice has been by the native Egyptians ever since by the method still used, has been from time immemorial. The eggs are placed on mats strewn with room about 11 feet square and high. Over this is another nine feet high. In the upper are made in troughs, and below in corresponding lines room the eggs to be hatched out. After ten days the eggs are to another room where there but from which the air is excluded. Here they remain five days, they are laid down, each one the others, and continually for stage lasts about seven days, end of that time the chicken pected to make its appearance.

Both Ungallant and Sick.

The "lady engineer" has made advance: the last we heard was down in West Virginia, remotest part of that sometimes state, at that; now she appears to be at all events the report there), and the account of Emma is characterized by a that must comfort her soul than a new spring hat could a shirt waist with a Moreland says:—

"Boston, Nov. 14.—Miss Alston, the daughter of President of the Thompsonville (Conn.) Company, was at the throttle locomotive that drew the Hartford express over one of the roads out last night. Miss Houston had engineering in this country and knows what she is about. Engineers did not know that the handsome young woman guided the train, which ran steadily as a grandfather clock and made the run on time. The regular engineer and the officials of the road were in the cab, but it is said that Miss Houston handled the throttle as an old veteran, and that the train glided gracefully around the curves and down the steep hill to Hartford."

We should like, to swallow that story, for we hate to believe that a Boston reporter will lie; but the guesswork of chil[dren] yarn is too apparent to have no doubt that there was a foundation for it, whether true or untrue. If it started; but when it is asserted that her German university training qualified her to blow the whistle of a locomotive, we must respectfully demur. And as for easily rounding curves, it is plainly evident that she has no claim whatever to this distinction; no up-to-date engineer can be heard of steaming valiantly up to the engine and standing near it, unless he can round curves nowadays. When the engine did not "lay down" on its upward career, commencing life afresh under brighter auspices. For pamphlet and terms address The Manager, Lakehurst Institute, Oakville, Ont.

Formalities on the Birth of a Prince.

The birth of a new citizen in Spain at once gives rise to countless formalities, which would teach him, can understand, that his country's excellence the home of legal precedent and administration. Within the twenty-four hours notice of the birth must be sent to the mayor's office (the ayuntamiento), and a bill country's office in every village in Spain, so that the official physician may be informed. I suppose he wants to convince himself that the declaration already made is correct, and that the family is announced the birth of a girl, was not trying to screen a future soldier from his compulsory service. Then the family is accompanied by two witnesses, goes to the birth certificate, and gives his child its legitimate, documented
